

HOOVER DENIES AID TO FARMS IS OBLIGATION

In New York Address
Nominee Denounces
Federal Sale of Power and Price Fixing.

RECEIVES OVATION
IN SMITH'S STATE

Claims Credit for Prosperity and for Longer Life Span; Pledges Coolidge Policies.

BY W. B. RAGSDALE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
New York, October 22.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover received tonight in the home town of his democratic opponent the greatest ovation of his campaign for the presidency. A throng that jammed Madison Square Garden gave the republican presidential candidate two long sustained ovations, the first marking his arrival at the garden and the second at his appearance before the microphone to deliver the final speech of his campaign in the east. It was estimated that the ovation lasted 16 minutes.

After the cheers which greeted his appearance had died away, the republican standard bearer laid before the neighbors of Governor Alfred E. Smith a contention that the opposition party had brought into the campaign proposals on farm relief, prohibition and electrical power which constituted an abandonment of the tenets of the democrats in favor of "state socialism."

Striking out at the opposition more vigorously than at any other time in the campaign, Hoover said that it was proposed that the country change from prohibition to the state purchase and sale of liquor; that the government should directly or indirectly buy and sell, fix prices of agricultural products and go into the hydro-electric power business.

Hoover declared that the working out of this program would destroy political equality and would increase rather than decrease abuse and corruption.

"It would stifle initiative and invention," he said amidst a burst of applause. "It would undermine the development and leadership. It would cramp and cripple the spiritual energies of our people. It would extinguish equality in opportunity. It would dry up the spirit of liberty and progress."

"You are all right, Herbert," one spectator cried above the din of applause which greeted Hoover's declaration that he knew the adoption of methods of government in business would "strike at the very roots of American life and would destroy the very basis of American progress."

There was another expression of approval as the candidate said he knew the American people could solve their great problems without abandonment of the American system.

As Hoover approached the end of his speech many people began to leave and several hundred seats in the upper galleries were vacant before he concluded.

There was no diminution, however, of the enthusiasm of those who remained.

Another roar of approval swept the arena when Hoover pictured his conception of American progress, where "every man shall be respected in the

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

SENATOR HEFLIN
WILL SPEAK HERE
THURSDAY NIGHT

United States Senator Thomas J. Hefflin, of Alabama, will speak in Atlanta at the city auditorium, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, October 25, on "Dangers Confronting America."

Senator Hefflin was invited to speak for ten days in Georgia but on account of other engagements could only come for this one meeting. Delegates are coming from all over Georgia. It is stated, everybody is invited to attend by the Junior Order United American Mechanics, under whose auspices he will speak.

MR. JIM SAYS:

Man makes the money, but woman spends it. That's why I always insist on having The Constitution delivered at the house every morning. Constitution ads are guides to economy in both price and quality.

Suspect in Indiana
Killing Taken Here,
Returned for Trial
NEXT 2 WEEKSFRENCH-ENGLISH
NAVAL AGREEMENT IS MADE PUBLIC

Text Shows Report of Secret Clauses Has No Foundation; England
Agrees on Army.

London, October 22.—(AP)—A full history of the inception and negotiation of the naval compromise between France and Great Britain, which has been the object of so much contention, suspicion and conjecture, has at last been published by the British foreign office.

The fact that the government has so long and persistently withheld the matter from the public despite strong press demands for publication, led to all kinds of reports of secret clauses. These reports appear to have had little basis beyond the fact that the British government has given reluctant recognition of the French views with regard to army reserves as the price of securing a naval agreement.

Lord Cusheuden, acting foreign minister in the absence of Sir Austen Chamberlain, explains that the only reason of withholding publication of the papers was the fear of embarrassing other governments by what might have seemed an attempt to force their hand.

The publication of the papers of this juncture is regarded by the press and the public as having historic, rather than immediate importance, as the terms of the agreement are being opposed by the United States and Italy and the compromise is considered as already dead.

The text of the agreement follows: "Limitations which the disarmament conference will have to determine will deal with four classes of warships: 1. Capital ships, that is, ships of over 10,000 tons or with guns of more than 8-inch caliber.

"2. Aircraft carriers of over 10,000 tons.

"3. Surface vessels of or below 10,000 tons armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber.

"4. Ocean-going submarines, that is, over 600 tons.

"The Versailles treaty regulates limitations in classes one and two and the disarmament conference will only have to consider the method of effecting these limitations to powers non-signatory to this treaty.

"As regards classes, classes 3 and 4, the final disarmament conference will fix a maximum tonnage applicable to all powers, which no power will be allowed to exceed for the total of vessels in each of these respective categories during the period covered by the convention. Within this maximum limit each power will be free to distribute tonnage as it sees fit, provided that the tonnage they propose to reach, and which they undertake not to exceed during the period covered by the convention.

"The compromise, or agreement itself, is a brief document, but the white paper consists of 45 pages, starting with a large number of extracts of speeches delivered at the meetings of the preparatory commission on disarmament by the statesmen of different nationalities, leading up to the break between the British and French governments and the opening of new negotiations last March in an effort to arrive at some sort of a compromise.

The different standpoints of the two governments on the question of land armaments come to the front in the record of conversation between Mr. Briand and Sir Austen Chamberlain on March the ninth, 1928, in the course of a discussion about the coming meeting of the preparatory commission. Here Sir Austen expressed regret that on two crucial military or naval questions the French and British were diametrically opposed.

British public opinion, said Sir Austen, with its traditions believed that voluntary armies were defensive and that conscript armies implied offensive war, whereas he was fully

Continued on Page 8, Column 2.

Atlanta Detective
Captures Harvey L. Smith, Sought for Murder of South Bend Woman.FEDERAL BUILDING
SCENE OF ARREST

Alleged Slayer Calls for Mail and Is Nabbed by Atlanta Detective Lowe,
Working on "Tip."

Within two hours after he had been arrested here Monday charged with participation in slaying of a beautiful South Bend beauty parlor operator, Harvey L. Smith, self-styled private detective, was being stepped back to Indiana where he is to answer a charge of first-degree murder.

Smith, who was taken into custody at the postoffice by Detective John Lowe, is wanted in connection with the death of Miss Genevieve Stultz, whose dismembered body was dug up in an alfalfa field near Elkhart, Ind., a week ago after she had been missing since last March. Two men, one a prominent South Bend real estate operator, and one woman, the real estate man's wife, already are under arrest in connection with the murder.

Although Smith denied any complicity in the slaying, he admitted to Detective Lowe and Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole that he had received $50 from the real estate man's wife to "get Miss Stultz out of town."

The alleged slayer was met at police headquarters here by Assistant Chief John Kuespert and Detective George Dietrich, of South Bend department. He waived extradition and handcuffed to Dietrich he was started back to South Bend by Kuespert by motor car. The journey was begun at 11:30 o'clock, less than two hours after his arrest.

The Atlanta police received a "tip" Sunday that Smith was living near Williams and Harris streets, and Lowe was assigned to bring him in. Early Monday Lowe, informed that Smith would likely expect a letter from his wife in South Bend, posted himself near the general delivery window at the postoffice. Shortly after 9:30 o'clock Smith appeared. But there was no mail for him.

Smith immediately seized him and rushed him to police headquarters. Smith first denied that he was the man wanted, but later when confronted by the South

Continued on Page 8, Column 1.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HOME CEREMONYCornerstone of Constitution's Master Model
Home To Be Laid This Afternoon at 4 O'Clock.

With Mayor I. N. Ragsdale officiating, the cornerstone of The Constitution's master model home at 705 Morningside drive, will be laid this afternoon at 4 o'clock, with all parties interested in the cooperative movement for better homes looking on.

Officials in charge of the home have issued an invitation to the general public to attend and make the cornerstone event the occasion for a general inspection of the master model home's many interesting and novel features.

The structure is being sponsored by The Constitution under auspices of the American Home Owners Institute and is being built solely of nationally-advertised and standard, approved building materials. This is in line with the Home Owners Institute program of showing that use of only nationally-advertised products will result in enhanced beauty of dwellings, prolonged life and increased comfort.

Thomas K. Windham, head of the company bearing his name with offices in the Wynne-Claughton building, is in charge of construction of the home.

The two-story brick and half timber home was designed by R. Kennon Perry, widely-known architect, whose offices also are located in the Wynne-Claughton building.

The structure now is in an advanced state of construction, and is scheduled to be completed around the middle of November. After being completely furnished in the latest mode it will be thrown open to the public for a 30-day period of inspection.

The cornerstone-laying this afternoon at 4 o'clock will be an interesting event, one that should draw the attention of all prospective home-owners. Mr. Windham is constantly keeping the grounds in shape for visitors and all persons interested in homes and their construction are invited to be on hand to see the cornerstone put in place and to view the ideal dwelling. Paved roads lead to Morningside in all directions, and the home is only a block and a half off Piedmont road.

Most Intensive Campaign in U. S. History Will Cover Eight Eastern States in Fortnight.BOSTON IS SCENE
OF NEXT SPEECH

Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark, Brooklyn and New York City To Hear Nominee.

Albany, October 22.—(United News).—A more intensive campaign than this country has seen—designed to reach the millions of the Atlantic seaboard and their 138 electoral votes—is being planned here tonight by Governor Alfred E. Smith and his democratic associates.

Beginning in Boston Wednesday, the democratic presidential nominee will tour Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

Every moment until he closes his campaign with a speech on the East Side of New York election eve will be crowded with efforts to swing this block of states.

Smith knows he can win with 138 electoral votes from this region, added to what he considers certain in the solid south and border states. He knows that without a goodly portion of them his cause is lost.

Massachusetts Is Safe.

The mansion at the executive mansion was buzzing late into the night and the ancient corridors were ringing with Smith's booming voice as he argued out the details of the plan over the long distance phone with his manager John Raskob and others in New York city.

The schedule has not officially been announced but it is expected the governor will make the following speeches: Philadelphia, Saturday; Baltimore, Monday; Newark, Wednesday; Brooklyn, Friday; New York city, Saturday, and the East Side, Monday, election eve.

He will leave the comfort of his executive mansion and the cares of the menagerie he has there and set out at 10 a. m. Wednesday on a special train for Boston. Ten-minute stops have been arranged for Springfield and Worcester, Mass.

He will arrive in Boston at 3:30 p. m. and pass through the city before making an address at 9 p. m. He will speak at the arena which seats 13,000 and amplifiers have been set up at Mechanic and at Symphony halls so that 30,000 persons may hear him.

Senator David I. Walsh, and the delegation of Massachusetts leaders who completed the arrangements with Smith here this afternoon told him the state was "safe" and that he could expect the noisiest and largest demonstration there he has received in this campaign.

Works on Address.

On the way from Boston to New York Thursday, stops probably will be made at Providence, R. I., and Hartford, Conn., the governor may be prevailed upon to make a short speech at Hartford and there is talk of remaining overnight.

The present schedule, however, calls for his arrival in New York Thursday morning at 10 a. m. and a base there before shooting southward.

Smith spent today working on his Boston speech, playing with his animals and exercising at the golf links. He said his turtle looks a little sick, but that the monkeys and dogs are in fine shape.

The turtle appears to be still democratic although he is underweight, said the governor. "He didn't register, but he knew me."

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

80 Couples Cheer Winners
As Prizes Are Distributed

"TWO LOVERS" PARTY IS JOYOUS OCCASION

Eons ago an unassuming wise one revealed to the world that the first 50 years are the hardest. Had he focused his axiomatic proclivities on the minds and the hearts of those who have shared wedded bliss beyond their golden anniversary day this long forgotten sage undoubtedly would have added "but the second 50 are the hardest."

More than 40 such couples, men and women who early in life found themselves true lovers and who decade after decade have tripped hand in hand down the road that leads to eternity, Monday, in the twilight of their days, saw in a motion picture that though the styles and the modes may have been changed, the old order of love still prevails, and saw in retrospect a fitting reward for all the trials, the tribulations, the joys and the sorrows of a span which truly is called golden.

They were entrants in The Constitution's "Two Lovers" contest. They gathered at the Howard theater as guests of the management to view a photodramatic epic of all the trials, the tribulations, the joys and the sorrows of the Hotel Grady and they feted eight of their number who had been proclaimed the winners of a true love contest, the aspirants for honors in which all were from the city of Atlanta and its environs.

Though there were 120 couples entered, only one-third found the necessary strength to drink in this day of days. At 2 o'clock they assembled at the Howard, the men in their Sunday best, the women dressed as well they might for the occasion—they on whom fortune has smiled in silks and satins and they who have known poverty and hardship in all their years of happiness in gingham. Some came with their mates. Many an aging lover who was wont to make whoopee in the merry days of 55 and 60 years ago had to stand by and watch the young of the same period was missing, but the hearts of all were there and those present rollicked on and laughed and danced and did best to make up in quality what the "party" lacked in quantity.

But every phase of life as it is lived when the decline has been reached as passed was there. Mrs. Lovor P. Barnes came from East Point—without Pa Barnes, he being ill and failing. She couldn't make it. But Mother Barnes said that he was provided for. She brought along her

Continued on Page 8, Column 5.

REPUBLICANS KEEP AT POLICY OF FRAUDULENT OIL LEASES,
JOSEPHUS DANIELS CHARGESU. S. AGENT SHOT
WHILE ATTENDING
COURT IN CHICAGO

Authorities Baffled in Shooting of Government
Witness in Liquor Case;
Bullet Pierces Abdomen.

Chicago, October 22.—(AP)—Waiting to testify as a government witness in a liquor case, Thomas Ryan, federal prohibition agent, was shot and seriously wounded today in the courtroom of a United States commissioner in the federal building.

Authorities were baffled by the shooting, which took place in the presence of a courtroom crowd while Ryan was standing to be sworn as the next witness. No one reported seeing the assailant, no smoke followed the pistol shot and no one was noticed leaving the courtroom after the shooting.

Ryan collapsed. The bullet pierced his abdomen and lodged in his back. He had no weapon of his own and pistols carried by three other federal agents standing near Ryan had not been fired.

From the nature of the wound doctors said it appeared Ryan had been shot by someone standing on his left but Ryan could recall no one in that position.

Commissioner Edwin K. Walker ordered a re-enactment of the shooting, but it failed to afford any definite information, excepting a clue by Police-man Michael Shannon, who shot and killed Colombo. The officer said he believed the shot was meant for him and that Ryan stood up as it was fired. A search was started for relatives and friends of Colombo.

Attorney Benjamin Epstein said Ryan was standing up when the shot was fired, and that none of the group behind the agent fired the shot.

Ryan, conscious while being given emergency treatments, said he did not know his assailant and did not know of any one who might want to shoot him.

Physicians said after examination of the wound that it was not as serious as at first supposed.

SIX MINERS DIE
IN COAL BLASTWest Virginia Working
Is Scene of Explosion; Firing of Dynamite Is Given as Cause.

Beckley, W. Va., October 22.—(AP) Six miners met death today in an explosion in the McAlpin Coal company's mine at McAlpin, ten miles from here. Their bodies were recovered tonight by rescue crews.

Rescuers who located the bodies six hours after the explosion said the mine was not seriously damaged and that little difficulty was experienced in reaching the explosion area.

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

DAWES DECLARES
PARTIES IDENTICAL
ON PROHI STAND

New York, October 22.—(United News).—Prosperity is the issue upon which the great body of "average voters" will decide the presidential election for Herbert Hoover, and prohibition will play only a minor part in the election, Vice President Charles G. Dawes declared in his first campaign speech in Madison Square Garden here tonight.

Dawes, who preceded Hoover on tonight's program, declared that prosperity, likewise, will overshadow farm relief as an issue.

The vice president declared that many will vote one way or the other with prohibition in mind, but when the platforms of the two great parties take practically the same position in upholding prohibition, and prohibition is part of the constitution of the United States, the average citizen will not regard it as an issue, which should determine his vote.

Some dry democrats may vote for Hoover and some wet republicans for Smith, he added, but their votes will tend to offset each other.

Continued on Page 8, Column 5.

Desert Rat Wins Fortune
In Copper Mine Verdict
$20,000,000 VERDICT SUSTAINED BY COURT

San Francisco, October 22.—(AP)—An old-time "Desert Rat," George Campbell Carson, after years of litigation with copper companies over a patent used in smelting furnaces, is at last to reap a reward of millions from his invention, his attorneys said today.

Refusal of the United States supreme court to review the decision of the ninth circuit court of appeals in Carson's patent infringement case against the Anaconda Copper company means, attorneys said, that the one-time prospector and inventor is in a position to collect approximately $20,000,000 from the Anaconda and various other companies.

The invention claimed by Carson is said to be used almost universally in the copper producing industry in this country.

Carson will not receive all the money expected to be recovered for the infringements, however, as he was too poor to finance the litigation and assigned his rights to the Carson Investment company in which a group of San Francisco capitalists are interested. However he is a stockholder with the result that he will have a good share of the potential millions.

Attorneys for the inventor declared that Carson, who is 60 years old, would very soon be a "multimillionaire."

According to Miller and Boyken, Carson's attorneys here, all that remains to be done is to complete the accounting which a firm of accountants has under way in Tacoma. The companies involved are expected to settle on the basis of the accounting in view of today's supreme court action. Anticipating an adverse decision one of the smaller firms involved settled last week.

Carson came to San Francisco virtually without funds. He was an old prospector of wide experience. He was self educated, but had a good grounding in chemistry. At first he could find no one who would take an interest in his case.

Finally Rudolph Spreckels, San Francisco banker, saw merit in Carson's claims and formed the Carson Investment company to finance litigation.

The investment company spent $300,000 in the legal fight, but expects to obtain in all approximately $20,000,000 from the copper companies.

Carson sold some of his interest in his prospects to raise funds. He married some time ago and lives in Los Angeles.

TAKING OF FOREIGN
RUM SHIPS UPHELD CITY'S FUND GIVEN FOR DISEASE WARDU. S. Supreme Court Refuses To Interfere With Seizure of Vessels Without Manifests.

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—The supreme court refused today to interfere with the seizure by the government of foreign ships carrying liquor sighted within territorial waters and found to be without manifests showing their destinations to be the United States.

The decisions of the lower federal courts in several cases were thus permitted to stand. Three of these arose in New York from the seizure of two schooners, the "Mistiguette" under the French flag and the "Rosie M. B." under the British flag, and the seizure of a British schooner "Vines of Charleston, S. C."

The "Mistiguette" was seized four and a half miles off Long Island with a cargo of liquor valued at $108,000, the Rosie M. B. eleven miles off Long Island with a small cargo of malt and malt liquor while the Vines had aboard liquor valued at about $73,000.

The government contended in the trial of these cases and was supported by the trial courts that the schooners had been sighted within territorial waters and pursued to sea. Notwithstanding vigorous protests of the foreign captains that they had cleared from Miguel and Nova Scotia for Nassau, British West Indies, and their challenge of United States jurisdiction beyond the three mile limit when there was no evidence that they had the presence of liquor, the government insisted that the foreign ships within the territorial waters warranted the conclusion that the cargoes were to be landed on our shores.

The declaration of the lower courts that under such circumstances foreign ships could be seized when unable to produce manifests showing that their cargo was destined for the United States seemingly met the approval of the supreme court because in each case it refused a review. The action left effective the decisions of the lower courts, enabling the government to seize and condemn all foreign ships hovering along the coast line within territorial waters when they have no manifest for a landing in the United States, even though the captains are able to show that they cleared for ports in other countries.

Hope Does Not Remember.

Captain George M. Hope, member of the commission, declared he did not remember the details of the official paper from council, but said provision should be made to care for those afflicted with mental disorders.

Walter E. Stewart, chairman of the commission; Walter C. Hendrix and Dr. William Gilbert were not members of the commission at the time. Paul S. Etheridge, the other member of the commission, was confined to his bed and could not be reached for a statement.

All were of the opinion that some disposition should be made of the cases.

Walter A. Sims, who was mayor of Atlanta at the time the formal request was made to the commission to assist in financing the contagious disease ward, and Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, declared the request was limited to that ward only and added it was insufficient to finance a psychiatric ward.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale declared the city and county should by all means establish a psychiatric ward, adding that the city, however, is doing everything in its power for Grady with its present financial resources.

Carpetbag for Straton.

Jackson, Miss., October 22.—(AP)—Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, New York, was presented an old-fashioned carpetbag last night before departing from Jackson, where he spoke against Governor Al Smith. Identification of the donor was not disclosed.

DEMANDS HOOVER
DISAVOW THEFTS
BY FIRING WORK

Party Officially Assumes Responsibility of Lease
by Retaining Chairman,
Publisher Says.

CORRUPTION ONLY
CAMPAIGN ISSUEFall Still Dictates Policy of Parting With Valuable Oil Reservoirs, Only
Black Bag Gone.

Waynesville, N. C., October 22.—(AP) Charging that the Coolidge administration is carrying out the policies of Albert B. Fall, Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, in an address delivered here tonight called upon Herbert Hoover, republican presidential candidate, to remove Dr. Hubert Work as republican national committeeman chairman for his renewal of the Salt Creek lease to Sinclair interests.

"Unless the authorities of the national republican committee remove Dr. Work for his lease of Salt Creek oil lands," Mr. Daniels said, "the republican party officially assumes responsibility for that wrong transaction as it was compelled to assume full blame for the corrupt conspiracy of leasing Teapot Dome, when Will Hays took Sinclair's money to pay off the debt incurred in electing a republican president."

"Corruption and favoritism are the outstanding issues of this campaign," Mr. Daniels continued. "The late exposure of secret leasing of oil lands shows that Albert B. Fall is, in fact, secretary of the interior and the republican national committee must have a new chairman if that party expects to retain the confidence of even its most loyal stand-patters."

"That Salt Creek transaction should insure the republican party an excursion up Salt river on November 6. It is evidence that so far as the matter of parting with oil lands belonging to the United States is concerned, Albert Fall still dictates the policy of the Coolidge administration, minus the little black bag and the conspiracy of corruption."

"The carrying out by Dr. Work of an unlawful contract made by Fall shows that the administration at Washington is still the agent of those oil men who bribe the policy of a large sum of money to Will Hays to pay the campaign expenses of the republican national committee. I do not charge Dr. Work, who succeeds Will Hays as chairman, extended the lease in the expectation of securing campaign oil money from the men who profited by the Salt Creek royalty oil contract. But it is plain

Continued on Page 8, Column 3.

The Weather
SHOWERS.

Washington—Forecast:
Georgia—Showers, cooler in west portion, Tuesday; Wednesday, fair, colder.

Local Weather Reports.

Highest temperature 74
Lowest temperature 58
Mean temperature 64
Normal temperature 61
Rainfall in past 24 hours
Deficiency since 1st of month
Excess since Jan. 1, inches 5.04
Total rainfall since Jan. 1 45.00

T. a. m. Noon 7 p. m.
Dry temperature 59 (89)
Wet bulb 52 (82)
Relative humidity 71 (88)

Reports of Weather Bureau Stations.

STATIONS AND STATE OF WEATHER (Temperature) Rain (Inches) Wind (Direction and Force)

ATLANTA, cloudy 69 74 T.
Augusta, pt. cly 68 78 .00
Birmingham, cloudy 64 78 14
Boston, clear 58 68 .00
Buffalo, clear 66 68 .00
Charlotte, clear 74 78 .00
Chicago, raining 46 58 .00
Denver, cloudy 62 68 .00
Detroit, pt. cly 64 68 .00
Galveston, pt. cly 68 72 .00
Hartford, clear 68 72 .00
Havana, clear 78 80 .00
Jacksonville, pt. cly 74 80 .00
Kansas City, clear 64 68 .00
Memphis, cloudy 52 68 .00
Miami, clear 78 82 .00
Mobile, cloudy 62 80 .12
Montgomery, raining 72 82 .01
New Orleans, clear 72 80 .00
New York, pt. cly 60 64 .00
North Platte, pt. cly 54 68 .00
Oklahoma City, clear 50 70 .00
Phoenix, clear 84 90 .00
Pittsburgh, clear 68 70 .00
San Francisco, pt. cly 64 70 .00
St. Louis, raining 46 58 .00
St. Paul, clear 60 64 .00
St. Petersburg, clear 70 80 .00
Savannah, clear 78 88 .00
Tampa, cloudy 68 72 .00
Tulsa, raining 60 68 .00
Washington, pt. cly 62 70 .00

C. F. von HERMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

Largest Circulation, Morning or Evening, of Any Daily Newspaper in Atlanta!

I'm expecting you to attend

our 69th ANNIVERSARY SALE

October 22 to 27 1928

Soap	OCTAGON LAUNDRY LARGE SIZE	5 for 25c
FLOUR	A&P—Plain or Self-Rising—12-lb	59c
Rice	FANCY WHOLE GRAIN	5 LBS. for 25c
FLOUR	A&P—Plain or Self-Rising—24-lb	$1.09
Palmolive SOAP		3 for 19c
PEAS	DEL MONTE Tiny Sugar	No. 2 Can 18c
Pineapple	Del Monte Sliced	No. 2 1/2 Can 23c
OATS	QUAKER 1 1/2-lb Pkg.	2 for 19c
Old Dutch		2 for 13c
SHREDDED WHEAT		10c
Cigarettes	Carton	$1.29
BEANS	STRINGLESS Iona, No. 2 Can	2 for 25c
Salmon	Iona Pink Alaska No. 1 Can	15c
TOMATOES	MARYLAND Iona, No. 2 Can	3 for 25c
Coffee	8 O'Clock—Pure Santos	LB. 32c
CORN	MARYLAND Iona, No. 2 Can	10c
LUX SOAP	FLAKES 5-OZ. PKG.	9c
KARO SYRUP	BLUE LABEL No. 1 1/2 Can	11c
Crackers	N. B. C. 5c Varieties	3 for 12c
SALT	DIAMOND CRYSTAL 2-LB. PKG.	2 for 15c
Soap	WHITE NAPHTHA P&G	3 for 10c
SNOWDRIFT	8-lb Pail	$1.35
Snowdrift	4-lb Pail	69c
GINGER ALE	C&C	2 for 25c
Flour	PILLSBURY'S BEST	12-lb Bag 65c
FLOUR	PILLSBURY'S BEST	24-lb Bag $1.25

IN OUR Produce Departments

NO. 1 WHITE COBBLER

Potatoes 10 LBS. FOR 19c

Florida Oranges DOZ. 23c

CALIFORNIA ICEBERG

Lettuce Large, Firm Heads EA. 9c

Apples GRIMES GOLDEN DOZ. 9c

Tokay Grapes 2 LBS. FOR 15c

Matches A&P DOUBLE TIP 3 LARGE BOXES 10c

Salad Dressing RAJAH, PINT JAR 25c

Jam SULTANA 43-OZ. JAR 49c

Preserves A&P ASSORTED 5-OZ. JAR 10c

Toilet Paper Pacific Soft Crepe Roll 5c

Fleischmann's Yeast CAKE 3c

Our 33 A&P MARKETS in Atlanta Are Only About a Half-Year Old—But They Will Participate Fully in the Great ANNIVERSARY SALE

You Will Be Impressed With the Wonderfully Low Prices All Week on Fancy Western Meats, Fresh Fish and Poultry in Each of Our 33 A&P Markets

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

Review of Activities Shows Work of Convention Bureau

A review of the various conventions meeting here recently will give an idea of the importance of the work being done by the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau. The National Wholesale Drugists' association, which met here October 1, is a good example of this activity, work having been begun on this movement in the summer of 1927.

The convention bureau, under the leadership of Secretary Fred Houser, worked up interest in the idea, visiting the various local members of the organization, including one prominent Atlanta wholesale druggist, who, at that time was in a hospital recuperating from an illness. After these preliminary steps, a luncheon was given the local members and plans were formulated to bring the 1928 convention to Atlanta.

Paxon Attended Meeting.

In September of last year the convention met in Atlantic City and in addition to one or more local members, Colonel Frederic J. Paxon, president of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau, attended the meeting and worked incessantly with the officers and delegates, creating interest in holding the 1928 convention in Atlanta.

With the convention secured, and although a year away, constant contact must be maintained. There are pictures and cuts to be loaned for the program and for attendance-building literature. Articles on the attractiveness of Atlanta must be prepared that will appeal to delegates to this convention city especially.

Committees are formed to care for the various phases of the work, all of which are given the benefit of the years of experience gathered by the convention and tourist bureau.

Then the delegates begin to arrive. Representatives of the bureau are at the registration desk to welcome the delegates, attend to their wants, give them information and sound the right keynote for a successful convention.

Another good example is the Interstate Post-Graduate Medical Assembly of North America, which has just closed one of the amiablest running assemblies they have held during the 12 years of its existence. Work also began on this convention in the summer of 1927. The local doctors were anxious to secure this meeting for Atlanta, but one of the chief obstacles was the distance from the center of population and the facilities Atlanta had to offer in the way of a meeting place and exhibit hall.

Contracts were established, well in advance of the meeting in Kansas City last October and the meeting there was attended by several local doctors and Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau. A week of intensive work narrowed the choice down to 17 cities and the decision was left to the executive committee, subject to recommendations by the executive secretary and the director. These two visited the entire 17 cities and one of their main reasons for selecting Atlanta was the wholehearted cooperation promised by the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau.

To care for this large convention, a great amount of work has been necessary. Since last November, when Atlanta was definitely chosen as the convention city, the work has been in progress. Detail by detail the problems were worked out, committees were appointed, meetings were held, at which duties were minutely explained, until finally the convention dates approached. The convention bureau acted as a clearing house for all committees and made about one-third of the advance hotel reservations. The registration question also was worked out with the bureau's aid.

MONROE COUNTY WOMEN ORGANIZE TO AID DEMOCRATS

Juliette, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—The Monroe County Democratic League of Women has been organized for the purpose of aiding the Smith-Robinson presidential ticket in this county. The district chairmen are as follows:

Benton, Mrs. E. C. Seibert; Burgay, Mrs. D. F. Harrison; Brantley, Mrs. T. W. Wilson; Cabaniss, Mrs. M. B. Bridges; Cox, Mrs. T. G. Scott; Culoden, Mrs. T. M. Haygood; Strouds, Miss Emma Worsham; Dillard, Mrs. B. O. Childs; Evers, Mrs. D. Watson; Mrs. V. C. J. Tompkins; Evers, Mrs. G. W. Waldrop; Forsyth, Misses Juliette Rutherford and Alice Newton; Mrs. Lawton Carter, Mrs. J. S. Jones; High Falls, Mrs. Paul Maddox; Kelsey, Mrs. C. J. Childs; Middlebrook, Mrs. J. M. Jackson; Mrs. Harold Williams; Proctor, Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Russellville, Mrs. R. L. Holloway.

Publicity committee of Monroe county, Mrs. Charlie Hollis, Mrs. Gilbert Alexander, Mrs. Wilson Tatum, Social chairman of Monroe county, Mrs. R. P. Brooks.

Mrs. Horace Newton, Mrs. J. O. Elrod and Mrs. J. H. Clark, of Forsyth, are the chairmen for Monroe county.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD TO HEAR RAILROAD PLEAS

Several cases involving proposed discontinuance of small agency stations by railroads will be heard by the state public service commission at its regular session Tuesday.

Another interesting case will be a petition by various citizens of Brunswick seeking to force the National Utility company of the state to provide them with electric power service.

J. CARROLL PAYNE SICK WITH COLD, REPORTED BETTER

J. Carroll Payne, prominent Atlanta attorney, who has been confined to his home at 1760 Peachtree road, since Saturday noon by a severe cold Monday night was reported considerably better.

BUEHLER BROS.

New Nos. 135-137 W. Alabama Street Across from Rich's WALNUT 5384

Tuesday and Wednesday

LAMB CHOPS...19c LB.

Large Pail Pure LARD.. $1.32

10c in Trade for Pail When Empty

LAMB LEGS.....15c LB.

PORK CHOPS....21c LB.

LAMB STEW.....10c LB.

Eatmor Cranberries

Now in Season

Serve 10 Minute Cranberry Sauce. Recipe—4 cups (1 pound or quart) cranberries, 2 cups water, 1 1/4 to 2 cups sugar. Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from fire when popping stops. Ask for Eatmor—the name is on the box. Recipe book mailed free, address: American Cranberry Exchange 90 West Broadway, New York

BIDS FOR 14 SCHOOLS ARE ASKED BY BOARD

Estimated Cost of Combined Projects Will Be About $700,000.

Bids for 14 additional school projects were asked Monday and when contracts for these are let, the $3,500,000 school bonds voted in the 1926 issue will have been practically exhausted. Bids are returnable for opening November 22 and the estimated cost of the projects is about $700,000.

The improvements for which bids were asked follow:

Commercial High, $100,000; Moreland Avenue, $70,000; Oakland City, $40,000; W. E. Stinson, $47,500; Highland, $50,000; Home Park, $40,000; Peoples, $50,000; S. M. Inman, $84,000; Kirkwood, $42,500; South Boulevard, $20,000; Luckie Street, $15,000; and David Howard and Rockdale, negro schools, $162,000.

At the same time, school department officials reported that work on the five schools for which the Joe W. Stout company held the contract had been resumed. Work was suspended several days ago because of inability of the company to meet financial obligations. An arrangement with the bonding company has been perfected and they will be rushed to completion.

Schools involved in the Stout contract follow:

Morningside, Haygood-State, Grant Park, Whiteford and Edgewood Avenues.

BURGLARS REMOVE SAFE FROM OFFICE BY POLICE STATION

Macon, Ga., October 22.—(AP)—Entering a filling station office here late Saturday night, burglars opened the front door from the inside, rolled out a safe, loaded it in a car and carried it to a lonely spot in East Macon where it was either blown or battered open and its contents lifted.

About $700 in cash and jewelry valued at $3,000 was stolen, Ray Sheets, operator of the station, said.

The jewelry consisted of heirlooms that had been in the family for more than a hundred years, Mr. Sheets said. The station is less than two blocks from police headquarters and large are lights in front of the station were burning at the time of the robbery.

THROUGH SERVICE PLANE AND RAIL TO WEST INDIES

Wilmington, N. C., October 22.—(AP)—Plans for the inauguration on January 10, next, of through air-rail passenger service between the United States and the West Indies were announced here today by the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, the Florida East Coast railway and Pan American Airways, Inc.

Described as the first major step in the development of a direct mail and passenger carrying system to link the three Americas, the new line will operate through five countries and will provide de luxe transportation from New York city to Havana and thence to San Juan, Porto Rico.

Daily Service to Havana.

Proposed schedules will offer daily service from New York and intermediate points to Havana and tri-weekly service to San Juan via the Atlantic Coast Line and Florida East Coast to Miami, Fla., and from there by large multi-motored air liners. The system will cover a distance of more than 2,500 miles.

CHRISTIAN HEALING GIVEN RECOGNITION

Episcopal Session Says It Has Passed Stage of Experiment.

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—A general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church today heard a report from a joint commission of bishops and deputies which declared that "Christian healing has passed beyond the stage of experiment and its value cannot be questioned." It was placed on the calendar for early consideration.

The report, signed by the Bishop of Southern Ohio, and chairman of the commission, was read; H. C. Wyckhoff, lay deputy of Watonsville, Cal., presided. Other signers included three physicians, Dr. Howard Johnson, of San Francisco, Calif., Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, of Washington, D. C.

Three conclusions were drawn by the commission after six weeks of study, and the report asked the general convention to "thankfully recognize the deepening of the spiritual life of the church which has come through the growing recognition of the healing power of God."

The conclusions were "that healing is no longer the hope of a few but the belief and practice of a large and rapidly increasing number of persons."

"That such healing is an experience of mankind that can no longer be questioned."

"That while faith in any supposed remedy produces some effect, vital faith in God, as revealed in Christ, is followed by results which are more sure, more lasting and of a more evidently spiritual character."

SELECTED MORTICIANS OPEN MEETING TODAY

Preconvention registration indicating record attendance, the eleventh annual meeting of the National Selected Morticians, will convene at the Baltimore hotel this morning and close Friday, October 26.

The meeting was brought to Atlanta this year on the invitation of Fred Patterson, of H. M. Patterson & Son, who is a past president of the organization.

An unusually fine program has been arranged. First business session will begin at 10 o'clock this morning at the Baltimore and the annual banquet will be held there tonight. A varied program of entertainment interspersing the business sessions, has been arranged, it is announced.

The National Selected Morticians group was formed in September, 1917, and is unique in that it includes only one member in each city, who becomes a member by invitation only.

FUMIGATING ORKIN EXTERMINATING

Rid Your Premises of RATS, ROACHES and VERMIN

You pay no money in advance. Results assured by written guarantee, which protects your property against pests for an entire year.

BUILDINGS, FURNITURE, RUGS FUMIGATED ORKIN EXTERMINATING CO., Inc.

82 Courtland Street, S. E. WAL 1050

DETROIT AND CLEVELAND

Conveniently reached by

THE FLAMINGO

Leave Atlanta (Union Sta.)...6:15 p. m.

Arrive Detroit...4:23 p. m.

Arrive Cleveland...4:55 p. m.

Observation car—Drawing room and open section sleepers

Unexcelled dining car service—Coaches

Tickets and reservations

City Ticket Office, 46 N. Broad St., Phone WA 2726

F. T. ALEXANDER, Div. Pass'g Agt.

101 Marietta St. Phone WA 1400

Cuticura

Soap • Ointment • Talcum • Shaving Stick

Unsurpassed in quality of the materials which enter into them and in the service they have rendered for the past fifty years. The choice of those who desire the best for preserving and beautifying the skin and hair.

Sold everywhere. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c, Talcum 25c. Sample each free. Address "Cuticura," Dept. 13 D, Malden, Mass. Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892 as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple, reliable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination ofenna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin. Dr. Caldwell did not improve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a day by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's

DRAINAGE PUMPS LOWERING WATER IN FLOOD AREA

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 22.—(AP)—Drainage pumps in operation on the banks of Lake Okechobee near Belle Glade, in the hurricane-swept Everglades of Florida, rapidly are alleviating flood conditions in that section. Dr. William J. Buck, Belle Glade physician and relief director, reported to Red Cross headquarters here today.

With drainage of the flooded farm lands well under way, the general morale of the Everglades residents has been greatly improved, the physician said, and living conditions are rapidly returning to normalcy.

Dr. Buck confirmed reports yesterday that additional bodies of storm victims still are being found in the section along the southern end of the lake, but said he was not in a position to quote numbers.

INHERITANCE TAX ATTACK TURNED DOWN BY COURT

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—The supreme court refused today to consider another attack upon the constitutionality of the federal inheritance or estate tax raised by the executor of the estate of William C. Rouse, who died in Baltimore, Md., in September, 1925, leaving an estate in excess of $350,000.

The validity of the law was challenged on the ground that it was an invasion of the taxing powers of the states, his contention being that the credit allowed up to 25 per cent of the federal tax for inheritance taxes paid to the state was an invalid exercise of the taxing powers because its result throughout the country was not uniform, and worked a discrimination.

The court permitted Maryland, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Florida and other interested parties to file briefs in support of the attack upon the constitutionality of the law.

LISTS FUNERAL EXPENSES BEFORE KILLING HIMSELF

Detroit, October 22.—(AP)—After preparing an itemized list of funeral expenses and writing a letter to his mother in Dayton, Ohio, Earl H. Houghton, 59, short and killed himself in a hotel room here last night.

Dependancy over the death of his wife three years ago was given as the cause of his deed. Houghton asked that there be no mourners at his funeral and left a list of 25 friends to be notified later of his death.

He has been employed here as an inspector of a weighing bureau.

SPINACH Fancy, Green, Tender Lb. 17c

BUTTER BEANS Fancy, Green, Well Filled Lb. 12c

SQUASH Fancy, Yellow, Tender Lb. 15c

TURNIPS Fancy, Long Green Each Top, Bunches 12c

CABBAGE Fancy, Small, Green Heads Lb. 4c

GRAPEFRUIT Fancy, Large, Juicy Floridas 2 For 15c

APPLES Fancy, Large Size Jonathans Doz. 22c

GRAPES Fancy Malagas or Tokays Lb. 8c

32 Stores PIGGLY WIGGLY 22 Markets

PIGGLY WIGGLY

You have no idea how attractive uniform sizes make the service of my menus

By trading at Piggly Wiggly, I can personally select every piece of fruit, vegetable and produce—this means that my service of potatoes presents a dish of all the same size—this same privilege is mine in the service of all fruits and vegetables and has been the reason for many compliments—another important fact is that by personally selecting I always get all my order in perfect condition; never any inferior quality, as I only take the absolute best.

FREE BOTTLE

Mail to "SYRUP PEPsin," Monticello, Illinois.

Please send bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to try, entirely FREE.

Name _____

St. _____

P. O. _____

LOCAL AERO CLUB WILL DISCUSS USE OF NEW AIRPLANE

Members of the Atlanta Aero club will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the Atlanta Athletic club to discuss the use to be made of their newly purchased airplane, which is expected to be delivered at Candler field some time today. Plans for expansion of the organization through a membership campaign also will be discussed.

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Makes One Look Younger.

Men and women who used to be called Grandpa and Grandma are now setting the styles by darkening their gray hair at home.

For instance, V. A. McCrea, a well-known Californian, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply the hair twice weekly with a comb. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."

There are now 75 members in the organization, which is devoted to the promotion of aviation in Atlanta and the development of experience in actual flying. The plane that has been bought by the club is to be used by members in flying and instruction. Officers of the organization are: Charles G. Duncan, president; Ed K. Davis, vice president; George R. Rusk, secretary; and Dr. S. P. Jones, treasurer. The meeting tonight is open to all persons interested in aviation.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY EMPLOYEES START WORK IN ATLANTA

With only 15 or 20 more Southern railway employees to be removed from Washington to Atlanta, the newest list of arrivals, totalling 318, began work here Monday morning after arriving in Atlanta Saturday.

The newcomers are clerks in the office of the superintendent of records. The remaining employees who will arrive within a week are clerks in the office of E. N. Aiken, general passenger agent.

Total of new citizens brought to Atlanta by the Southern railway is 1,336.

TAMMANY DOMINATION IS CHARGED BY WRIGHT

Anti-Smith Leader Protests Action by Democratic Committee.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Barry Wright, chairman of the anti-Smith democratic party of Georgia, Monday issued the following statement:

"The Tammany committee took charge of the state Saturday and notified us all that they owned the democratic party, and that unless we would vote for Tammany Hall and Al Smith they would hang, draw and quarter us."

"They told all the candidates for office who are against Smith that they had to resign regardless of the nominations which their people gave them."

"Hooper Alexander, for instance, who made the election in DeKalb county, and who was endorsed by a big majority of the democratic voters of that county, is now told that the bosses of DeKalb county have overthrown the wishes of the majority of the voters of DeKalb county, and that Mr. Alexander should resign his nomination."

"This is simply another illustration of how quick Tammany Hall has put its methods into effect in Georgia. It is absolutely contemptuous of the people and believes that a few politicians have more rights and power than the people of Georgia."

"The people of Georgia resent this dictation, and are going to express their resentment at the polls."

"It has also been the habit of a certain class of politicians to quickly forget that they are servants of the people, and to try to establish themselves as masters of the people. This is what has happened in Georgia. Al Smith has turned the democratic party over to Tammany Hall, and the men who are supposed to represent Georgia and carry on the government of the people of Georgia are trying to crack their whips over the backs of the people, and drive them to vote for Tammany Hall and Al Smith, regardless of their principles and wishes in the matter."

"Frightened to death," "The Tammany crowd are desperate; they are frightened to death. They called their committees together, had about 40 men out of a hundred, and proceeded to assess them money and work. They have the politicians not only in Georgia, but from other states down here speaking all over the state, and can't draw crowds to hear any of them."

"The people of Georgia are tired of being abused by this gang of politicians, and they are not going to submit to the attempted dictation."

ROAD PATROLMEN TO AID OBSERVANCE OF AUTO TAG LAW

Road patrolmen of the state highway department will cooperate with the state motor vehicle department in enforcing the automobile license tag laws in Georgia beginning with the sale of the 1929 tags which will open January 1, 1929, it was announced Monday by George H. Carswell, secretary of state, in whose department the motor vehicle tag bureau is located.

It was announced that the highway department has agreed to provide as much cooperation from road patrolmen as possible. They will report all persons driving automobiles over state highways whose machines are not equipped with the proper license tags.

Mr. Carswell also announced that license tags will be sold in regular order this year and that no special numbers will be held for persons. He also announced that the sale will last from January 1 to February 1, one month, instead of until March 1, two months as heretofore. Penalties for failure to purchase tags by February 1 will be applied after that date. Secretary Carswell said considerable money will be saved in salaries paid extra workers by limiting the sale to one month.

U.S. SUPREME COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS IN GEORGIA CASE

Arguments in a Georgia case appealed to the United States supreme court were heard before that body in Washington Monday, according to news received at the state capital. The case was that of Dr. Talbert W. Hughes and Nathan A. Hughes, appealed from Fulton county to the state supreme court and thence to the United States supreme court.

The physicians sought to prevent the state board of medical examiners from cancelling their licenses. The supreme court declined, however, to hear counsel for the board, after counsel for the physicians had completed his argument, and this indicates in the practice of the court that the cases will be dismissed at an early day for want of jurisdiction.

The physicians challenged the constitutionality of the state statute under which the board was granted authority to cancel licenses of those convicted of crime involving moral turpitude. They contended that it did not provide proper notice and was defective in a number of other technical aspects. Counsel for the physicians insisted that they had been pardoned by the president of the United States.

SALVATION ARMY BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT TONIGHT

The Salvation Army band will appear in benefit concert given by the Alpha Sunday school at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the church auditorium.

A solo feature of the program will be furnished by Richard van Calio, artist, on a variety of novelty instruments. In addition to these solos and the band ensembles there will be vocal and instrumental quartets appearing on the program.

PRESBYTERIAN MEET

Quarterly Session of Officers Set for Thursday.

The third quarterly meeting of the Presbyterian Officers' association will be held at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night at 48 South Broad street, it was announced Monday.

Officers of the association are: James R. Beckman, president; A. W. Falkenburg, vice president; R. G. Jeffries, secretary and treasurer; Dr. J. W. Caldwell, Marvin L. Throver, H. W. Ridgely and W. J. O'Callaghan, committee.

3 Men Found Guilty of Killing 'Tamale King'

Memphis, Tenn., October 22.—(AP)—John Edwin Grace, Freeman T. Gunion and George W. Prince were found guilty of murder in the first degree by a criminal court jury today for the shooting to death the night of November 21 of John E. Levy, the verdict carrying the death penalty. A motion for a new trial was made.

Levy, known as the "Tamale King," because he was reputed to have amassed a fortune in a chain of tamale stands here, was shot to death as he drove into the garage of his home. His slayers fled without obtaining $119 he was carrying. The only clue was a cap dropped by one of the slayers.

Alleged confessions by Gunion and Prince were repudiated by them at the trial. Grace, son of a Charleston, Miss., planter, did not take the stand. He had resisted extradition from Mississippi.

The state sought to prove that Gunion and Prince were the two armed men who confronted Levy and that the former fired the fatal shot. The alleged confessions, which were repudiated, stated that Grace had remained in front of the Levy house to give a signal when Levy's car approached.

STATE SCHOOL HEADS CONVENE HERE FRIDAY

Superintendents of schools throughout the state will assemble in Atlanta Friday morning for a two-day session, marking the annual fall gathering of the Association of Superintendents. The organization is affiliated with the Georgia Education association and contains some of the leading educators of the south. Headquarters for the convention will be at the Henry Grady hotel, where meetings will be held all day Friday and Saturday morning.

A feature of the program this year will be an address by Dr. Howard W. Odum on "The Promise of the South." Dr. Odum, who is head of the sociology department of the University of North Carolina, is one of the nation's outstanding editors and authors.

Other speakers on the program include W. P. Jones, Macon; E. G. Egan, Bainbridge; R. E. Pountree, Emanuel county; M. L. Duggan, state superintendent; Roland B. Daniel, Columbus; Dr. Gordon Singleton, department of education, and Dr. R. E. Park, University of Georgia.

Superintendent T. J. Lance, of Waynesboro, is president of the association.

BUSINESS CLUB

Weekly Meeting To Be Held This Afternoon.

Members of the American Business club will hold their weekly meeting at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Henry Grady hotel. The program will be in charge of E. Burns Brooks.

LIONS MEET TODAY

Mrs. DeLos Hill Will Address Weekly Session.

Mrs. DeLos Hill will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Lions' club at 12:30 o'clock today, in the Atlanta Athletic club, on the subject of music and an appreciation for that art. The program for the day is in charge of Paul Donehon.

Don't Tolerate a HEADACHE

Even a little headache can upset you completely, wear out your nerves and make you positively unfit for work or pleasure. A Sunback Headache Powder will banish that headache within just a few minutes. This simple remedy is easy to take, perfectly harmless and leaves no bad after effect. Physicians prescribe it also for nerve pains and to break up colds and flu. Ask your druggist for Sunback.

Take SUNBACK

for PAIN 10¢ & 25¢

MEDICINAL HERBS AND ROOTS

FOR ALMOST ANY DISEASE

We Carry Every Herb Known, and are known the world over as the Largest Dealers in America.

FREE Our 88-page Catalog and little Herb Doctor book, which gives valuable recipes for almost any disease.

SEND FOR THIS BOOK AND Cure Yourself With Nature's Herbs

INDIAN HERB GROWERS

1434 SOUTH ST., Philadelphia, Pa.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for hemorrhoids or money back. Jacobs' Drug Store and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee—(adv.)

$41,402 IS RAISED IN CHURCH CAMPAIGN

First Presbyterian Workers Confident of Success in Record Time.

Reporting $41,402 subscribed the first day in the campaign to raise $150,000 this week for building fund of the First Presbyterian church, workers Monday launched a concerted drive to raise the full amount ahead of time if possible. Funds are being sought for erection of a modern Sunday school building and completion of the church building.

H. R. Armstrong, chairman of the solicitation committee, at a meeting late Monday commended the workers and urged them on to greater achievement. Campaign headquarters have been established in the Henry Grady hotel, where daily meetings of the solicitation committee will be held.

The second report meeting of the 70 workers engaged in the campaign will be held at 12:15 o'clock today. It was stated that reports at this meeting will apply the real test to the drive, since most of the subscriptions

GEORGIA ELKS MEET IN ATLANTA IN JUNE

William H. Beck, Jr., of Griffin Named President of Organization.

The state convention of Georgia Elks will be held in Atlanta in June, 1929, it was announced Monday following an executive committee meeting in Griffin Sunday afternoon. William H. Beck, Jr., of Griffin, was named by the executive committee as president of the Elks for 1929, succeeding E. Foster Brigham, of Augusta, who resigned. Arrangements for the convention will be completed at the next meeting in January of the executive committee.

Already reported represent gifts of the workers themselves, it was said.

The campaign will close Friday, and it is planned that every member of the church will have been visited by that time and given an opportunity to subscribe. Dr. J. Spole Lyons, pastor announced that a great service of praise and thanksgiving would be held Sunday morning.

E. C. Callaway Files $420,032 Liabilities And $327,025 Assets

A schedule of assets and liabilities in the bankruptcy case of E. C. Callaway, against whom an involuntary petition was filed September 25, was filed with Bankruptcy Clerk Fred Beers Monday. The statement lists liabilities to the amount of $420,032.01 and estimated assets at $327,025. Of the assets, $316,025 are listed as of doubtful value, consisting of stocks in various companies, some of which are involved in bankruptcy proceedings themselves. W. A. Fuller was named trustee Monday morning at a meeting of first creditors.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Special men's elevator at Ellis Street entrance direct to second floor clothing department.

Every suit and overcoat sold by this store must meet our own exacting specifications. This is not always easy to accomplish, but our affiliation with Macy's great buying power gives us a real advantage in the market.

We lay down specifications precisely as we wish the clothes made—just as an architect draws plans for a house—and see to it that they are made according to instructions. And we DO know how they should be tailored and fashioned.

The combined sales of men's clothing of Macy's and affiliated stores are so large, it stands to reason that we can both buy and sell for less. We do!

Macy's London office keeps its hand on the pulse of European fashions. That hand feels any new style-throb, and transmits it across the water to us, long before it becomes the fad in America.

When ready to purchase your fall suit and overcoat, it will be an educational experience for you to visit our Men's Shops—so thoroughly modern in every respect. The price range is—$29.50 to $50.

DAVISON-PAXON CO.
ATLANTA—affiliated with MACY'S, New York

What a stylish man should wear this fall

Hart Schaffner &
Marx 2 button suit of Stone grey, Chippendale brown or Grenadier blue. Peaked or notched lapels

$45

Hart Schaffner &
Marx Camel's hair topcoats

$45

They have a soft drape, silky texture and in a variety of styles, too.

Other Hart Schaffner &
Marx topcoats from $25
to $50.

ZACHRY

116 Peachtree St.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

REVIEW IS GRANTED IN FEDERAL BOARD
TRADEMARK CASE

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—The government was granted a review by the supreme court today to set out whether the federal trademark commission has power to prevent the use as a trade name of a descriptive term on the ground that its use constituted unfair competition. The issue arose in proceedings against Alfred Klesner for the use here of the name "Shade Shop," the commission holding that it had been appropriated by and belonged to another business establishment. The lower federal courts held that descriptive terms when used as trade names could not be exclusively appropriated.

ATLANTA PRESBYTERY WILL CONVELE TODAY

Moderator Will Be Elected To Serve for Six Months.

The Atlanta Presbytery will convene at 10 o'clock this morning at the Ingleside Presbyterian church with election of a moderator and presentation and adoption of the stewardship report among business matters to be transacted. Election of a moderator for the ensuing six months and election of a stated clerk to succeed the late Rev. L. D. King will feature organization work of the assembly. Rev. F. C. Talmadge, pastor of the Kirkwood Presbyterian church, will preach the opening sermon at the request of the Rev. Harold Shields, retiring moderator. Rev. Wade H. Boggs, pastor of the Druid Hills church, will present the stewardship report for the next church year. Memorials to ministers who have died since the spring meeting will be read and the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed.

MISSION BOARD SUIT
BY BROWN DISMISSED

Effort To Fix Responsibility for Carnes' Defalcations Fails.

Suit against members and officers of the Southern Baptist home mission board, Joel Hunter & Co., and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company seeking to hold them liable for the shortage of Clinton S. Carnes as treasurer of the mission board, was dismissed Monday by Superior Judge E. H. Howard. Judge Howard's order dismissing the action came after he had sustained a general demurrer filed by all the defendants and the demurrer had been argued nearly three hours by attorneys for the defense and Walter R. Brown, prominent Baptist layman, the petitioner. Mr. Brown's suit, which was filed shortly after the alleged Carnes' defalcations had been revealed, originally sought merely to conserve the assets of the board but later was amended to make the Hunter company, the bonding company and the mission board individuals responsible. Judge Howard, upon receiving the first plea, signed a restraining order forbidding the mission board from making a settlement with the bonding company and in announcing his decision Monday he explained that he had enjoined the settlement previous to a receiver having been appointed to assume charge of the Carnes' holdings. He added that inasmuch as the receiver had been appointed by the DeKalb superior court since he issued the temporary order, the order was no longer necessary.

Powell Enters Demurrer. Judge A. G. Powell entered the demurrer as attorney for the mission board, alleging that the plaintiff had failed to show any cause for action and challenging his right to enter the suit, asserting that the mission board was a creature of the Southern Baptist convention and therefore responsible to the executive committee of the convention and not to any individual members of the church. Judge Powell cited similar cases which had been decided in favor of corporation directorates by the Georgia supreme court.

Grover Middlebrooks represented the bonding company which bonded Carnes to the extent of $50,000. Mr. Brown charged that the company had failed to investigate Carnes' record, asserting that had it done so the Carnes bond would not have been posted and he would never have obtained his position with the mission board. Mr. Middlebrooks asserted that it was the duty of the company to assume whatever bonds they saw fit with or without investigation but that they could not be held responsible for any person they bonded beyond the amount for which he was bonded.

R. P. Gambrell appeared for the Joel Hunter & Co., demurring on the ground that the Hunter company was not responsible for the future conduct of any person they once had in their employ or had recommended for any position. In his decision, Judge Howard declared that he believed, with the attorney for the mission board, that Mr. Brown should first have appealed to the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention and that he had no basis for suit until that body had refused to act on his demands for an investigation and report to him as an individual member of the convention.

ATHENS BUSINESS MAN DIES WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Athens, Ga., October 22.—(AP)—Richard Bullock, 51, died here last night after being struck by an automobile driven by Hallowell Baxter, high school student. Mr. Bullock was crossing the street to attend church when he was struck by the automobile. Mr. Bullock was connected with the Charles Stern Clothing company.

SLAYING BULLBATS
RESULTS IN FINES
TO 4 GILMER MEN

E. M. McCanlish, Garnett Pinson, John Stephens and John W. Sellers, all of Gilmer county, pleaded guilty in Judge Sibley's United States district court Monday morning, through Attorney R. E. A. Hamby, to a charge of hunting and killing bull bats in violation of the migratory bird act and received fines of $15. A similar charge against Branson Vinson was dismissed for a lack of evidence. Leonard Middlebrooks, of Fulton county, pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing and transporting whisky and was fined $100. The sentence was deferred 60 days on posting of $100 bond.

Trial of E. O. Oetgen, charged with using the mails to defraud, was continued and is expected to go to the jury today.

Larry Cowen, Loew's Publicity Representative, Returns to Gotham Today

BY PAUL STEVENSON. After spending two months in Atlanta in special publicity work in connection with the opening of Loew's Capitol theater under Loew management, Larry Cowen, of the New York publicity office of Loew's, Inc., will return to that city Tuesday morning.

During the time he has worked in Atlanta, Mr. Cowen, or rather "Larry," has won a small army of friends. He came here two weeks before Loew's Capitol was turned over to the Loew management and directed the special publicity campaign in that connection and also handled the publicity for Loew's Grand theater which opened under a new policy.

Larry Cowen is one of the most popular visiting publicity men and was well liked in all newspaper offices and in advertising circles in Atlanta. He is a veritable dynamo of energy, works in a flood of new ideas as to publicity and certainly put the Loew theaters before the public during his stay. He also was active in American Legion circles and presided at the regular weekly meetings of Atlanta post No. 1 on several occasions. A group of local friends will escort him to the Crescent Limited Tuesday when he returns to the New York headquarters.

ROTARY MEETS TODAY

Coach Alexander and Al Doonan Will Speak.

Coach W. A. Alexander and Al Doonan, local athletic authorities, will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Rotary club at 12:30 o'clock today at the Capital City club. The Georgia Tech coach and the director of athletics at the Atlanta Athletic club will speak on "The Olympic Games."

BATTLE IN COURTS
STARTS OVER USE OF CANDLER FIELD

A legal fight over the use of the tri-motored all-metal Ford plane at Candler field for local flights was in the offing Monday following the issuance by Judge E. E. Pomeroy of a temporary restraining order to prevent the Queen City Air Line corporation, of Cincinnati, from operating for profit or gain at the local airport.

The temporary injunction was secured by Beeler Blevins and Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., of Georgia, against the Queen City corporation and Douglas Davis and hearing on the petition has been set for Saturday. Judge Pomeroy's order temporarily restrains the Queen City corporation or its agents, and restrains Davis from operating the tri-motored plane "except in his own right and over which he has full control of such operations." The plaintiffs allege that the Queen City concern brought the monoplane to Candler field to operate for profit or gain, and that the name "Queen City Air Line Corporation" was painted on the plane. An agreement between the plaintiffs and Davis, as required by the city ordinance, is that no aircraft shall fly for profit or gain at Candler field without the consent of the three operators of airships, Blevins, Pitcairn and Davis, nor before the operator erects a hangar costing at least $2,000, the petition asserts. The plaintiffs alleged that the Ford plane has been on what is known as a "barstorming" expedition.

PENTECOSTAL REVIVAL

Rev. Lewis Sarvosky Is in Charge.

Rev. Lewis Sarvosky is conducting a revival at the Pentecostal Holiness church, Fair and Keller streets, it was announced Monday. Rev. Sarvosky is a converted Jew from Poland and has been in evangelistic work for 18 years.

KLEIN'S SHOE REPAIR
Reduced Prices!

White Oak Leather Soles Sewed On—95¢

We have also reduced our famous waterproof leather soles

White Oak Leather Soles Sewed On—95¢

ATLANTA STORE
41 Peachtree St., at Five Points

PROTECTION
GEORGIA
CASUALTY COMPANY
ATLANTA, GA.
HARRY C. MITCHELL
PRESIDENT
Automobile, Burglary, Plate Glass, Workman's Compensation INSURANCE

Splendid Recipe
To Stop A Cough
That "Hangs On"

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be made at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this home-made remedy loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which usually follow the "flu," are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchitis.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

One Thin Woman
Gained 15 Pounds
In 5 Weeks

Men and women, weak, thin and miserable, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with McCoy's Tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone. McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking a sixty-cent box of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be refunded.

Just ask for McCoy's Tablets at druggists, drug stores or any drug store. Distributed by McCoy's Laboratories, Inc., also distributors of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil—there is none better.—(adv.)

Headquarters Here
For Traveling Staff
Of Hudson Company

The Hudson Motor Car company has opened headquarters in Atlanta for a staff of 40 traveling representatives.

atives, it was announced Monday by Allan A. Floyd, zone sales manager, with offices at 414 Norris building. The headquarters for the traveling staff will enable the Hudson company to keep in even closer touch with its dealers than heretofore, Mr. Floyd stated. Harry J. Tighe, district manager for Hudson, is assisting Mr. Floyd in organizing the big group of Hudson traveling representatives. The new headquarters will be in charge of Hudson sales and will aid in new and used car promotion in the southeast. Anti-Smith Ad 4th Page

DAVISON-PAXON CO.
ATLANTA • affiliated with MACY'S, New YorkCURTAINS

Odd Curtains that Have Accumulated in our Stock—Many Very Handsome Things—To Clear at Important

ReductionsRuffled Voile Curtains

Cottage type of white voile ruffled in pink or blue checked gingham. Set includes two half-length curtains, two short curtains, and one pair of tie backs. Formerly $1.25 $1.50

Ruffled Marquisette Curtains

A large number of these fancy marquisette curtains in cream and ecru. Wonderful values. Formerly $1.98 and $2.98 $1.44

Lace Trimmed Ruffled Curtains

Voile curtains with heavy linen lace edging. Some have hand-drawn work. In ecru or white. Formerly to $4.50 $1.98

Net and Organdy Ruffled Curtains

Ecru dotted nets with linen lace trimmings, organdy, and fancy ruffled curtains in this group. Formerly to $7.50 $2.98

Rose & Gold Organdy Curtains

Clear shades of rose and gold are the colors of these fresh bright organdy curtains. Formerly $6.50 $3.50

Bobinet & Fancy Lace Curtains

A group of very fine curtains, ruffled, of lace, and of bobinet. Formerly to $9.98 $4.98

Luster Lace Panels

Formerly to $4.98 and $5.50 Two Groups. Odd panels of lace and luster lace in beautiful designs. Formerly $1.25 $1.98

Lace and Net Panels

Panels of lace, embroidered net, and applique net. Exceptional values. Formerly to $7.50 $2.98

Davison-Paxon Co., Fourth Floor

"Serving the South for More Than Sixty Years"

What Will Become of Your Estate?
Place It in Trust

IS IT fair to your wife to burden her with business affairs to which she has not been accustomed? Has she the business experience to guard your estate wisely?

Make your will now—and name the Trust Company of Georgia as your executor. Then your family will be protected by the sound judgment of experienced business men and safeguarded by the law.

A consultation will cost you nothing.

The ATLANTA and LOWRY
NATIONAL BANK
and
TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA

COMBINED RESOURCES MORE THAN $70,000,000.00

AS Pure AS MONEY CAN BUY

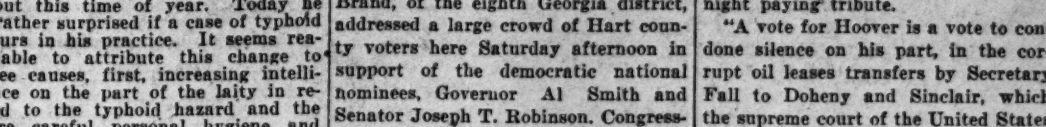

Twelve 5-Grain Tablets for 10¢

St. Joseph's
Pure
ASPIRIN

Health Talks
BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Thirty years ago a family practitioner could count on a fairly busy son with typhoid fever patients eral sanitation better knowledge again; second, the immunization of considerable portion of the population by means of the typhoid bacterin

"raccine" in the last 15 years;
third, a modification of the diet, a disinfection of the water system, and the use of the typhoid

For some diseases do undergo a considerable change in character in the course of a generation or two of human life. So careful and experienced a student of human nature as the Quaker, Mr. Hancock, has to admit, "but, however, he'll be superior."

His speech follows:

"If it is permissible to criticise Smith for his religious views, why is it not appropriate to remind the people that Hoover is a Quaker and what

"The question which concerns me is what this particular Quaker as a republican nominee, and what this particular Catholic as the democratic nominee, stands for? Which one is friendly to our people, or unfriendly?"

Hoover Deserted Wilson.

the request of the European nations, selfishly done I think, made him food administrator. He was unknown to fame until Wilson picked him up, and he was taken from obscurity into the limelight and the honor of the world. He was broken to health and spirit. How Deliberate Deflation. "In the republican platform adopted by the republicans at their national convention in Chicago in June, 1920, in the belly of the plank entitled 'The High Cost of Living,' this language appears:

"But as the political party that throughout its history has stood for honest money and sound finance, we pledge ourselves to carry out the consistent attack upon the high cost of living by rigorous avoidance of further inflation in our government borrowing."

"I am a chocolate or vanilla, but I am not hot stuff such as chocolate is," he said. "I am a vanilla, like the Catholic, in preference to Hoover, the Quaker.

"I prefer to support a man who has been overwhelmingly chosen by his countrymen as a candidate for president, though a Catholic, like the Quaker, in preference to Hoover, the Quaker."

"A vote for Hoover is a vote for a man who took the position a few years ago that congress should pass

A Quaker who is unfriendly to the south and whose political and social characteristics are wholeheartedly antagonistic to the sentiment which the southern people in the highest degree regard as sacred.

Indifferent To South. "I prefer to support a Catholic for president who is willing to fight and have his people to fight when his country calls them to arms, rather than support a Quaker who won't fight and whose family and people would rather sit at home and watch the segregation order which separated the black and white employees in the census department, and permitting the army to mix with white girls and wives and mothers."

"A vote for Hoover is a vote for a man who in case of war is willing to begin to realize that this illness comes from some boor who, having it, spies, coughs or conversationally uses it in one's face.

Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution,
New York City.

MODERATORS ORGANIZE

...won't fight."
"I prefer to support a Catholic for
President who believes that the white
Anglo-Saxon race is the best blood that flows in human veins, rather than support a Quaker who thinks the negro blood is as pure as mine force every boy in this country to go to war except the sons of the Quakers. The difference between the Catholics and the Quakers in this respect is the difference between a man who stays at home and doesn't fight and soldier standing upon the battle field.

and yours and our people, and whose every instinct is against the cause for which the south fought in the '60's, and who is cold bloodedly indifferent to the traditions of the southern people.

"I prefer to support a Catholic for ready with his gun to answer the call to battle, unmindful of home and fearless of death, the former deserving no gratitude from his countrymen, and the latter being entitled to an immortal place in the temple of fame.

For Racial Equality

president who is friendly to the cotton grower, rather than support a Quaker who in the littleness and selfishness of his heart, has been unwilling to let congress to enact legislation fixing the maximum price of cotton at 16 cents per pound.

"I prefer to support a Catholic for president who is a democrat and who has lived in this country all his life, and always with the rightistic tactics, rather than support a Quaker who is republican, who spent more of the years of his adult life in European countries."

ing with this work, a meeting was held at 7:30 o'clock Monday in the second ward at the home of Mary Tannenbaum, 745 Washington street, to form the women of the ward into a militant committee for the success of the national campaign.

The first of the speakers, a white man, said that the negroes in the doubtful states. Both parties are doing the same thing right now in New York, and in other states of the union.

"It is a parallel case to the contest between the democrats and populists in the state of Georgia," he said.

Klopfein, Mrs. E. L. Lippman,
 Koppin, Miss Anna Siegal,
 Koss, Mrs. M. M. Von
 E. E. L. Guiffria, Mrs. Molly Kin
 Mrs. Sol Eplan.
 n R. Slater, chairman of the Democratic campaign, made publicly known the following list of letter he received Monday from Rasbok, chairman of the national committee, "on religious and political equality between the white and black races as Hoover does and Smith doesn't."

"A vote for Hoover is a vote for the infamous Dyer anti-lynch bill, and for the monstrous conspiracy to keep the American Negro in a state of perpetual servitude and to keep the South in a state of anarchy," says the letter.

"The vote for Hoover is a vote for the loss of the South, and the direful consequence of which may be appalling; at least a repetition in all its horrors of the reconstruction pe-

"This proposition has become a fixture in the republican platform 1920, and in the following language in the platforms of the years 1924 and 1928: "We renew our recommendation that the congress enact the earliest possible date for a national election."

and said: 'If these same influences are to be found in the present that it shows a pronounced trend toward the democratic ticket. He made serious errors in its estimate of the influence of the tariff bill and the Esch-Cumings bill, two of the most cherished pets of the republican party, to which fathers, will not 'perish from the earth, but will endure forever.'"

Committees Named.
The eighth and ninth ward committees are as follows:
Eighth—H. D. Dillon, president; E. L. Reynolds, H. B. Dunn, Jr., M. G. Grant, John A. Tischer, and J. J. O'Connell.

J. L. Shomer, M. R. Elder, J. M. Blackburn, Hughes Roberts, J. S. Thomas, H. E. Troutman, J. Arnold, Thomas H. Scott, William H. Smith, J. M. Blackburn, Woodworth, T. J. Ridley, John W. J. Latham, J. W. Welch

Cronin, George Hardy, Jas Wright, J. Holmes Jordan, J. T. D., George Brown, B. L. Lay-
Walker P. Andrews, Dr. J. D. Weston, W. L. Layton, W. A. Richardson, J. A. LaHatte, E. Warren, A. J. Young, John

ine, Dr. B. M. Cline, Mar
 Smith the greatest majority a candi ate for the presidency ever received will not prevent a warm welcome to Mr. Hoover today. The glad to see the republican candidate.
 Personally, he is a very fine man.
 I. We trust that Mr. Hoover will be people of Massachusetts. We have some intolerance here, but the vast majority of our people are broad-mi and fair-minded. The amazed at the factor attacks on Governor Smith made by responsible republican speakers. They would like

Huddleston, chairman; J. L. Dr. Theodore Toepel, J. R. J. Wriston, William C. W. M. Keheley, C. L. A. A. Easter, William Butler, C. M. S. Moore, Sidney D. G. P. Jones, John W. Shinadequately informed concerning conditions in New England and that he will ask our citizens what sort of a program we are giving us which will bring about the prosperity with which, republican orators tell us, other parts of the country have been blessed.

to believe that Mr. Hoover scorned the votes of those who assail Governor Smith's policies.

Here is Mr. Hoover's opportunity to show our people that he believes in fair play and that he sincerely desires no political profit from such tactics.

Thomas S. Hopper, Hamilton
L. Anderson, S. R. Green,
J. C. Wallace, W. J.
R. L. Tippett, A. P. Her-
N. S. Noble, Gordan Har-
Charles R. Cook, A. C. Corbett.

We wish Mr. Hoover could spare the time to visit our cities and see how we are getting along. He has on part time, the small business men there on the verge of bankruptcy, a general feeling of gloom and anxiety.

We wish he could talk with our people who are suffering from unemployment. We know that his people

But he must speak out plainly and unambiguously. If he does, the citizens will give him a generous credit.

Whether or not Mr. Hoover ventures to answer the questions which disturb New England his welcome to Boston will not lack cordiality. We

Dr. W. E. Barber, J. Clyde
R. C. Turner, Fred May-

ROBINSON DENOUNCES REACTIONARY REGIME

Nominee Hits G. O. P. Foreign Policy in Speech at Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., October 22.—(AP)—Farmers of Nebraska who listened in on their radios tonight heard Senator Joe T. Robinson describe the republican farm relief policy as underlain with "insincerity and indecision" and declare that "there was never a time when reactionary influences were more dominant in the United States than at present."

The running mate of Governor Smith assailed the foreign policy of the republican party and declared the aim of Smith would be to restore the United States "to popularity among our neighbors of the western hemisphere."

Lauds Bryan's Aims.

In this home city of William Jennings Bryan, the senator described the commoner as "a leader in the promotion of amity and good will." He said agreements not to resort to war are "negative undertakings," but that conciliation and arbitration treaties such as Bryan's plan are associated with employ affirmative processes.

Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, was once more assailed by Robinson for voting to sustain the veto of the McNary-Haugen bill after three times voting to pass it in the senate.

"Now he goes running around the country advocating higher tariff rates as the remedy for the farm situation," he said of Curtis, "when he knows that we carry forward a plan which necessarily revives competition with respect to sea power."

Raps Stimson Pact.

The candidate also attacked the Stimson pact with the government of Nicaragua, and declared that "the signal failure" of the Geneva disarmament conference was due in a large measure to suspicion aroused among foreign governments as to the good faith of this country because of "our interference with the military force in the political affairs of Nicaragua."

"The mistrust and suspicion of foreign governments concerning our good faith with parties adverse to the subject of disarmament," Senator Robinson said, "are given credence by the advancement during the last session of congress of the great naval construction program ever proposed by any power during history. We can not influence others to lay down their arms while we carry forward a plan which necessarily revives competition with respect to sea power."

REPARATION GROUP LIKELY TO SELECT PARIS FOR SESSION

Paris, October 22.—(AP)—Paris is likely to be the meeting place of the committee of experts which will meet shortly to consider revision of the Dawes plan in accordance with the resolution adopted at Geneva last September.

The initiative in sending invitations to the various countries represented will be taken by the German government and it is understood that the Germans have no objection to the choosing of Paris as the scene for the deliberation. Geneva has been mentioned, but there is a feeling that the American representative might frown upon the suggestion.

The date of the conference has not yet been fixed and the invitations will not be sent out until each country has announced the names of its representatives. It is expected in Paris that the constitution of the committee will be completed early in November and that Berlin, after conferring with the other countries, then will fix the date of the meeting, which is likely to be in the latter part of November or the early days of December.

CONVENTION TO BE DISCUSSED BY CIVITANS TODAY

In addition to laying final plans for their big delegation's journey to the Georgia district convention at Dalton next Thursday and Friday, Atlanta Civitans will hear Ed Danforth, popular sports writer of the Georgian, in an address on football at the club's regular weekly meeting today.

The meeting will be held at the Atlanta Athletic club. Herbert Porter, governor of the Georgia district, will be on hand to tell of complete plans for the big gathering at Dalton this week and to urge all Atlanta Civitans to attend who possibly can do so. The convention will be featured by a banquet and an address by the international president of Civitan, a dance, a luncheon and two business sessions.

Superior Court Sustains Millis In Divorce Case

The case of Colonel John Millis against Mrs. Mary Raoul Millis, which occupied Monday's session of Fulton superior court before Judge Virlyn Moore, resulted in a verdict of the jury in favor of Colonel Millis.

The parties to the suit were married in Atlanta, Ga., twenty-five years ago, Mrs. Millis being the daughter of the late Captain W. G. Raoul, and her husband being a colonel in the United States army.

The evidence showed that in 1923 Mrs. Millis filed in Fulton superior court a petition for divorce against her husband, service being made by publication, and defendant being a resident of Cleveland, Ohio.

Bill of Equity Filed.

After final verdict and decree granting a total divorce between the parties Colonel Millis filed in Fulton superior court a bill in equity seeking to set aside the verdict and the decree on the ground that he had had no notice of the pending proceedings for divorce and alleging that the plaintiff had purposely refrained from furnishing the clerk of the court with his street and number address in Cleveland, Ohio, in order that he might not receive the notice of the publication of the bill.

A demurrer was filed to the bill in equity on the ground that the law of Georgia did not require plaintiff to furnish the clerk with the defendant's street and number address, and that the address furnished the clerk, "Cleveland, Ohio," was sufficient to meet the requirements of the law.

The demurrer was sustained by Judge Humphries who ruled that the address given was legally sufficient.

To this ruling Colonel Millis filed an appeal to the supreme court of Georgia which in a unanimous opinion reversed the judgment of the court below and held that if the plaintiff knew or could by reasonable diligence have ascertained the street and number of the defendant, it should have been furnished the clerk.

Upon the trial of this issue in the superior court on Monday Mrs. Millis admitted that she had known her husband's street and number address in Cleveland but had forgotten it when she furnished the city address to the clerk of the court.

The jury sustained the contention of Colonel Millis and found a verdict in his favor, setting aside the previous verdict and decree of divorce.

Mrs. Millis was represented throughout the litigation by Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw, while Colonel Millis was represented by Howell, Heyman & Bolding.

STEVE JOHNSTON FAVORS TRAFFIC REPORTS TO POLICE

Steven R. Johnston, Superintendent of Grady hospital, and Lieutenant John W. Blazer, head of the traffic enforcement bureau of the Atlanta police department, Monday joined Chief of Police James L. Beavers in an appeal to city council to pass an ordinance making it mandatory on hospitals to make police reports on all emergency cases where there was a probability that police investigation will be necessary.

Chief Beavers several days ago championed such an idea, but it has met with opposition from certain members of council who contend that such a system would turn hospitals into bureaus of investigation instead of institutions for treatment of the sick and wounded.

The police committee of city council is expected to consider the matter when it meets Wednesday week, October 31.

TWO GIRLS RECEIVE PRISON SENTENCES IN THEFT OF CAR

Frances Bender, 24, and Myre Tyler, 17, were convicted Monday in Fulton superior court on charges of stealing an automobile belonging to C. E. Clackum, of 61 Houston street, N. E., while A. E. Bunton, indicted jointly with the girls in the larceny case, was given a consent verdict of not guilty.

The Bender girl was sentenced by Judge John D. Humphries to two to three years, and the Tyler girl drew a sentence of one to two years. The two girls were alleged to have stolen the car from a parking lot on West Peachtree street. The pair claimed that the car had been given to them by a friend.

Misses Bender and Tyler were represented by H. A. Allen. F. Joe Turner represented Bunton. Assistant Solicitors Ed A. Stephens and Walter LeCraw conducted the prosecution.

WATER POWER SITE CAUSES COURT FIGHT

Interstate Land Company and Savannah River Electric Company Involved.

Legal warfare over a valuable water power site on the Savannah river was started Monday afternoon when Judge G. H. Howard, in Fulton superior court, handed down a decision overruling a demurrer which set forth that the Georgia court did not have jurisdiction.

The fight is between the Interstate Land company, H. C. Middleton and W. M. Fleming, on one side, and the Savannah River Electric company on the other. The Interstate company is asking for an injunction to prevent the electric company from condemning a dam site owned by the petitioners. The case has been set for a hearing on November 7.

Judge Howard sustained a demurrer offered by the defendant electric company which set forth that the act allowing foreign corporations to domesticate in Georgia is unconstitutional, and held that the Georgia court has jurisdiction to enjoin the parties resident in Georgia from proceeding in a South Carolina-Georgia condemnation of land lying partly in both states for the reason that this court has jurisdiction over both parties and that to permit condemnation of the other end of the side in South Carolina would render ineffectual judgment of the court in the event the electric company won title to the South Carolina side of the site.

The Interstate company claims that it is planning to erect a dam on the property sought by the electric company, and that the building of a dam on the property in question would be approximately $3,000,000 cheaper than on a site already owned by the electric company.

Showers Due For Atlanta During Today

Rain clouds which assembled over Atlanta Monday morning and again Monday afternoon are expected to bring on showers today, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local United States weather bureau. Little change in temperature is expected, however, Mr. von Herrmann stated, and there is still no prospect of frost for some time to come.

A low pressure area which is present in Canada and the extreme northern part of the United States is sufficient to keep the cold weather from this section for the time being, he explained, in spite of the rain which might be expected to bring lower temperatures in its wake.

Temperatures Monday ranged from 58 to a maximum of 74 and approximately the same figures are forecast for today. Wednesday will be slightly cooler, with weather conditions unsettled.

Slayer Decried to Death.

Pittsburgh, October 22.—(AP)—Paul Jaworski, slayer and notorious bandit who was at large for more than a year after his escape from the Allegheny county jail here, today was sentenced to die for killing a pay roll guard.

It is planning to erect a dam on the property sought by the electric company, and that the building of a dam on the property in question would be approximately $3,000,000 cheaper than on a site already owned by the electric company.

LANDSLIDE

U. S. Senator

J. THOMAS HEFLIN

Speaks City Auditorium

Thursday Night
7:30, October 25th

"Dangers Confronting America"

Big Night—Thousands Coming

Everybody Invited—Bring Your Friends

CRICHTON'S

Shorthand

Take our FREE DEMONSTRATION LESSON and you will understand how this wonderful shorthand can be mastered in four months or less.

SEND FOR CATALOG.

In Atlanta Nearly 40 Years Crichton's Business College Whitehall and Trinity

The last blemish gone!

Skin eruptions successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It cleans up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."

Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

a clear skin comes from within

Sale! SILK HOSIERY

Kayser and As-You-Like-It Hosiery

Regular $1.65 Grade—Service Weight

Beautifully Fashioned Square and Pointed Heels

$1.50

Shades of Gunmetal, Cobweb, Marron, Seasand, Mirage, Grain

With the promise of winter in the air, the slightly heavier weave of service weight hose not only looks good, but feels good as well. These in the favorably known Kayser and As-You-Like-It brands are excellently shaped, and especially serviceable, with lisle feet, and a wide four-inch garter top to prevent runs. They are our regular $1.65 values, every pair is perfect, and the shades those best suited to the Fall costume.

McCallum Sheer Chiffon Hosiery

$3.50

McCallum hose—like filmy gossamer—so shimmery and smooth its sheen, so fine its texture—yet strong with the strength only possible in hose of the purest silk made from the most carefully tested and longest strands. Plain heels, picot tops. Thread dyed. Gunmetal shade—the very newest! Hose for velvet dresses, the very loveliest for afternoon and evening wear.

$3.50

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

FABRICS OF THE HOUR

The snap in the weather these days puts new energy into our blood. The laziness of summer is gone. This is the best time of all for getting at the sewing machine with vigor. Glance over these materials and prices! Now is the time to make those many things so long put off!

Striped Madras 49c Yd. Boys' shirts or blouses—well made when you yourself make them of this material—36-in. madras. Fine stripes in all colors.	Fennimore Taffeta 69c Yd. Deservedly—one of our most demanded materials. A rare crispness that launders unusually well, easily, quickly. Fine in dresses—checks, plaids, solid colors. 36 inches wide. Priced...	Palm Prints 29c Yd. Attractive prints, many with a modernistic swing. In new designs for the child a little older. Fast colors, 36 inches wide.
Slip Satin 79c Yd. Pure rayon, 36-in. Excellent for bedspreads, drapes, cushions, as well as for slips. Colors suitable for either use.	36-In. Buty Chyne 59c Yd. Truly pleasing in underwear and slips. Soft yet firmly woven, with a fine satiny finish, that holds, through many tubbings, its color and its lustre. The price is only.....	Punjab Prints 29c Yd. Irresistible little prints—one a cute kitty's face in green—many nursery patterns. dots, checks, flowers. Every piece is color-fast.
Everfast Gingham 59c Yd. French finish, color absolutely guaranteed. Solid colors, checks in all sizes—tiny pin checks to large curtain type.	Rayola Tussah Silk 89c Yd. Nationally acclaimed for linings, slips, bloomers, because of its excellent wearing qualities. A fine firm 36-in. material. A material in great demand—and a bargain at.....	Plain Broadcloth 49c Yd. A fine quality, firmly made broadcloth, 36 inches wide, guaranteed in color, excellent for dresses, boys' suits and other purposes.
36-Inch Percales 19c Yd. Dresses for the little tots, aprons, house dresses—dainty patterns in dots, checks and small flower designs.	Sooperay Rayon Fine Slip Material 69c Yd. 36-in. Rayon. In darker colors such as rose and green for draperies, and the pastel shades for slips and bloomers. For both uses, Sooperay Rayon is excellent.....	English Prints 49c Yd. English Prints in fast colors. Beautifully finished. Juvenile and larger patterns. A very full line.
Rayon Crepes 98c Yd. Subtle and definite patterns, in light and dark shades, suitable for the gayer dress, as well as for the more sedate and serviceable type. 36-in. wide.	Boy Blue Play Cloth 19c Yd. Mothers particularly like this material, because of its stout wearing qualities, for blouses and little boys' suits. In light and dark stripes, in checks and in solid colors. Fine assortment.

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

J. M. HIGH CO.

46 Years of Faithful Service and Value-giving

THE ORIGINAL

Baltimore Rose

REPOUSSE' PATTERN

Sterling Silver

IN FANCY PLAIN BACK

his is one of the many beautiful designs in our large collection of Sterling Silver.

MAIER & BERKELE, Inc.

For forty-one years the leading jewellers of the South

111 Peachtree St. Established 1887

SUSPECT IS TAKEN IN INDIANA KILLING

Continued from First Page.

Bend police he admitted his identity. He first said he would fight extradition but when Chief Poole explained that it would only be a matter of course and that there would be no doubt of the granting of a requisition, Smith changed his stand and signed a waiver. Immediately he was photographed and the return trip to Indiana started.

The murder of Miss Stultz, one of the most gruesome and revolting in the criminal history of Indiana, was revealed a week ago Monday when a farmer living near Elkhart dug up from a bed of limestone the hatched body of the woman, who also had been known in South Bend as Mrs. Lee and was famed both for her own beauty and the work she had performed on other women.

Claims $50 Paid.
Charles L. Reyher, South Bend real estate man, his wife, Janie, and her brother, Jack Kimball, were arrested immediately after the discovery. It had been known that Reyher and Miss Stultz had been "running around" together and that Mrs. Reyher had made statements saying she was a mother to "get" Miss Stultz. It is said that she has informed the South Bend police that she paid Smith $50 to "get" Miss Stultz out of town.

Miss Stultz is last reported to have been seen about the middle of March riding through Elkhart in a car said to have been driven by Smith. Though not questioned closely about the case here, Smith told Detective Chief Poole that he "did not remember" riding in Elkhart with Miss Stultz. Smith took the attitude of a busy detective whose handling of the Stultz case was a minor matter, the details of which he had forgotten, Chief Poole said.

Smith said he had been here since last Friday, coming from Alabama. He declared that he left South Bend more than two weeks ago, at least a week previous to the finding of the body of Miss Stultz.

CAPTURE OF SMITH MAX SOLVE MYSTERY.

South Bend, Ind., October 22.—(AP) The arrest in Atlanta, Ga., today of Harvey Smith, erstwhile private detective, roving evangelist and carnival worker, authorities here said may bring a solution of the mysterious slaying of Miss Genevieve Stultz, whose bones were found in a shallow grave near Elkhart last Monday.

Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reyher, of South Bend, are charged with the murder of the woman. The Reyheres are being held without bond in the Elkhart county jail at Gosport, Ind. Smith was arrested shortly after the finding of the body, told police she had paid Smith $50 to "get" Miss Stultz out of town.

Smith had been employed by Mrs. Reyher, she said, to shadow her husband and Miss Stultz, whom she suspected of intimacy.

Glad Smith Is Caught.
"I'm glad Smith is caught," said Reyher, a real estate man. "Now the police will be able to solve the murder and clear me. I know Smith only by sight. He shadowed me for a while in South Bend on my wife's orders."

Mrs. Reyher, in another cell at the jail, declined to comment on Smith's arrest.

Although doubt was expressed by South Bend authorities that Smith was the actual slayer of Miss Stultz, they indicated he could tell who murdered the woman.

The body, covered with lime, was found by a hunter. An autopsy showed that the woman's skull had been crushed. There were two bullet holes in the chest.

Left in Automobile.
Miss Stultz left South Bend last March in an automobile, accompanied by a strange man. She never was seen alive again. It was thought at the time that she had eloped.

Smith was said by Atlanta police to have admitted he was paid $50 by

Murder Suspect Captured Here

HARVEY L. SMITH.

MISS GENEVIEVE STULTZ.

DETECTIVE JOHN LOWE.

Harvey L. Smith, who was arrested here Monday in connection with the slaying of Miss Genevieve Stultz, is on his way back to Indiana to stand trial. Miss Stultz's dismembered body was found in an alfalfa field near Elkhart, Ind. Atlanta Detective John Lowe took the suspect into custody in the postoffice building here.

Mrs. Reyher to get evidence against Miss Stultz, sometimes known as Mrs. Lee. The former detective was arrested this morning when he appeared at the postoffice and asked for John Sanders, an alias by which he was known. John R. Kuespert, chief of detectives of South Bend, had traced him from Alabama to Georgia.

Smith waived extradition and Kuespert and his prisoner stated at once for South Bend. They are expected to arrive here Wednesday morning.

FRENCH-BRITISH NAVAL PACT MADE PUBLIC

Continued from First Page.

aware that to the French mind compulsory military service seemed a guarantee of pacific policy, and a voluntary army appeared in the dangerous light of a praetorian guard.

The British foreign secretary then acquainted M. Briand with the modified proposals for naval limitation drafted by the British admiralty, and added that public opinion realized that concessions were necessary from all parties in order to arrive at a general settlement.

Agrees to Larger Guns.

"If we could point to a concession by the French in naval matters," he said, "it would probably acquiesce in my yielding a point on the military side. On the other hand, we could not abandon the British standpoint on the question of army reserves unless we could justify this concession by pointing to a similar concession made to us in the naval sphere."

M. Briand undertook to submit the matter thus suggested to his government. After an exchange of further talks and dispatches, the British Admiral Kelly early in June at Geneva received the French proposals suggesting classification of four classes, namely: capital ships, aircraft carriers, surface vessels of 10,000 tons, mounting bigger than six inch guns, and submarines. This was the first appearance of the proposals which eventually formed the basis of the Anglo-French agreement.

On July 28 the British ambassador in Paris communicated to Foreign Minister Briand a note which embodied the compromise which had been reached.

The notification of compromise was sent to Washington in a telegram addressed to Henry Chilton, British minister, who was in charge of the embassy there in the absence of Sir Esme Howard. Similar notes were also sent to the British representatives in Rome and Tokyo.

G. O. P. KEEPS UP OIL FRAUD POLICY

Continued from First Page.

that the hand of Albert Fall guided his successor to another five-year lease.

Knew of Deals.
"Work took office with full knowledge of the crooked leasing of the naval oil reserves by Fall and he should have known of the indefensible leasing of other oil lands. Because of the exposure Dr. Work was charged with notice of Fall's subversion to the oil leases. It is inexcusable that he should renew any lease made by Fall. The fact that Fall made any lease to an oil company was prima facie evidence of favoritism or corruption, or both. Any prudent senator would have refused to continue or sanction any Fall transaction until the courts had given their O.K. The excuse that the solicitor approved the extension of the lease is no defense. A lawyer in the navy gave approval to the Teapot Dome lease, and one temporary admiral was found to approve the scandal of leasing the petroleum oil reserves. This did not save Denby or Fall from condemnation by the people or the supreme court. It cannot save Work.

Hits at Roy West.
"The appointment of the man associated with Insull to buy the senators' election in Illinois for Smith's successor to Fall and Work, seems to show that oil grabbers and public service interests have a mortgage on the interior portfolio. Don't be hasty, never be confirmed. He will be defeated just as the United States senate refused to confirm Warren. But that does not lessen the condemnation the republican administration deserves."

"When Mr. Raskob was named democratic national chairman, there was much criticism because he had been a republican and had opposed national prohibition. Indeed some demagogues have given his selection to that post as the reason why they cannot support Smith. How can they give aid and comfort to Hoover, who named as national chairman Dr. Work, who carried out Fall's oil lease policies? You may criticize the Raskob appointment if you choose, but he has never been the executor of the Fall crooked policies, or taken any public property and given or sold it to private parties for their enrichment. If Raskob had done what Dr. Work has done, Washington officials would have demanded his head on a charger, and before now he would have been ejected from the position."

WEST ASKS ADVICE FROM SARGENT.

Washington, October 22.—(AP) Secretary West today asked Attorney General Sargent for advice as to whether the Cat Creek oil royalty purchasing contract held by the Lewistown Oil and Refining Company of Detroit should be cancelled, in view of the renewal under an option by Former Secretary Work last March.

The Cat Creek contract, which was negotiated by former Secretary Fall in 1922, was found in a search of the interior department's records following the attorney general's opinion last Tuesday that the Salt Creek contract held by the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company was invalid because it contained an option which was not advertised when bids were asked.

"Upon examination of the records of the interior department, after receipt of the opinion of the attorney general of the United States in the matter of the Sinclair contract for the sale of government royalty oil in Salt Creek, there was found a somewhat similar contract entered into in December, 1922, and renewed March 23, 1928, with the Lewistown Oil and Refining company, covering royalty oil in the Cat Creek field, Montana," Secretary West said.

"Secretary West submitted this contract to the attorney-general today for consideration and advice as to whether the Cat Creek contract comes within the purview of his opinion in the Salt Creek case rendered a few days ago," a statement said. "Upon receipt of the attorney-general's opinion such action affecting Cat Creek royalty will be taken as an opinion may indicate the law requires."

DELIVERY OF OIL IS STOPPED.

Denver, Wyo., October 22.—(AP) Delivery of oil from the Salt Creek field stopped at 7 a. m. today in compliance with an order issued by Secretary of the Interior, Clegg, after the oil royalty contract between the Sinclair company and the government had been held invalid by United States Attorney-General Sargent.

The federal geological survey in a formal announcement stated the government had elected to take its royalties from the postpaid midcontinent pipeline for oil with a two per cent deduction from the standard barrel, in accordance with the present field practice in Salt Creek.

The arrangement, geological survey officials said, would continue in effect 90 days after the contract is signed. Bids for royalty oil from the Salt Creek field probably will not be called for until after the first of the year, the time set by the interior secretary in a telegram to the survey here as the "most practicable."

UNCOVERS $10,000,000 IN BANKS IN GRAFT QUIZ

Philadelphia, October 22.—(AP) Fifteen bank accounts in which deposits aggregate more than ten million dollars have been uncovered by District Attorney Monaghan, who believes they were opened by bootleggers and other law violators.

In making this announcement tonight Mr. Monaghan, who is directing the grand jury investigation into rum running and police bribery, said that all the accounts had been in the Union Bank and Trust company and that all but one had been closed prior to 1928.

"We are endeavoring to learn," he said, "whether there is any police connection with any of these accounts which we believe were opened by bootleggers and other law violators. So far the bank officials have not been able to throw the slightest light on the identity of the individuals who held these accounts apparently under fictitious names. We have already called the president and vice president without success and will question other employees."

J. S. McCulloch, president of the bank, was questioned by the grand jury today for more than two hours. The accounts usually existed only for a few months. The only one not withdrawn before the first of this year was under the name of Charles Satterton. Deposits in this account totaled $37,098.35, all of which was withdrawn by January 25, 1928. Four of the accounts had deposits of more than $1,000,000 each.

SIX MINERS DIE IN COAL BLAST

Continued from First Page.

mately two miles from the drift mouth. The blast, according to Robert Lilly, state mine inspector, who led the rescue party, occurred when a miner removing slate fired ten sticks of dynamite without tamping the explosive. The miner, Lilly said, was B. Burkhold, who was working at the time in No. 4 room on 8 right entry way.

Approximately 60 miners were employed in the immediate vicinity of the explosion, company officials said, but only those close to the spot where the blast occurred were affected. One man was taken from the mines overcome by gas, but was expected to recover. Rescue crews said all the men in the mine had been accounted for.

The bodies of the six miners were found in the room where Burkhold allegedly had fired the dynamite. Three of the bodies, those of Burkhold, T. T. Durham and his son, Richard, were badly cut, burned and bruised, indicating they met instant death when the shot was fired, while the others, Laurino Reese, John Hirston and Alford Hirston, the latter two negroes, were believed to have been suffocated by smoke and gas following the explosion.

Itching Eczema

There is one safe dependable treatment for the itching torture of Eczema. The first application of Zemo usually stops itching and when used regularly will help rid the skin of Eczema, Pimples, Bores, Blisters and similar annoying skin irritations. You will be surprised how quickly skin troubles will react to this clean, antiseptic, soothing liquid. Easy to apply at any time. 35c, 60c and $1.00.

zemo
FOR SKIN IRRITATIONS

MISS FRANCES NEWMAN PASSES IN NEW YORK

Death Writes Final Chapter to Brief and Brilliant Career.

Miss Frances Newman, author of several popular novels and works in literary criticism, which, in the course of a few years, brought the native Atlantic into the forefront of contemporary American writers, died Monday morning in New York, at the Hotel Schuyler.

Miss Newman had been ill since her return from Europe last summer. She was the body of Miss Newman, who was seeking aid of medical specialists and also continue her latest literary opus, which is scheduled to appear in the near future.

The first attack came last Friday, when the strain resulted in a brain hemorrhage, and she was found unconscious in her room in the New York hotel. Later, complications set in and Monday she succumbed to an attack of pneumonia.

Relatives at Bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Newman, of Atlanta, and Mrs. John Patterson, of Richmond, were with the Atlanta author when she died.

The Newman family will leave New York with the body of Miss Newman at 9 o'clock this morning, according to a telegram received here Monday night. The party will arrive in Atlanta at 9:45 o'clock Wednesday morning. The funeral will be private, with interment in West View.

Born in Atlanta, a daughter of the late Judge William Tresslow Newman and Mrs. Frances Percy Alexander Newman, Miss Newman attended school here at Washington seminary and Agnes Scott college, and in New York at Mrs. Semple's school. She was about 45 years old. Her life was spent largely among books and in travel and even before devoting her time exclusively to writing. She was highly thought of in local literary circles.

Meteorite Rise.
Since appearing, three years ago, of her short story, "Rachel and Her Children," an O. Henry short story prize winner, Miss Newman's rise to distinction in literature was meteoric, death writing the final chapter to a career that promised to be one of the most interesting of young American writers. Her prize short story appeared while she was librarian at the Georgia School of Technology. Previous to that she had served as librarian in the Florida State College for Women and as a member of the staff at the Atlanta Carnegie library, where she was graduated from the library school.

In the same year when "Rachel and Her Children" came Miss Newman's book, "The Short Story's Mutations," which became her most widely discussed work on literary criticism, containing an original theory of the development of the short story and displaying unusual erudition on the part of the young author.

This was followed two years later by "The Hard-Boiled Virgin," a novel which revealed most clearly the regularity that the Atlanta woman was to attain. A second novel, "Dead Lovers Are Faithful Lovers," was published last spring. Miss Newman already was at work upon her translation of LaForgue when her second novel was issued from the press.

Suffered Eye Trouble.
Although her eyes suffered from the strain her literary labors exacted, she refused to delay the translations, which were being prepared for publication by Horace Liveright this fall. In completing the work, it was necessary for Miss Newman to dictate her sentences to an amanuensis.

While the unexpected passing of the author at the height of her literary career is a cause of deep grief among her personal friends and wide audience of admirers, one of the most pathetic scenes in the history of a life-long relationship between the author and Susan Long, aged negro mammy, now living at 94 East Eleventh street, Atlanta, home of Miss Newman, Mammy was present at the birth of Miss Newman, having been a trusted servant in Judge Newman's family for years. She reared the child and was perhaps her greatest admirer before and after Miss Newman became famous.

Mammy also served to rear Louis Rucker, nephew of Miss Newman, whom the latter adopted when Mr. Rucker was a small child. The aged mammy's attachment to Miss Newman has been a singular event in the life of the author.

Miss Newman is survived by a brother, Henry A. Newman, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. John Patterson, of Richmond.

80 COUPLES CHEER WINNER OF PRIZES
Continued from First Page.

basket and when luncheon was served she turned the basket over to the waiter with instructions to put the luncheon in it. The waiter did and Monday night when it was all over, Pa and Mother Barnes sat in their little home at 228 East Point avenue and Pa ate his luncheon and listened to Mother tell all about it.

Mr. Whyatt Comes Through.
And, too, among those most present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whyatt. Mr. Whyatt's legs aren't as good as they used to be and when the party left the theater his good wife bade him bend his way home. He had done enough for one day. But Mr. Whyatt insisted that it was not so; he was having far too good a time to go home. Regardless of this assertion Mrs. Whyatt left him flat and went on to the luncheon by herself. The luncheon was about half over when Mr. Whyatt reached the hotel, but he got there and he got his luncheon. He went home with 1,001 laughs—1,000 out of the party and an extra laugh on Mrs. Whyatt.

To Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bailey, 1154 Gracewood avenue, went first prize. They have been married 64 years and 11 months. Next month it will be 65. They had their choice of a beautiful Brunswick 1929 model phonograph from the Brunswick-Balke-Clendenen company, a complete radio set ready for operation, given by the Phillips & Crew Piano company, a wing mohair easy chair, given by the Serech Furniture company, and a season pass for two to the Howard theater. Now Mr. and Mrs. Bailey never dreamed of owning such a great radio 64 years and 11 months ago when they looked at each other and smiled the "I do" which has cemented their lives through all the years, so that as they inspected the prizes and they came to the radio two pairs of eyes sparked like school children, and the ready-for-operation set had a new pair of owners.

Selects Easy Chair.
Next came Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owen, 11 Woodlawn avenue, married these 63 years, high on 64. Mr. Owen, resident in the decorations of a hero of the Confederacy, led his feeble wife to the front of the dining hall and 80 hands clapped a greeting. Mrs. Owen walked with effort. Her body sagged at every step. Once at the front of the room she sank into the mohair chair and second prize was gone.

The phonograph went to Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Moss, of Campbellton road, who have been married 62 years and eight months, and who have been reading The Constitution since the editorship of the immortal Henry Grady.

The fourth and last prize, the year's pass to the Howard, went to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Everett, who became man and wife just two months after the Mosses heard the strains of the wedding march ringing in their ears. The Everetts were able to get down to receive their prize.

And no story of those people whose joys started so long ago would be complete unless it included "among those present," so here they are:

Party Participants.
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Harris, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burns, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Babb, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whyatt, Mrs. L. P. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jonas, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hamilton, Mrs. F. W. Hinkle, Mrs. James Wilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Richmond E. Nalley, Mrs. W. T. Ogletree, Mrs. M. L. Vincent, Mrs. D. W. Coffield, Mrs. O. E. Downing, Mrs. F. H. Springer, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Darden, Mr. and Mrs. B. Dye, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harbour, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owen and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Desvors.

The Grady management was assisted in entertaining at the luncheon by members of the staff of The Constitution, Mrs. Joseph N. Moody, and a number of young ladies who volunteered their services to aid in the comfort of the guests. The luncheon blessing was given by Rev. J. H. Hamilton.

It was early when the party broke up but in the days when parties were in order for the guests of Monday they always broke up early. So it was just another harkening back to when John was a dandy and Mary was his belle.

CHAS. A. TOWNE, FORMER SENATOR, DIES IN ARIZONA

Tucson, Ariz., October 22.—(AP) Former Senator Charles A. Towne, of New York, prominent democrat who had been stumping Arizona for the Smith-Roosevelt ticket, was rushed here today seriously ill, and died in a local hospital. Former Senator Towne was taken ill with a cold in North Dakota while touring that state. His condition suddenly grew worse today. He died of pneumonia a few hours after being brought to Tucson.

ing was asked by E. R. Hamilton, 81 years old, commander of Campy Station, wall Jackson during the civil war, one of the fighting of Fightin' Joe Wheeler's cavalrymen. The fight is gone now and all Mr. Hamilton has remaining is peace and good will and God's grace for his fellowmen.

It was early when the party broke up but in the days when parties were in order for the guests of Monday they always broke up early. So it was just another harkening back to when John was a dandy and Mary was his belle.

Catarrh is Most Common Cause of Colds and Flu

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious disease. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents, restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as colds, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested for the relief of catarrh, none has given such uniformly successful results to the physician or attained such popular favor as the prescription of Dr. Runyon, known to your druggist as Runyon's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, "White Wonder" gives quick and most delightful relief. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, White Wonder is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with nasal catarrh. Ask your druggist for WHITE WONDER today or mail thirty-five cents for a family jar, postpaid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 51 Greil Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. Our Slogan—"Perfect satisfaction or your money back."—(adv.)

MRS. BETTY JONES ASKS POLICE AID IN HUNT FOR SON

Mrs. Betty Jones, 348 1/2 Capitol avenue, has asked the police to assist in locating her 15-year-old son, Arlin O. Jones, who disappeared from his home on October 14. Mrs. Jones said she believed the youth ran away with another boy about his own age, but of this she is not certain. She describes her son as being about 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing about 135 pounds. He has brown hair and blue eyes. Previous to his disappearance he had worked for a telegraph company as messenger, but recently relinquished his job to return to school.

CHAS. A. TOWNE, FORMER SENATOR, DIES IN ARIZONA

Tucson, Ariz., October 22.—(AP) Former Senator Charles A. Towne, of New York, prominent democrat who had been stumping Arizona for the Smith-Roosevelt ticket, was rushed here today seriously ill, and died in a local hospital. Former Senator Towne was taken ill with a cold in North Dakota while touring that state. His condition suddenly grew worse today. He died of pneumonia a few hours after being brought to Tucson.

ing was asked by E. R. Hamilton, 81 years old, commander of Campy Station, wall Jackson during the civil war, one of the fighting of Fightin' Joe Wheeler's cavalrymen. The fight is gone now and all Mr. Hamilton has remaining is peace and good will and God's grace for his fellowmen.

It was early when the party broke up but in the days when parties were in order for the guests of Monday they always broke up early. So it was just another harkening back to when John was a dandy and Mary was his belle.

Catarrh is Most Common Cause of Colds and Flu

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious disease. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents, restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as colds, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested for the relief of catarrh, none has given such uniformly successful results to the physician or attained such popular favor as the prescription of Dr. Runyon, known to your druggist as Runyon's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, "White Wonder" gives quick and most delightful relief. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, White Wonder is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with nasal catarrh. Ask your druggist for WHITE WONDER today or mail thirty-five cents for a family jar, postpaid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 51 Greil Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. Our Slogan—"Perfect satisfaction or your money back."—(adv.)

How to Avoid Gall Stones

A noted doctor has just released to the public his wonderful private prescription for the prevention and treatment of gall bladder troubles. This prescription is now known as Bi-a-lin, and it stops the formation of gall stones before they start.

Bi-a-lin acts immediately to rouse the lazy liver, stimulates free flow of bile, cleans the gall bladder of sour, thick bile and poisons, purifies the intestinal tract and promotes regular, thorough elimination.

—Bi-a-lin will relieve the choked bile ducts and make you feel like a new person in no time! Contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Safe, guaranteed to satisfy you, or no money back. TRY this almost miraculous treatment. Get Bi-a-lin TODAY at any good drug store, Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., E. H. Cone.—(adv.)

Chronic Diseases

Of men and women successfully treated by the most modern and scientific methods by a Specialist of years of clinical experience.

Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder ailments, catarrhal diseases, and contracted ailments are successfully treated by my modern system which is universally endorsed and experienced.

I am permanently located—Reputation firmly established. Practice conducted along the most modern and scientific lines. No charge for consultation or professional advice. Call and investigate my time-tested and proven methods.

Hours: 10 to 6—Sundays, 11 to 1. Also Wednesday and Friday Nights 7 to 8 o'clock

184 N. Broad St. Atlanta, Ga. Dr. T. W. Hughes, Specialist

How to Avoid Gall Stones

A noted doctor has just released to the public his wonderful private prescription for the prevention and treatment of gall bladder troubles. This prescription is now known as Bi-a-lin, and it stops the formation of gall stones before they start.

Bi-a-lin acts immediately to rouse the lazy liver, stimulates free flow of bile, cleans the gall bladder of sour, thick bile and poisons, purifies the intestinal tract and promotes regular, thorough elimination.

—Bi-a-lin will relieve the choked bile ducts and make you feel like a new person in no time! Contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Safe, guaranteed to satisfy you, or no money back. TRY this almost miraculous treatment. Get Bi-a-lin TODAY at any good drug store, Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., E. H. Cone.—(adv.)

Chronic Diseases

Of men and women successfully treated by the most modern and scientific methods by a Specialist of years of clinical experience.

Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder ailments, catarrhal diseases, and contracted ailments are successfully treated by my modern system which is universally endorsed and experienced.

I am permanently located—Reputation firmly established. Practice conducted along the most modern and scientific lines. No charge for consultation or professional advice. Call and investigate my time-tested and proven methods.

Hours: 10 to 6—Sundays, 11 to 1. Also Wednesday and Friday Nights 7 to 8 o'clock

184 N. Broad St. Atlanta, Ga. Dr. T. W. Hughes, Specialist

How to Avoid Gall Stones

A noted doctor has just released to the public his wonderful private prescription for the prevention and treatment of gall bladder troubles. This prescription is now known as Bi-a-lin, and it stops the formation of gall stones before they start.

Bi-a-lin acts immediately to rouse the lazy liver, stimulates free flow of bile, cleans the gall bladder of sour, thick bile and poisons, purifies the intestinal tract and promotes regular, thorough elimination.

—Bi-a-lin will relieve the choked bile ducts and make you feel like a new person in no time! Contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Safe, guaranteed to satisfy you, or no money back. TRY this almost miraculous treatment. Get Bi-a-lin TODAY at any good drug store, Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., E. H. Cone.—(adv.)

Chronic Diseases

Of men and women successfully treated by the most modern and scientific methods by a Specialist of years of clinical experience.

Stomach, Liver, Kidney

Here Is Information About

The Movietest

A GAME OF SKILL FOR everybody.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S $8,000.00 CONTEST

The judges are at work. Every set of answers is being carefully checked. Neither neatness nor incorrect spelling will count.

Obviously this is too early an hour to expect any information from the judges. The only word thus far that has been received from the judges is to the effect that most of the answers inspected thus far would indicate that only a very few contestants have as many as 28 correct answers. Up to this time a perfect set of answers has not been found.

Contestants whose subscriptions have been declined will be given until midnight, November 7, 1928, to substitute other subscriptions for the approval of The Atlanta Constitution. During the interval from October 22 to midnight, November 7, every qualified contestant will be permitted to take advantage of Rule 10 of the Official Rules.

Persons who failed to have their answers with subscription requirement in the office of The Atlanta Constitution or in the mail postmarked before midnight, October 22, ARE NOT ELIGIBLE TO WIN ANY PRIZE.

Only duly qualified contestants (persons whose subscriptions and answers were received postmarked before midnight, October 22) will have the privilege of replacing unsatisfactory subscriptions. In fairness to contestants whose subscriptions are satisfactory, such contestants will be privileged to add additional sets of answers to the sets previously sent in, provided each additional set is accompanied by one additional new six-months subscription.

In checking answers the judges hold that IF IN ANY SET OF ANSWERS SENT IN BY A CONTESTANT THAT CONTESTANT HAS CORRECTLY NAMED THE VARIOUS CARTOONS ACCORDING TO THEIR RESPECTIVE NUMBERS THEN THAT CONTESTANT SHALL BE ADJUDGED AS HAVING GIVEN A PERFECT ANSWER FOR THAT CARTOON AND THAT THE INCORRECT ANSWERS TO THAT CARTOON ON OTHER LISTS SHALL NOT BE COUNTED AGAINST THE CONTESTANT.

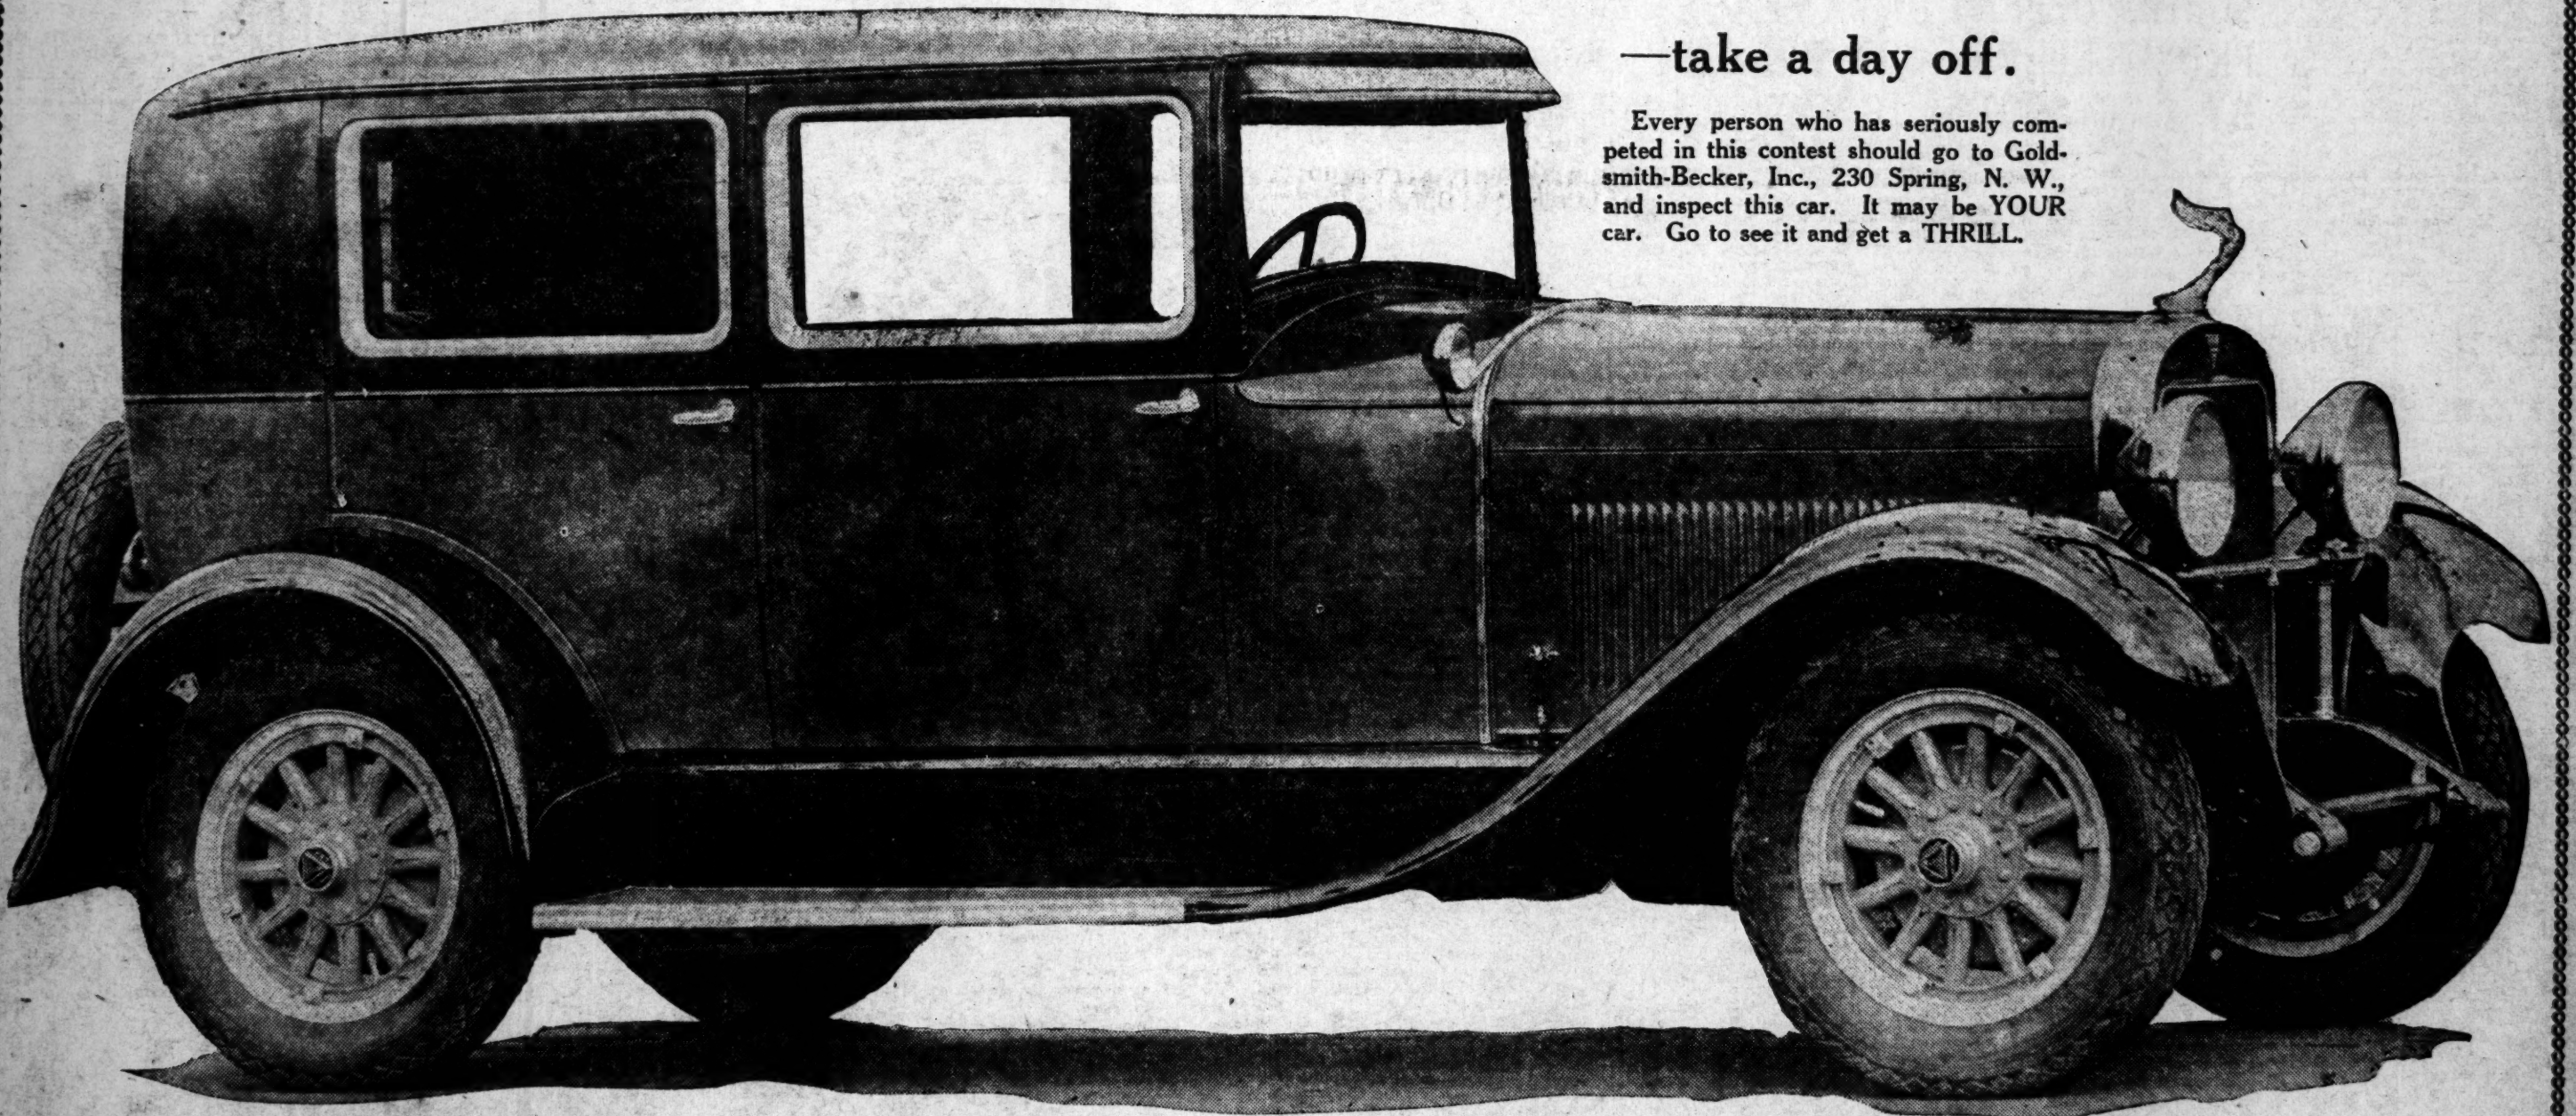

Contestants intending to replace subscriptions that have been or are being declined are advised to make substitution on or before midnight, November 7, 1928, as positively no substitution will be considered after that date.

---and in the meanwhile:

THIS $1,557 HUDSON SUPER-SIX SEDAN IS WAITING TO MOVE INTO A NEW HOME

—take a day off.

Every person who has seriously competed in this contest should go to Goldsmith-Becker, Inc., 230 Spring, N. W., and inspect this car. It may be YOUR car. Go to see it and get a THRILL.

Look at that Hudson Super-Six pictured above. But don't be content with merely looking at it in a photograph. Go to Goldsmith-Becker, Inc., 230 Spring, N. W., and see this very automobile on the display floor. No attempt will be made to SELL you anything. Goldsmith-Becker aren't worrying about sales. The fact of the matter is that the demand for Hudson cars is greater now than at any time in the last ten years. And the reason for this demand is the automobile-buying public's appreciation of the maximum value in an automobile.

And while you are revelling in the delights of this Hudson car, don't forget that there are two Essex cars that are waiting for winners.

These Essex cars, while costing only $978 and $919 as compared with the $1,557 Hudson, LOOK like costly cars, and ACT like costly cars, BECAUSE THEY ARE BUILT LIKE COSTLY CARS.

The only Essex point in common with cars in its price field—is price. There is little in either appearance or performance to distinguish it from many a costlier car.

In size it possesses the advantage of compactness without sacrifice of passenger quarters or riding comfort. It steers as easily as any car you have ever driven. There is a quickness and nimbleness in its motor action that will make some costlier cars you have driven seem slow and sluggish. AND THESE QUALITIES ARE LASTING.

With whatever costly car you compare Essex you will be impressed by its high standard in design, material and workmanship. The eye is delighted by the general appearance, the touch by those qualities that reveal first-rate materials, and the sense of enjoyment by the smooth, effortless operation of the car. It is admittedly one of the easiest riding cars on the road—it is without doubt the most economical to own in the first cost, upkeep and operation.

Many exclusive and patented features contribute to these Essex advantages — among them being its high-compression Super-Six motor, which many people believe is the most powerful and efficient automobile motor of its size in the world.

The Movietest Editor isn't an automobile salesman. He's merely giving you the REAL FACTS. If you can really and truly appreciate a wonderful automobile, go to Goldsmith-Becker, 230 Spring, N. W., the Hudson and Essex Distributors, and take a good look at the three Movietest Cars selected by The Atlanta Constitution.

For Information About This Contest Read

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Tech-N.C.U. Game Holds Conference Spotlight This Week

Leaders Must Watch Step On Saturday

Four Leading Teams Face Tough Foes; Georgia Plays Tulane in Big Game.

SCHEDULE

Georgia Tech vs. North Carolina, at Chapel Hill.
Georgia Tech vs. Georgia, at Atlanta.
Vanderbilt vs. Virginia, at Nashville.
Tennessee vs. Washington and Lee, at Knoxville.
Alabama vs. Sewanee, at Tuscaloosa.
Kentucky vs. Centre, at Lexington.
V. M. I. vs. Maryland, at Richmond.
Florida vs. King, at Blackburg.
Florida vs. North Carolina State, at Tampa.
South Carolina vs. Clemson, at Columbia.
Auburn vs. Howard, at Auburn.
I. S. U. vs. Spring Hill, at Baton Rouge.
Mississippi vs. Loyola, at New Orleans.

By The Associated Press.
Eleven Southern conference football teams rolled into mid-season training work with spotless records in the Dixie championship race. Most of them, however, stand a chance, slight as it may be, of meeting reverse by next Saturday night.

The four leaders, Georgia Tech, South Carolina, Clemson and Tennessee—each boasting two conference victories and no defeats—all have worthy opponents. The Golden Tornado will try for its third conference victory in a game against North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Tarheels Seek Revenge.
The great intersectional triumph over Notre Dame last week-end should inspire the Tarheels while the Tarheels will be trying a right-about-face following their loss to Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

South Carolina and Clemson will settle their annual wrangle at Columbia Thursday at the state fair. A great offense here is pitted against a sturdy defense. The Gamecocks have shown versatile scoring ability, while the Tigers have held all opponents so far scoreless.

Georgia, playing its first conference game, will be at home to Tulane. Undeclared Vanderbilt meets Virginia at Nashville. Tennessee tangles with Washington and Lee at Knoxville, and Sewanee opens its conference season against a dazed Alabama team at Birmingham.

Florida's great backfield, boasting such stars as Brumbaugh, Crabtree, Owen and Boyer, will have a shot at North Carolina State down in peninsula territory.

Virginia Military Institute, buoyed by a victory over Virginia, meets Maryland at Richmond in another all-conference engagement.

Auburn plays Howard, of the S. I.

Six Undeclared Teams Meet This Week-End

Many Big Games Booked All Over Country During Week—Army and Yale Play Saturday.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

The intersectional angle that has been so conspicuous so far in college football fades into the background this week. The spotlight turns on at least a dozen games of outstanding importance to conference or sectional championship aspirations in the east, south and middle west.

Three of these conspicuous contests bring together six undefeated teams, among the nation's best gridiron products so far, and the atmosphere may be distinctly clearer as a result.

The east's big spectacle will see West Point's cadets charging upon Yale before some 75,000 in the bowl at New Haven. Minnesota, Clegmont invades Iowa's stronghold for the all-important "Big Ten" clash of the day. Those ancient Missouri valley rivals, Missouri and Nebraska, furnish a third vital attraction at Lincoln, with the leadership of the new "Big Six" at stake.

A few others should be mentioned. Two of the three unbeaten Rocky Mountain conference eleven, Utah and University of Colorado, will fight it out to see which will stay with Colorado College at the top.

In the south, where the main conference race is getting hotter every week, two of the pace-setters, Clemson and South Carolina, renew an ancient feud on Thursday, in advance of such other important battles on Saturday as Georgia Tech-North Carolina, Vanderbilt-Virginia, Georgia-Tulane and Tennessee-Washington and Lee.

There will be no more color anywhere than in the clash between Cadet and Bulldog in the Yale bowl. The fight between these two contenders for eastern honors also involves the rivalry of two of the outstanding backs of that section—Johnny Garvey, of Old Eli, and Red Eagle, of West Point, and Old Louisiana. Army aims to do something no college but Princeton has done in recent years—beat Harvard and Yale in succession.

The rest of the eastern program is somewhat overshadowed by the Yale-Army affair. It will be featured, nevertheless, by the first severe test for New York university's high-scoring machine, against Colgate; Carnegie's attempt to down Pittsburgh and keep in the top flight; Dartmouth's effort to maintain a winner streak against Harvard; Pennsylvania's attack upon

A. A. in the Plainsmen's field. Louisiana State is host to Spring Hill, another S. I. A. team; Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and Kentucky plays Centre, ancient rivals of the Wildcats.

University of Mississippi goes to New Orleans to battle Loyola, the team of Bucky Moore and other scoring aces.

Tennessee's Green Eleven New Menace

Volunteers Prove They Must Be Counted in Race After Beating Tide.

BY HORACE C. RENEGAR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 22.—(AP) These Volunteers of Tennessee, ranking high on the Dixie gridiron for several years, but counted "out" in pre-season discussions this season, have given the wisecracks something to think about.

With mid-season games almost in sight the Vols of Bob Neyland are among the first four teams of the conference, tied with Georgia Tech, Clemson and South Carolina for first place at two victories each.

Sophomore Teams.
And it's a sophomore team that is turning the trick. McEver, Hackman, Dodd—those sophomore backs—literally ruined Alabama's high hopes Saturday. It was McEver who ran 98 yards for a touchdown against the Tide from the first kickoff.

McEver can pass and take passes. Hackman can do anything necessary. Dodd is an able passer and punter.

Harmer, reserve of last year, and Witt, regular, give the touch of old campaigning to the secondary.

Up front the Vols seem to have everything necessary. Howard Tripp, a guard, is one of the best in the conference, bidding fair to make the all-southern guard position left vacant by the graduation of Barnhill, a former teammate. Tripp's playing all season has been a revelation.

Johnson Is Star.
At the other guard F. Johnson is a hard blocker. Finney, a sophomore, center, stood out against Alabama, causing the Tide centers to make several bad passes, one costing them a safety.

Thayer and J. Johnston, at tackles, are heavy and fast. The former is a roving type of player and can be expected to bob up anywhere to intercept a pass or break into a play.

Alley and Hug, the ends, are at least average, although probably not yet as effective as the former and McKeen were in 1927.

In short, Tennessee cannot be counted out by a long shot. Coach Neyland, formerly of West Point, has made a remarkable showing in bringing along a green team so fast.

Bulldog Team Being Drilled For Greenies

Strenuous Week in Store for Georgia Tech; Tulane Is Strong.

BY BOB EHERRD.
Athens, Ga., October 22.—The Georgia Bulldogs today began preparations for a strenuous week of football which terminates Saturday in the annual homecoming game, when the Green Wave from Tulane university comes to Athens.

Every man who had a part in the subduing of Notre Dame Saturday afternoon was in uniform Monday, which just goes to prove that the Techsters were in first-class shape for their fray of last week-end. Barring accidents in the scrimmages which will hold the Jackets' attention for the next few days, Alex will be able to send the same team which took the field against the Irishman out to battle the North Carolina Tarheels at Chapel Hill this Saturday.

The Engineers, though in good physical condition now, are probably due for a letdown in their next encounter, and may well remember their experience with the Tarheels last fall when, after taking the measure of "Bama's Crimson Tide," they met the Cardinals, and were handed a big scare which was due mainly to a combination of letdown and overconfidence, and barely managed to eke out a win. They face the same outfit and the same problem this week, and the master minds have plenty to combat to keep their squad in front.

Firpo Martin's Grey Devils spent Monday in preparing for the taking up of their work on the shaping of the varsity. The North Carolina plays were the subjects under consideration, and kept the Devils busy. They will do the same thing for the entire squad as soon as they are gotten well in hand by Firpo's team.

Western Heights Beats Methodist Five, 53-8

Western Heights Baptists defeated the English Avenue Methodists, 53 to 8, in a game of basketball on the Methodist court Monday night.

Strain was high point man with seven goals for 14 points and Clark, also of the Baptists, was second with 12 points. O'Connor and Croker, were the defensive stars.

Tech Resumes Work; No Injuries Show

Every Man Who Saw Action Against Irish Is Out for Monday Practice.

BY HERB CLARK.
The Yellow Jackets, elated by their conquest of Knute Rockne's Irish, but withal of a serious mind, yesterday afternoon at the Flats.

Coach Alex tossed out three balls at the start of the festivities, and threw three teams around them for a long, fast period of signal drill, and kept his charges at this sport until he sent them to the showers at what was an early hour compared to the quitting time of the past week.

Every man who had a part in the subduing of Notre Dame Saturday afternoon was in uniform Monday, which just goes to prove that the Techsters were in first-class shape for their fray of last week-end. Barring accidents in the scrimmages which will hold the Jackets' attention for the next few days, Alex will be able to send the same team which took the field against the Irishman out to battle the North Carolina Tarheels at Chapel Hill this Saturday.

The Engineers, though in good physical condition now, are probably due for a letdown in their next encounter, and may well remember their experience with the Tarheels last fall when, after taking the measure of "Bama's Crimson Tide," they met the Cardinals, and were handed a big scare which was due mainly to a combination of letdown and overconfidence, and barely managed to eke out a win. They face the same outfit and the same problem this week, and the master minds have plenty to combat to keep their squad in front.

Firpo Martin's Grey Devils spent Monday in preparing for the taking up of their work on the shaping of the varsity. The North Carolina plays were the subjects under consideration, and kept the Devils busy. They will do the same thing for the entire squad as soon as they are gotten well in hand by Firpo's team.

Tarheels Get Ready to Turn Back Jackets

Weakness of North Carolina Eleven Is Stressed by Coaches in Practice.

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 22.—(Special).—University of North Carolina gridiron mentors will stress the weakness of the Tarheel eleven in practice this week as they prepare for the meeting with Georgia Tech in Kenan Memorial stadium here Saturday afternoon.

The Tarheels made a ragged showing against V. P. I.'s "Pony Express" last Saturday, with poor tackling and blocking paving the way for most of the Gobbler gains. Today's workout found all attention concentrated on those fundamentals.

A rough drill in tackling opened the campaign for the Tarheels, and Coach Collins, Cerney and Fetzler plan to send a crew of savage tacklers against the Golden Tornado. A line scrimmage this afternoon, with no backs on the defensive eleven, brought a better showing by the defensive forwards.

Except for Shine Howard, 200-pound regular tackle, the Tarheels began the week in fair shape. Howard received a blow on the head in the V. P. I. game that still keeps him on the infirmary list. Odell Sapp, star end, was excused from practice today, nursing a charley-horse that hung over from the Harvard contest.

Sixty Years
Serving Atlantans

Convenient—this thing of having two pair of pants to a suit—you always have a freshly pressed "spare" to fall back on in an emergency—then too it cuts the total of the pressing bill.

This year we are offering finer suits with extra trousers at about the same price you have been accustomed to paying for a one pants suit.

The high quality of the tailoring, the fine styles and proportions, the exclusive materials have not been sacrificed to give you this extra value.

SUITS and O'COATS
$35--$38--$45--$50

Distinction in Dress

The man who selects hats, shirts, ties, handkerchiefs, socks, shoes, etc., at the same time he picks his suit is doubly satisfied for he not only saves time by doing so but has the satisfaction of knowing they all "go" better with the suit.

Our Furnishing and Hat Department Heads study style and color—They'll be glad to help you.

Eisenman's

56-58 PEACHTREE—THRU TO BROAD

MAJ. SEGRAVE TO USE RIFLE SIGHTS ON CAR

London, October 22.—(AP)—When Major H. O. D. Segrave goes hurtling over the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., in the near future, at a speed of well over 200 miles per hour, he will steer his car by rifle sights. This is one of the features of his new car in which he hopes to attain a speed of 240 miles per hour, perhaps more.

Steering at so enormous a speed is of great difficulty. The slightest error when the car is going at four miles a minute would plunge it into the sea and mean disaster.

Major Segrave will try to obviate this difficulty by steering the car with sights just like a rifle, and direct it just as a bullet is directed to its target.

The apparatus on the car consists of telescopic sights. These will be trained on a bull's eye target hanging from the goalposts, 20 feet apart. There will be another pair of goal posts, similarly equipped, one mile away.

Major Segrave will train his sights on the first of these targets when he is a distance of 4 1/2 miles away, and then start. As he hurtles under the first target suspended over the start of the timed distance he will pick up the second target and steer directly for it.

"It is quite impossible to steer accurately by ordinary objects," Major Segrave said in a Daily Mail interview. "The flags marking the course are merely one blurred line. The timing posts are too far away to be visible at the start and when you get near to them they simply jump at you. This new method of steering should be of enormous assistance to me in my attempt."

Between each pair of posts will be an electrical timing strip, lying flat on the sand. The ordinary stopwatch being much too inaccurate for such speeds, a special electrical timing device must be used.

Yost and Wieman Deny Any Break

Ann Arbor, Mich., October 22.—(AP) Relations between Fielding H. Yost and E. E. Wieman, athletic director and football coach, respectively, at the University of Michigan, have been too long and too intimate to be jeopardized by any "minor misunderstanding," the two men declared in a joint statement issued here tonight.

Although the "minor misunderstanding" was not explained, the reference was generally interpreted as involving the matter of authority in handling the football team, and consequently responsibility for its poor showing this year.

Yost and Wieman have been associated since 1915, when Wieman came from California to Michigan as a student and began his football career under the veteran coach.

"For the handling of the football squad up to October 5, Mr. Yost assumes full responsibility. Since the above date Mr. Wieman has been in charge as head coach," said the statement.

CUSTOMIZED

Hickey-Freeman

Llamando

No Dye except in Blue & Black
100% Pure Llama

Topcoats

A rare fabric woven 100 percent pure, from the coat of the South America Llama.... Smart styles created by the most brilliant of designers.... Soft, flexible tailoring performed by master tailors—that's Llamando, a topcoat customized* by Hickey-Freeman.

MUSE'S

The Style Center of the South
PEACHTREE-WALTON-BROAD

*Registered Trademark

SPORTS

Jack Dempsey To Quit Stage On Saturday

Famous Fighter Going Back to Coast and Play Again in Pictures.

Boston, October 22.—(Special.)—Tiger Jack Dempsey will knock out Batting Baker for the last time, in Hartford, next Saturday night. In other words, Jack Dempsey is retiring from the stage.

The reason is not, as has been reported, that "the big fight" didn't draw, but that it did not in sufficient quantity to take care of the tremendous overhead involved. With the troupe and extras, there were enough actors involved to fill the stage at a musical comedy.

The play was not closed by the management. In accordance with a personal agreement, made at the time the contracts were signed, Jack Dempsey was released at his own request. Stage life never did appeal much to Jack, especially as it developed that he was not a real part in the play for Mrs. Dempsey, who played, until trouble interfered, under her stage name of Estelle Taylor.

She has been in the care of doctors and nurses at the Savoy-Plaza in New York and all last week Jack commuted from Boston which was a bit wearing. Another reason why Dempsey wishes to quit the stage is that he has received and accepted a most attractive motion picture offer. The fact is that he can go back to California, and live comfortably in his home, instead of at a different hotel each week.

Georgia To Meet Clemson Racers

Athens, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia cross country team will engage in its first meet of the season, Wednesday afternoon when the Athens Harriers race Clemson's runners over the local course. Tryouts for places on the Red and Black team were held this afternoon. Georgia has had only mediocre cross country teams since 1925 when they won the conference championship, led by Bill Tate, one of the south's premier distance runners of all time. In Bob Young, however, newly-elected captain of the Georgians, the local runners have another great distance man. At the university varsity letters are awarded to the minor sports teams when they win the conference championship.

Those selected for the Georgia-Clemson race were: Bob Young, Sam Talmadge, Addison Simpson, Boyd Fortson, Nathan Bennett and Benson Conner in the order named. Young's time over the course was 16 minutes, 1 second.

Petrel Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets for the Oglethorpe-Maryville football game to be played Saturday at Spiller's park, will go on sale today at Marshall-Reynolds, Peachtree and Broad streets, according to Frank Anderson, athletic director at Oglethorpe.

All reserved seats will be sold at $2 and unsold seats in the east stands will be priced at $1.

FOOTBALL SPECIAL TECH vs. NO. CAROLINA

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., OCT. 27TH

$14.97 Round Trip to Raleigh, N. C.

TICKETS ON SALE OCT. 25-26

VIA SEABOARD

Ticket Office 34 Walton St. Walnut 5018

FAMOUS GOLF SHOTS OF 1928

These graphic stories of thrilling, decisive strokes in leading golf battles of 1928 appear in the sport pages of this paper each Friday. They are written by Alan J. Gould, Brian Bell, Basil Warwick, Frank H. King and others who covered the tournaments here and abroad.

THE CONSTITUTION

Football Menaces

Alabama, With One Defeat, Will Be More Dangerous Than Ever. And Watch Florida

BY BEN COTHMAN

Some old fellow, wise beyond his years, once remarked that the best way to take football was as it came. He was correct. Strange things happen on these Saturday afternoons in the fall of the year.

Coach Wallace Wade, who releases each year the Crimson Flood at Tusculoo, feared Ole Miss and the Aggies every day for a month before playing them. He especially feared Ole Miss and his team proceeded to "kick" the lads from Oxford by a score of 27-0. Then the next Saturday Ole Miss went to Knoxville and held that sophomore gang of fundamentalists at the University of Tennessee to a 13-12 victory.

Alabama, rumbled along and defeated the Mississippi Aggies. The last Saturday at Tusculoo, the sophomores from Tennessee descended on the Tide and pushed it back into the Warrior river by a 15-0 score in as wild and woolly affair as ever we read about. Which proves nothing except that football is a funny thing, and you can never tell exactly how it's going to come out.

So far that reason we believe Alabama is still dangerous. Having lost a conference game all it has to worry about now is bumping these lads with bright and shining records free of defeats. And our supposition is that Wade's team will do that at least a couple of times before this season's country living through an entire week just in anticipation of a Saturday afternoon to be spent in sitting upon a cold slab of concrete.

We also believe that Coach Wade with his beefy line and his Brasfield, Brown and Holm, in the backfield will present a rather difficult hurdle for Tech to jump on the afternoon of Saturday, November 17. Especially since Tech bested the Tide last year for the first time in years and started it to ebbing and since Alabama follows right upon the heels of Lawyer McGugin's Commodore flock of Vander-

The SPORTLIGHT

ACHILLES STUFF.

Kid Resin had muscles of iron. And the speed of a nervous gazelle. He knew every punch in the racket. And how to throw all of them well.

Kid Resin could box like Gene Tunney. And hit like Jack Dempsey or Fitz. Big as Willie and stronger than Jeffries. He sure had a sweet pair of mitts.

His arms worked like two angry cobras. His feet flashed like trout on the dart. He'd've been champ of the heavies. If he'd just had a Chin and a Heart.

DON SKENE.

There may be more football played in one game than Missouri and Nebraska will yield on Saturday—but we doubt it. More than one eastern team will agree with this viewpoint later on.

Football values produce the most cockeyed returns in sport. The better team doesn't always win by a number of jumps.

Old Lady Luck can outstar any hero on either side. But as long as the crowds grow larger and the universe continues to roll along, why bother about it?

"First downs don't mean anything," says an exchange. Possibly not. It's calling a walk from an old chorus—"Stone walls do not a prison make; Bah—what tommy rot!"

There was once the old combination of Delahanty and Lajoie. Then Cobb and Crawford came along. Now we have Ruth and Gehrig. Who says civilization isn't advancing?

"The Army and Dartmouth show what they think of the Old Big Three by tackling Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays," writes S. H. Not forgetting that Harvard and Yale tackle the Army and Dartmouth on successive Saturdays. The general idea seems to work both ways.

"Certain golf writers have referred now and then to the 'killing thrusts' of Bobby Jones and Glenn Collett, in outlasting their opponents," comments L. H. "This may be all right for boxing and football, but it's bunk for a golf game."

Why? All thrusts don't have to be physical. A punch in the jaw doesn't help a lot. But neither does a long iron shot, dead to the pin, played by some opponent. I've seen more than one good boxer, playing golf, blow a short putt, after his opponent had canned one from 20 feet away. There are times when a rap at the center of the nervous system can be as up-setting as a rap under the ear, right or left.

"The thrusts" delivered by Bobby Jones and Glenn Collett may not be "killing," but they are rarely of any great assistance to the maintenance of a happy mental condition. The "killing" may be seen more than an opponent to put on the fireworks.

Quite a number of opponents have discovered the Princeton in October and Princeton in November are far from being one and the same.

Southwest Football. A Texan writes in to break the news that few people in the east and middle west realize the quality of football now played in the southwest.

The Army can offer its testimony, anyway. And the Army can play about as much football as any team you can think of offhand.

The Army is willing to believe a number of things after tackling Southern Methodist.

The all-star team that had to face Hunt and Matthews last December in California can also present some testimony.

Certainly Hanna and Allday, of Centenary, will hold their own with any pair of halfbacks in the land.

One trouble is that no one section can afford to give much publicity to other sections far away. Each section has trouble enough scattering its own news and gossip of teams and stars. No one newspaper in any one section can afford to give any extended mention to the Saturday games of over 200 football teams. But the fact is now generally recognized that no one spot on the map comes close to dominating football. The southwest, the Pacific coast, the middle west, the south and the east are about equal in proportion to the number of students available. Almost any university can prove to you that it has fewer football possibilities to draw on than the other fellow has.

Cagle and Sprague, of the Army, were stars in the southwest, but unknown in the east until they arrived at West Point and began to tutor Yale and Notre Dame and the Navy.

Stars of Grid World Change Each Season

Thomason of Tech and Cagle of Army, However, Back To Shine Again.

BY WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution.)

Coaches watch the line men. Rooters look at the backs. Toss a ball the ball in a big stadium in an important game, and 70,000 spectators give him the same quality of attention cast upon a lonely inmate might give the only sail he has sighted in a year. Let that young man dodge his way with the ball into an open field and Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth, Helen of Troy and Mary, Queen of Scots, could dance a quadrille on the side lines without attracting a single eye.

Fans Want Action. Fans crave action. They watch a racing car flash by, but never give a thought to the builder of the track. Yet, open the hole and knock down the ticklers and little Red Fanfare could make a touchdown while wearing a long fur coat over his velvet suit.

It is small wonder that a youngster who makes a long run thinks that he is going to a hero's funeral. He does not realize how quickly time can yellow the papers which carry his picture and print his deeds, or how soon the crowd forgets. Soon the throng will cheer just as loudly, but for another man. Still, he has his big moment, and, paraphrasing Kipling, can say: "After me cometh a runner. Tell him I, too, have known."

Florida Jungs the two of the major teams in the conference—Georgia, on November 10 at Savannah, and Tennessee on December 8 at Knoxville, and for that reason will be troublesome.

Alabama has been rated something of a darkhorse all along, while little has been said of Florida. Alabama will, in all likelihood, live up to its name. And you might get a big kick out of watching the Gators' progress.

Cagle and Thomason. Cagle is still at West Point, Eby runs for Ole State at Stanford, is at Dartmouth and Thomason at Georgia Tech. These stars are likely to shine more brilliantly than ever, but competition is growing stiffer every year. More teams are playing football. More are growing stronger. More players are being developed.

There probably are 200 colleges with one or more "ball carriers" who, behind a powerful line, would be considered of all-American caliber. The men on the winning teams attract the most attention, fine half backs and full backs are legion. Outside of those I have already mentioned, take Murrell, of the Army; Garvey and Decker, of Wake Forest; Murphy and Scull, of Pennsylvania; Breithut, of Dartmouth; Bennett, of Indiana; McLaughlin, of North Carolina; Hallick, of Bucknell; Lom, of California; Owens, of Florida; Mizell, of Georgia Tech; Niemce, of Notre Dame; Hitt, of Louisiana; Lyons, of Kansas; Moncre, of Virginia; Benedict, of Duquesne; Dowler, of Colgate; and Bennett, Witter and Miles, of Princeton.

Other Fine Players. That doesn't begin to cover the country. You must include such fine players as Williams, of Pittsburgh; Stump, of West Virginia; Wilson, of Lafayette; Walker, of Mississippi; Humbert, of Illinois; French, of Harvard; Nagurski, of Minnesota; Welch and Guthrie, of Purdue; Zoehel, of South Carolina; Reine, of Princeton; Elkins, and Tripp, of Haverford. There are countless others.

Or take the supply of quarter backs who are limited. When the season ends and you start to pick an all-star eleven, you must weigh the merits of such field generals as Hume, of Southern Methodist; Baysinger, of Syracuse; Howder, of Minnesota; Armistead, of Vanderbilt; Cusiner, of Wisconsin; Harpster, of Carnegie; Duggan, of Georgetown; Williams, of Southern; Shober, of Pennsylvania; Beck, of Cornell; Hicks, of Alabama; Hoot Ellis, of Wake Forest; Boston, of Lafayette; Walker, of Mississippi; Kitzmiller, of Oregon; Miller, of Penn State; Dallaire, of Fordham; and Fish Ellis, of Tufts—than whom there are many better.

This is a partial list. There are 40 or 50 more of about the same ability. I am calling these names from the memory of the football. He must be of the truly great. He must be a Thorpe, Mahan, Coy Gipp, Oliphant, Thorne or Eckersall. And such backs as those appear seldom.

Clark Warriors Prep for Tigers Clark university, fresh from a victory over Tusculoo, the four-year champions, starts a hard week of work for the Saturday fracas with the Maroon Tigers, of Morehouse college. Coaches Taylor and Ford start their charges through a stiff workout Monday in an effort to iron out some of the wrinkles that were noticed in last Saturday's tilt.

The game with Morehouse Saturday will be the Panthers' second conference tilt, each one being against its toughest foe. Clark has a rivalry in the school's history, beaten the Tigers, Morehouse, until the season of 1926, had never felt the Panthers' claws.

The victory was by a score of 13-0. Last year the south Atlanta school smothered the Tigers by a score of 32-0 on the Clark university field.

This year Clark will meet a much better team than the one that carried the Maroon colors in the past. Morehouse held Saturday last the record of 1-1. Howard university eleven to a 7-0 score which indicates that the Maroon machine is very powerful.

Several injuries were chalked up against Clark eleven last Saturday, and two of her great backfield stars, Morehouse, had a hard time against the Tigers. "Ric" Roberts and Duke Williams suffered injuries in their last game and Dupree, with a hurt ankle, will have a hard time against the Tigers. These injuries are giving the Clark mentor a great deal of worry.

This tilt will be the homecoming game for Morehouse, and several hundred old grads will be on hand.

Van Alstyne Bought By Birmingham Club Birmingham, Ala., October 22.—(AP) Manager Johnny Dobbs, of the Birmingham Barons, today announced the outright purchase of Clayton Van Alstyne, pitcher, from the Washington Senators. Van Alstyne was farm-raised by the Barons for a portion of the 1927 playing season and was 18 of the 25 games he pitched.

STORY OF CHRIST SHOWN ON SCREEN AT METROPOLITAN

Probably the most unusual cinematic production ever to appear in Atlanta is showing this week at the Metropolitan theater.

This extraordinary attraction which boasts of an all-star cast is Cecil B. de Mille's latest screen triumph. It is a story of the life of Jesus of Nazareth, depicting in particular the last three years of His life.

Many realistic scenes of Christ's journey with his disciples are shown in a beautiful manner. His great work of curing the blind and lame are also shown in a masterful way. The two most dramatic and gripping scenes of the picture are the raising of Lazarus from the dead and the crucifixion of Christ on the cross between the two thieves.

The picture is a story of the life of Jesus of Nazareth and the betrayal of Jesus by Judas are other incidents which tend to make the picture a screen classic. The theme of this film is the highest possible ever conceived by man and it has been treated in a thoroughly reverent fashion by the veteran producer. It is a film of history, which every one should see.

The Vitaphone synchronizations add materially to the enjoyment of the film.

B. V. Warren plays the part of Christ and Ernest Torrence appears as Paul the disciple. Other stars in the cast are Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varney, L. Lee Supper, Logan and Dorothy Cumming. Without the splendid acting of these recognized stars the picture would have been deprived of much of its interest.

Interesting Movietone news reels complete a wonderful program, one of Metro's best in recent months.

—FRED McCAHIN.

NEW DANCE REVUE HEADS GOOD BILL AT LOEW'S CAPITOL

At last they have created a dancing revue that's different and it is the headline attraction on a rattling good bill of vaudeville at Loew's Capitol.

The new show, the act is entitled "Nights of Love," with Gracella and Theodore in the leading dancing roles, and it is away out of the beaten path of all its features. The dances are difficult, are unusually difficult and are unusually well done.

Kemper and Bayard in "Fokum and How" also ran the hell with an all-arounder. One of these lads is a past master as a funmaker and there is not any of the fun forced, either.

There's a third act on the bill well deserving to ride under the banner of a headliner and this is the comedy skit with songs and comedy offered by Myrtle Boland, who has appeared here several times in recent years, brings a new program of songs which she sings in her own style. She offers also a pleasing dramatic recitation in connection with one of her numbers.

Bob Anderson and his polo pony open the show with a trainer who will talk with the pony doing almost everything but talk. This act rounded out one of the most pleasing shows seen at Loew's Capitol this week.

Loew's Capitol picture is "The Man Who Laughs," based on Victor Hugo's famous melodrama. It is full of stupendous scenes of the days of medieval France and is a stirring and gripping tale well acted with Mary Philbin and Conrad Veidt in leading roles.

—PAUL STEVENSON.

ALBERT S. FOSTER TELLS FLORIDANS ABOUT DYER BILL

Bartow, Fla., October 22.—(AP)—Describing the Dyer anti-lynching bill as "a direct slap at the south" and declaring he would rather see his hand in the fire than support it, Albert S. Foster, of Madison, Ga., spoke here tonight in the interest of the national democratic ticket.

"Although I would risk my life if necessary to prevent a lynching, I wish that the Dyer bill would wither and perish before it marks a ballot in favor of a candidate who indorses that bill," the speaker, who is a cousin of William M. McAdoo, said.

"The bill is a direct slap at the south. No matter how irresponsible the band of ruffians who committed the lynching, no matter how heinous the nature of the crime which would provoke a lynching, this bill or its equivalent, which is indorsed by Herbert Hoover and the republican party, would force conscientious, law-abiding citizens to contribute to a fund of $10,000 for the family of the ruffian, no matter how guilty he was, while no mention is made of the victim of the crime or her family."

UNION MINE PICKET SHOT AND KILLED NEAR SCRANTON, PA.

Scranton, Pa., October 22.—(AP)—A man believed by police to be Steve Petchinski, 30, a mine union picket, was shot and killed today near the Diamond mine of the Glen Alden Coal company in the town of Scranton, where there has been a strike in progress for several days.

Police, who were dispersing strikers from the vicinity of the mine, found the man lying on the ground with a bullet over his heart. They believe that he was shot when he attempted to stop miners going to work.

NAVY FLIER GETS MEDAL

Lieut. Dyer in Air 1,251 Hours Without Mishap.

Washington, October 23.—(United News.)—Lieutenant James E. Dyer, naval aviator with a record of 1,251 hours in the air during the past year without an accident, was awarded the Herbert Schiff memorial trophy, Secretary of Navy Wilbur announced today.

Presentation of the trophy will be made at the white house by President Coolidge on December 15.

Lieutenant Dyer, whose home is in Rumford, Me., was given authorization to fly across the continent from San Diego, Calif., to receive the trophy.

Future awards will be made to flying squadrons and not to individual pilots, the navy said.

MOTORCYCLE WRECK FATAL TO YOUTH

Elizabeth City, N. C., October 22.—(AP)—Victor Conk, 22, Norfolk, died at 1:05 this morning at the Elizabeth City hospital of injuries received in a motorcycle accident. Winfall about 7 o'clock last night.

STRONG KEITH'S CARD IS HEADED BY VENTRILOQUIST

A ventriloquist is by no means a novelty but a ventriloquist who excels in his art and at the same time is generously supplied with smart cracks is a distinct departure from the ordinary and as such, Marshall Montgomery takes unto himself much glory on the current vaudeville bill at Keith's Georgia.

Victor for favor with Mr. Montgomery is Clara Kimball Young, one-time stage and screen luminary. Her act of singing and confidential but not better than the usual "personal appearance."

Bernard and Kellar and Coley and Jaxon provide the ever-present dialogue acts. The former team is carrying an act with more than half a dozen original, or nearly so, lines and good-hearted characters. Sailor Frink, Nick Stewart plays the weak boy torn between his love for a girl, Lois Moran, and his love for the sailor.

—LEWIS H. HAWKINS.

The other act is the Ruth Sisters and Moore. Redeemed by a well executed eccentric dance by Mr. Moore after the manner of a wind-blown scrawner.

Charles Francis Coe's stirring story of the waterfront buccaners, "The River Pirate" proves a good vehicle for Victor McLaglen, who, in case you don't know it, once played in a picture called "What Price Glory?"

The brawny Irishman is genuine as the rough, somewhat shabby, but still good-hearted character, Sailor Frink. Nick Stewart plays the weak boy torn between his love for a girl, Lois Moran, and his love for the sailor.

—LEWIS H. HAWKINS.

AT THE THEATERS

VAUDEVILLE-PICTURES—KEITH'S GEORGIA—Five acts; "The River Pirate"—Victor McLaglen; "The Man Who Laughs."

FEATURE PICTURES—HOWARD—"Two Lovers," METROPOLITAN—"The King of Kings," RIALTO—"The Singing Fool."

MOVIES—ALAMO No. 2—"What Price Glory," CAMEO—"The Big Parade," LOEW'S CAPITOL—"The King of Kings," TUDOR—"The Count of Ten."

NEIGHBORHOOD MOVIES—DEKALB—"Halt a Bride," EMPIRE—"Happiness Ahead," RIALTO—"The King of Kings," FALACE—"The Patient Leather Kid," Ponce de Leon—"South Sea Love," TENNY STREET—"The Patient Leather Kid."

WEST END—"The Garden of Eden."

Metropolitan. The Metropolitan offers for the week Cecil B. de Mille's immortal masterpiece, "The King of Kings," the master production of the life of Jesus the Saviour. The production now has the accompaniment of sound, a great music score by a wonderful orchestra, and a chorus of hundreds of voices.

This is the first time "The King of Kings" has been shown in Atlanta at popular prices.

Tudor. Romance and fighting are the elements intermingled to make "The Count of Ten" showing at the Tudor today a most human and interesting picture. Charles Ray has the leading role and Jobyna Ray is the female lead. The screen story was adapted from one of the sport stories by Gerald Baumgart.

Alamo No. 2. Dolores Del Rio, the captivating Mexican society girl, who plays the part of Chairma in the film version of "What Price Glory," now appearing at Alamo theater No. 2, had never seen a moving picture studio up to two years ago.

Cameo. John Gilbert and Renee Adoree are at the Cameo today in "The Big Parade." This great film is the one production that has been released by the movie producers that dares to question the supremacy of the great pioneer film "The Birth of a Nation."

Ponce de Leon. A woman's struggle for recognition on the stage in a big city, a man's sacrifices in the fever-laden tropics, and the love that broke through a plot for revenge from the highlights of Ralph Ince's special at the Ponce de Leon today. There is a vivid climax on an exotic background. Civilization's never falls away when the woman goes to the South Seas to claim the estate of the man whom she thinks dead. He grows her and holds her prisoner.

Patsy Ruth Miller is the star.

Empire. In a role that tests to the utmost her versatility as an actress, Colleen Moore scored emphatically with patrons of the Empire theater Monday, when her latest starring picture, "Happiness Ahead" opened at that popular community playhouse. It is the story of a small town girl who marries a big city crook.

DETROIT BOLT WORKS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Detroit, October 22.—(AP)—Fire which originated in the boiler room swept through the plant of the Ajax Bolt and Screw company here early today, causing damage estimated at $375,000.

GRAND Continuous Whoo Open A LOEW THEATRE AT 11 A. M. ONLY 5 MORE DAYS CLIVE BROOK

"Forgotten Faces" Begins—11:30—1:30—3:30—5:30 7:30—9:30

Their Last Kiss! See them now or never! The screen's most fascinating love story.

RONALD COLMAN VILMA BANKY

IN "TWO LOVERS" A United Artist Sound Picture

See and Hear ROBERT OBER MOVIEPHONE NEWS Only 25c Till 1 P. M.

HOWARD

WHITEMAN CONCERT TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Orchestra Comes From Birmingham Where It Played to Audience of 4,000.

Paul Whiteman, "king of modernized jazz," and the 35 members of his great concert orchestra will arrive in Atlanta this morning, ready for the program of popular music they are to offer Atlantans at the auditorium tonight.

The Whiteman orchestra comes from Birmingham where they gave a concert before an audience of more than four thousand people Monday night.

S. Russell Bridges, president of the Southern Musical bureau, which brings the Whiteman concert to Atlanta, announced Monday that, while the seat sale has been highly satisfactory, a careful check after the close of the box office Monday night showed many excellent seats yet available.

The huge size of the auditorium makes it ideal for an orchestra of the Whiteman type and many people prefer seats not near the front. This has resulted in a scattering of reservations so far made all over the house and there are at least two thousand seats, including many of the choicest, yet unsold.

The box office at Cable Piano company will remain open all day today until 6 o'clock, when it will be moved to the auditorium.

Whiteman has not been in Atlanta for four years and in the interim has toured Europe and been acclaimed as the undisputed king of modern American jazz in all the leading musical centers. He is presenting in his program tonight a large number of highly popular tunes as well as several novelties which have been specially written for the present tour.

A new Gershwin composition, "Concerto in E" for orchestra and piano is one of the most intriguing numbers, while the opening, "Yes, Jazz Is Savage," promises unique type. Another is a number based upon the noises in a garage.

Then there are numbers such as "Tiger Rag," "Melancholy Baby," "Thinking of Me Thinking of You," etc.

The Whiteman concert marks the opening of the Southern Musical bureau season of 1928-29 and is one of the most important events in the local entertainment field for the year.

COLMAN AND BANKY SCORE GREAT HIT IN HOWARD PICTURE

Featured by the presence of approximately 100 of the 120 couples entered in The Constitution-Howard theater's contest to find the Atlanta couple married the longest, "Two Lovers," starring Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, was given a big hand by a capacity crowd at the local Public house Monday afternoon.

"Two Lovers," the screen version of the Baroness Orczy's novel, "Leatherstocking," has to do with Spain's domination and tyranny in dealing with its subjects in Flanders during the fifteenth century. The ultimate cessation of tortuous hostilities is brought about by the mysterious "Leatherstocking," son of the high half of Ghent, whose marriage to the daughter of a Spanish dictator is designed by the "Council of Blood" to expedite the annihilation of Flanders by Spain. The modus operandi of the elusive "Leatherstocking" in single-handedly thwarting the Spanish power is quite interesting and entertaining.

An edition of Movietone news which affords excerpts of Herbert Hoover's Boston address, and Robert Ober, star of the spoken stage, in an all-talking dramatic sketch, "A Regular Business Man," completes the bill.

—T. K. JONES.

Acclaimed— By thousands of Atlantans as the greatest, most beautiful picture of all time.

Shows start at 10:40, 12:30, 2:40, 4:50, 7:00, 9:10

MEIROPOLITAN MOVIEPHONE VITAPHONE

U.D.C. Forces Gather Here Today To Attend 34th State Convention

Today the city of Atlanta will welcome the Georgia division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to attend the thirty-fourth convention, returning to the city in which this patriotic organization had its inception on November 9, 1895. Its objectives including memorials, historical, benevolent, educational and social, and their first duty is to comfort in every possible way the Confederate veteran, the southern soldier of the sixties in the war between the states, Fulton county chapter, of which Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby is president, acting as hostess organization. The meetings take place in St. Marks Methodist church on Peachtree, with headquarters established at the Georgian Terrace hotel where the credentials committee, including Mesdames W. C. Vereen, chairman, Moultrie; C. D. Shellnut, Sandersville, and Julian Lane, will be stationed at headquarters to issue cards and give out information regarding the convention. With such distinguished personages as Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Chatham, Va., president general; Mrs. W. Trox Bankston, of Covington, state president; Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, vice president general in the national organization attending the convention, the occasion taken on greater brilliancy, and every member of the hostess organization will look towards the comfort and entertainment of the delegates.

Reception At Club.

This afternoon comes the reception at the Piedmont Driving club honoring Mrs. Merchant, Mrs. Bankston and the officers of the Georgia division, given by the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial association, followed by a dinner at the Capital City club by the Fulton chapter with the following officers acting as official hostesses: Mesdames L. D. T. Quinby, J. A. Wise, Rogers Winter, Misses Martha Anderson, Celeste Neal, corresponding secretary; Mesdames H. H. Davis, S. L. Palmer, J. L. Jenson, E. B. Williams and C. L. Anderson.

Formal Opening.

The welcome program and formal opening takes place at St. Marks Methodist church at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Merchant, Mrs. Bankston and Mrs. Quinby presiding with the professional being featured. Mrs. Patrick Bray is timekeeper, and the bugle call will be given by John Boston, Eagle Scout, while the procession is under way.

The standard bearer is Mrs. Robert Travis, of Savannah. The Georgia division officers include, president, Mrs. W. Trox Bankston, Covington; first vice president, Mrs. H. O. Ball, Jackson; second vice president, Mrs. Izzie Bashinski, Dublin; third vice president, Mrs. W. H. McKenzie, Montezuma; recording secretary, Mrs. Powell Cotter, Barnesville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. E. Everett, Covington; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Lane, Statesboro; registrar, Mrs. H. A. Craig, Augusta; auditor, Mrs. C. T. Tillman, Valdosta; historian, Mrs. Kirby Smith, Anderson; Madison; recorder of crosses, Miss Rebecca Dupont, Savannah; state editor, Mrs. J. J. Harris, Sandersville; poet laureate, Mrs. M. L. Hooters, Tennille, and custodian of war records, Mrs. Le Trammell, Madison. Honorary presidents: Miss Anna Caroline Benning, Columbus, and Mrs. S. Coleman, Atlanta. Convention chaplain, Mrs. J. A. Wise.

Called to Order.

The convention will be called to order by Mrs. Bankston, and Dr. W. L. Duren, pastor of St. Marks, will deliver the invocation. Mrs. Quinby will extend greetings and Governor Hardman, chief executive of Georgia, will represent the state, while Mayor Ragsdale, represents the city of Atlanta, and the following representative leaders taking part on the program: Country of Fulton, W. B. Stewart, United Confederate Veterans, General D. B. Freeman, Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., Mrs. D. F. Stevenson; Rebecca Fulton chapter, Mrs. W. E. Le-may; Robert E. Lee chapter, Miss Mary Gray; Sons of Confederate Veterans, Henderson Hallman; Confederate Memorial association, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson; Men's Patriotic organization, Basil Stockbridge; Women's Patriotic organization, Mrs. Irving S. Thomas; Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies, Milton Dargatz, Jr.; Women's clubs and civic organizations, Mrs. Norman Sharpe; vocal solo, Mrs. D. C. Adams; presentation of state president, Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby; response to welcome, introduction of distinguished guests, presentations of past presidents, Georgia division, and presentation of state officers and pages, Mrs. W. Trox Bankston; violin solo, Ruth Dabney Smith; Miss Bartholomew, accompanist.

Presentation of Officers. Presentation of general officers, Mrs. W. S. Coleman; introduction of president general, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie; address, Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, president general of United Daughters of the Confederacy; benediction, Dr. W. L. Duren; recessional, Miss Eda Bartholomew.

Program committee: Mesdames Rogers Winter, Atlanta; L. D. T. Quinby, Atlanta; T. W. Reed and Kirby Smith, Anderson.

Local chairmen include: Entertainment, Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby; decorations, Mrs. J. L. Gwinn and Mrs. William McDougald; pages, Miss Martha Anderson; badges, Mrs. S. L. Palmer; publicity, Mrs. Edgar Alexander; automobiles, Mrs. W. M. Mauldin, Mrs. J. R. Wakefield; information, Mrs. E. B. Williams; convention property, Mrs. Charles L. Anderson; hospitality, Mrs. J. A. Wise, Mrs. J. W. Kendley, and finance, Mrs. Howard McCutcheon.

The president's pages will be Misses Belle Quinby, Atlanta; Laura McCulloch, West Point; Alice Harrold.

P.T.A. Picture Chairman Issues Plan of Work

Mrs. Ira E. Farmer, manager bureau of publicity, Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers issues the following plan of work of the state chairman of motion pictures, Mrs. J. A. Beall, which was adopted by the board of managers of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers at the meeting held Tuesday, October 16, at the Y. W. C. A. building in Macon.

First: A motion picture chairman with a committee of four (when possible) for every association.

Second: Every association to purchase for its motion picture chairman from the national office the blue book outlining the national plan and giving lists of pictures with markings as to their suitability. Price 15c.

Third: Every motion picture chairman to carefully study the plans in the Blue Book, marked "committee plans" so as to more intelligently carry out the national and state policies.

Fourth: Every motion picture chairman to cooperate in a friendly, tactful way with theater managers, especially community theaters. To encourage a family night at these theaters, preferably Friday night, when the pictures shown will be suitable for dad, mother and the children. To urge that pictures shown on Saturday be of the same type. To tactfully place the national blue book in the hands of community theater managers. To quietly, when necessary, voice an objection to an entertainment picture, letting the manager know the entire association appreciates his efforts in helping to raise the standards in this form of entertainment in their respective communities. Assuring him of the cooperation of the association and mentioning the type of operation he is giving.

Fifth: Assuring the managers that we are a non-commercial organization, accepting no proceeds, free tickets or passes for our cooperation, the only requirement being, as stated elsewhere, desirable pictures, family nights, etc. for the benefit of the children of our state.

Sixth: Discouraging the giving of door or other prizes to stimulate attendance, thereby trading upon the public's desire to obtain something for nothing which is detrimental to the building of good character in our children.

Seventh: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Eighth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Ninth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Tenth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Eleventh: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Twelfth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Thirteenth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Fourteenth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Fifteenth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Sixteenth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Seventeenth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Eighteenth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Nineteenth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Twentieth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Twenty-first: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Twenty-second: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Twenty-third: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Twenty-fourth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Twenty-fifth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Twenty-sixth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Twenty-seventh: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Twenty-eighth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Twenty-ninth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Thirtieth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Thirty-first: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Thirty-second: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Thirty-third: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Thirty-fourth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Thirty-fifth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Thirty-sixth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Thirty-seventh: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Thirty-eighth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Thirty-ninth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Fortieth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Forty-first: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Forty-second: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Forty-third: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Forty-fourth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Forty-fifth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Forty-sixth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Forty-seventh: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Forty-eighth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Forty-ninth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Fiftieth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Fifty-first: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Fifty-second: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Fifty-third: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Fifty-fourth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Fifty-fifth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Fifty-sixth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Fifty-seventh: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Fifty-eighth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Fifty-ninth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Sixtieth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Sixty-first: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Sixty-second: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Sixty-third: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Sixty-fourth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Sixty-fifth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Sixty-sixth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Sixty-seventh: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Sixty-eighth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Sixty-ninth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Seventieth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Seventy-first: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Seventy-second: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Seventy-third: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Seventy-fourth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Seventy-fifth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Seventy-sixth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Seventy-seventh: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Seventy-eighth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Seventy-ninth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Eightieth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Eighty-first: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Eighty-second: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Eighty-third: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Eighty-fourth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Eighty-fifth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Eighty-sixth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Eighty-seventh: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Eighty-eighth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Eighty-ninth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Ninetieth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Ninety-first: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Ninety-second: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Ninety-third: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

Ninety-fourth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

Ninety-fifth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

Ninety-sixth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

Ninety-seventh: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

Ninety-eighth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

Ninety-ninth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundredth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and first: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and second: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and third: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and fourth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and fifth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and sixth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and seventh: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and eighth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and ninth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and tenth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and eleventh: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and twelfth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and thirteenth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and fourteenth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and fifteenth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and sixteenth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and seventeenth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and eighteenth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and nineteenth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and twentieth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and twenty-first: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and twenty-second: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and twenty-third: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and twenty-fourth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and twenty-fifth: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and twenty-sixth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and twenty-seventh: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and twenty-eighth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and twenty-ninth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and thirtieth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and thirty-first: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and thirty-second: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and thirty-third: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and thirty-fourth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and thirty-fifth: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and thirty-sixth: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and thirty-seventh: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and thirty-eighth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and thirty-ninth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in prologues as a drawing card.

One hundred and fortieth: Cooperating with organizations or managers sponsoring children's matinees, insofar as announcing at meetings any worthwhile picture they show and cooperating in any other way that does not conflict with the national policies. Discouraging the showing of wild west pictures, except those approved by the national.

One hundred and forty-first: Discouraging the premature attendance at movies of children under six years of age.

One hundred and forty-second: Keeping the importance of the committee before the association as a drawing card.

One hundred and forty-third: Every motion picture chairman and her committee to answer as accurately as possible the national motion picture questionnaire, turning same over to the proper chairman, who will see that they reach the national chairman through the state motion picture chairman.

One hundred and forty-fourth: Discouraging children attending more than one movie a week. Also discouraging the attendance of children at movies on school days or nights.

One hundred and forty-fifth: Discouraging the use of children on the stage in

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Quinn, Jr., of Lithonia, spent a few days in the city last week.

Hansell Jones, a former resident of Atlanta, visited friends in the city last week.

H. V. Jones, of Chattanooga, has returned home.

Pat Anderson, of Hapeville, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

Frank Harmsen Reynolds, who has been ill at St. Joseph's infirmary for several weeks, returned to his home on Tenth street Saturday.

Mrs. H. E. McWhorter has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. James Hall and family at Norwood, Ohio, and a short stay at Hazelhurst.

H. T. Beckwith, E. W. Pridgen and Miss Lizzie Pridgen, of Dublin, were recent visitors in the city.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wages and Miss Virginia Wages, of Lithonia, have returned home.

Lee Prather and T. L. Burk, of Marble Hill, spent a few days in the city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Englehart with their daughter, Joan, of Akron, Ohio, are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Englehart, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Herrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bolding, who have been on their wedding journey in Europe since their marriage in June, will return home the middle of November. Mrs. Bolding was before her marriage Miss Maude Wells, of this city.

United States Senator Thomas J. Heflin, of Alabama, will reach the city Thursday, coming to deliver an address that evening at the city auditorium.

Dr. W. L. Hambrick has returned from Homerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Cummings and their children, Malinda Madison and Alice Jean Cummings, of Birmingham, are the guests for a week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rubin and family in Kirkwood.

Miss Clara Cole has returned to Newnan, having been the guest for several days of Miss Florence Eckel at her home on Peachtree circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry English have returned from a European tour, arriving recently on the Ile de France. They are spending some time in New York before returning to Atlanta.

Howard A. Fortson, Lombard Fortson, Morris Belding and William Law have returned to Augusta after spending the week-end in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Owens, of West Palm Beach, Fla., are at the Georgia Terrace.

Mrs. A. J. Sparks and Miss Julia Sparks have taken possession of their apartment in the Blackstone, at Fourth and Peachtree streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate L. Earnest and Mrs. M. E. Carty, of Knoxville, Tenn., are stopping at the Biltmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gwin and Miss Yolande Gwin will return from a visit to New York and Boston Tuesday.

Mrs. F. G. Hodgson, of Washington, who has been at the Biltmore for the past week left Tuesday for Athens.

J. Alex Sloan has returned to his home in Evanston, Ill., after attending the Tech-Notre Dame game Saturday.

Miss L. A. Tafel, of New York, is at the Biltmore for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark E. Ives, of Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Holland, of Santa Barbara, are prominent California guests at the Biltmore.

Miss Louise Graybill and Miss Sarah Alexander, of Augusta, who came up for the Tech-Notre Dame game Saturday, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hand, of Pelham, are at the Biltmore.

Dr. J. M. Anderson and Dr. D. A. Bogley have taken possession of their new home, 607 1-2 Lee street, S. W.

Felix Jackson, of Philadelphia, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Fonville McWhorter, on Montgomery Perry drive. He will visit friends in Gainesville before returning home.

Miss Minnie Siegal, of New York City, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Boren, 200 Montgomery Perry drive. She will remain in the city for several weeks.

Mrs. J. B. Estes and Mrs. Evelyn Posey, who spent the summer at Asheville and Charlotte, N. C., and stopped over in Atlanta for a week with their cousin, Miss Lena North, left Saturday evening for their home in Yazoo City, Miss.

Mrs. W. W. Miller leaves Thursday for Texas, where she will be the guest of Colonel and Mrs. Robert M. Burr at Beaumont for 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mills, of Cleveland, Tenn., are at the Georgia Terrace.

Miss Margaret Fraser will spend the winter in New York.

Mrs. J. Woodward Olcott, of Baltimore, is the guest of Mrs. L. B. Faulkner at 4 Porter place.

Robert A. Hemphill, who has been indisposed for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Miss Nellie Gray, of Nashville, Tenn., is visiting Mrs. De Sales Harrison at her home on Sixteenth street.

Miss Mildred Hicks, of Tallahassee, Tenn., is spending this week at the Georgia Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Curtis, Victor Klee, and Oscar Stinson, of Warm Springs, are spending this week at the Georgia Terrace.

Mrs. LeRoy Rogers and Mrs. Fleming Law, left Sunday for New York and will be at the Roosevelt hotel for ten days.

Mrs. J. H. Hillsman is a guest at the Roosevelt hotel in New York city.

Mrs. Frank Harold and Miss Alice Harold, of America, are guests of Mrs. J. B. McCarty at the Ponce de Leon apartments. They are in the city for the state convention of the U. D. C. Miss Harold will be one of the pages at the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McWhorter and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McWhorter, of Franklin, were in the city last week for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Todd and young son, John Todd, Jr., have returned from Lindale.

L. G. Holland, of Gainesville, was a week-end visitor to the city.

Miss Mary Lou Gordon White, of Nashville, Tenn., today to attend Georgia division, U. D. C., and will be at the Georgia Terrace. She is editor of the Confederate Veteran, published in Nashville, and will be

Fourth District Meets In Hogsenville Today

The Federated Women's clubs of the fourth district meet in Hogsenville today by invitation of the Hogsenville Woman's club. Mrs. John K. Otley will bring a message from the Tallulah Falls Industrial school before the meeting and Mrs. Ira Farmer will deliver an address. Both Atlantans to appear on the program. Mrs. W. R. Jones, of Greenville, is district president.

among the most distinguished visitors in attendance upon the convention held here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Thomas, of Dexter, have returned home.

Miss Merion E. Smith, of Brunswick, is the guest of Mrs. Van W. Wilkinson.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Barnhardt, of Greenville, S. C., announce the birth of a daughter October 18 who has been named Jean Heath. Mrs. Barnhardt, before her marriage, was Miss Deryle Humphrey, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Madden and Mrs. M. Falletta, of Birmingham, Ala., are at the Georgia Terrace.

Mrs. B. H. Hill is convalescing from a recent serious illness.

Mrs. Harold W. Harris, of Birmingham, Ala., is at the Georgia Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boardman, of Augusta, are at the Georgia Terrace.

Mrs. Robert C. Alston and Mrs. Frank M. Inman left yesterday for Hot Springs, Va., where they will visit Mrs. Kelly Evans.

Mrs. Rountree Will Attend U. D. C. Meeting.

Mrs. J. A. Rountree, of Birmingham, Ala., will be among the prominent visitors attending the annual meeting of the Georgia division, U. D. C., which goes into session today at St. Mark's Methodist church.

Mrs. Rountree is general chairman of the committee on insignia of the Confederate descendants of the world war and she has held this position for the past 10 years. She has also been active in arousing enthusiasm for the bestowing of the crosses of military service on the various descendants throughout the country.

Mrs. Rountree is the author of the "Cross of Military Service, Its History and Its Record." It contains the records of over 3,500 world war veterans, together with the war service records of their Confederate ancestors.

The second edition of the book will probably be authorized at a future meeting of the general division of the U. D. C. The Georgia division has evinced much interest in this book of Mrs. Rountree's and has sold more than any other state division in the union.

Miss Frances Kraft Is Honor Guest.

Little Miss Frances Kraft was complimented by her mother, Mrs. Harry Nelson Kraft, at a party Monday afternoon in celebration of her ninth birthday. The party was at the home of Mrs. Kraft's sister, Mrs. Ernest Colvin, in Ansley Park.

The guests included Betty Chambers, Virginia Willey, Mrs. Lane, Dorothy Peete, Mary Ann Hillsman, Aimee Romberger, Irene Macy, Helene Rosenbaum, Jane Strong, Jacqueline Lowe, Emily Mitchell, Florence Kennedy, Miriam Dividow, Margaret Winslow, Margaret L'Engle, Sue Allen Clapp, Ann Pappeneimer and Ann Mitchell.

DAILY CALENDAR OF WOMEN'S MEETINGS

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Georgian division, U. D. C., convenes in Atlanta today, the initial session being held at 8 o'clock at St. Mark's Methodist church. Registration with the credentials committee will be made at the Georgian Terrace hotel from 3 to 5 o'clock. The executive board meeting will be held at 3 o'clock at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

The Buckeye Woman's club meets at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. Earl Quillian, 986 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E.

The Grady Hospital auxiliary meets in the nurses' home, Grady hospital, at 11 o'clock.

Gate City chapter, No. 233, O. E. S., meets at 7:30 o'clock at Red Men's wigwam.

At 7:30 o'clock Martha chapter 128, O. E. S., meets in Battle Hill Masonic lodge, Lucile avenue and Gordon street.

The garden committee of the Atlanta Woman's club meets at 10:30 at the clubhouse.

Classes in interior decoration begin today at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. A. Allen.

The Peeples Street P. T. A. meets at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The Whiteford Pre-School circle meets at the home of Mrs. Owen Phillips, 118 Whiteford avenue.

The Pre-School circle of Emory meets at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Nellans, 838 Ponce de Leon avenue, at 10 o'clock.

The S. M. Inman P. T. A. meets at 3 o'clock.

The Home Park Pre-School association meets at 2:30 o'clock in the kindergarten building.

William Street P. T. A. meets at 2:30 o'clock at the school.

The Ladies auxiliary, council 660, meets at the K. of C. clubhouse at 1200 Peachtree street at 8 o'clock.

The Moreland Avenue P. T. A. meets at 2:45 o'clock at the school.

The S. M. Inman P. T. A. meets at 3 o'clock.

The Baptist Elementary league, Second Baptist church, meets at 6 o'clock in the Sunday school auditorium.

The Kentucky Club of Atlanta meets at 3 o'clock at Deerland, the home of Mrs. Jack J. Spalding, on Peachtree road.

Dr. W. W. Anderson lectures at the Wesley Memorial hospital auditorium on the care of infants.

The executive board of the Garden Club of Georgia meets Wednesday at 11 o'clock with the president, Mrs. Phinzy Calhoun, at her home on Audubon drive. Mrs. Calhoun will entertain the members of the board at luncheon following the morning meeting.

The mothers' class of the First Baptist Sunday school meets with Mrs. J. T. Killebrew, at 797 Greenwood avenue this afternoon.

Atlanta Ladies' Memorial association will entertain in honor of Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, president-general of the U. D. C.; Mrs. Oscar McKenly; Mrs. W. T. Bankston, president of the Georgia division, and the officers of the Georgia division, given at the Piedmont Driving club this afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock and Mrs. William A. Wright, president of the Ladies' Memorial association, will be official hostess.

Fulton chapter, U. D. C., will entertain at 6:30 o'clock at the Capital City Club. N. N. Merchant, president of Chatham, Va., president-general, U. D. C.; Mrs. Trox Bankston, president of Georgia division, U. D. C., and Mrs. Oscar McKenly, of Montezuma, first vice president-general.

Mrs. Hardman, first lady of Georgia, entertains at the executive mansion, on the Prado in Ansley park, following the opening program at St. Mark's Methodist church, honoring Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Chatham, Va., president-general of U. D. C.; Mrs. W. T. Bankston, of Covington, president of Georgia division, U. D. C., and Mrs. Oscar McKenly, of Montezuma, vice president-general of U. D. C.

Mrs. Dowdell Brown will be hostess at a luncheon at Brookhaven Country club honoring Miss Hortense Adams.

Mrs. W. R. Brewster will entertain at a luncheon, complimenting Miss Elizabeth Holleman, an October bride-elect.

The Fine Arts club will present E. H. Sothorn this afternoon in a series of dramatic interpretations at the Erlanger theater.

Mrs. Everett Well will be hostess at a bridge-tee, honoring Mrs. Robert Sinsbaugh, of Rutherford, N. J., the guest of Mrs. Harry E. Storms.

Mrs. John W. Turner will entertain the members of the Phi Mu Alumnae association at a tea at her home on East Seventeenth street.

Mrs. George Montgomery, Mrs. Campbell Wallace and Mrs. Dan Anderson will entertain at a reception in honor of Miss Harriett Leake, a bride-elect.

The Southern Musical bureau presents Paul Whiteman and his orchestra at the auditorium.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER RABBIT BEGINS TO WONDER.

BY THOMAS W. BURGESS.

Look long and hard, for if you do, you're pretty sure to find a clew.

The first one Sammy Jay saw after leaving Jimmy Skunk was Peter Rabbit. You see, Sammy had flown directly over to the dear Old Briar-patch. As soon as he saw Sammy, Peter knew that Sammy had news.

"What are you carrying on your mind this time, Sammy Jay?" asked Peter.

"I do know I am carrying anything on my mind at all?" snapped Sammy Jay.

"I can tell by the looks of you, Sammy," said Peter. "You can't fool me. You've got some news. I can see it in your eyes. What is it, Sammy?"

"What would you say, replied Sammy, 'if I should tell you that Jimmy Skunk met with an accident?'"

"I would say it is too bad," replied Peter. "I hope it isn't serious."

"What would you say," continued Sammy, "if I should say that that accident is the result of an attack on Jimmy?"

"I should say that somebody had been very foolish," replied Peter promptly.

"That I don't know," replied Sammy, "but Jimmy Skunk has a tear in his coat and he is walking on these legs, because one leg is gone. That tear in his coat was made by a clew. Now, who do you suppose would dare attack Jimmy Skunk?"

"No one with any sense at all," replied Peter. "A silly dog who had never seen him before and didn't know anything about him might do it, but I can't imagine anyone who knows anything about Jimmy Skunk trying such a thing."

"Neither can I," said Sammy, "and I certainly would like to know who it was."

Sammy flew off to spread the news through the Green Forest and the Old Orchard. Peter sat for a long time in the dear old Briar-patch, wondering who it could be that had dared to attack Jimmy Skunk. First he would scratch one long ear with a long hind foot; then he would scratch the other long ear with the other long hind foot. Peter seems to think it helps him to think when he does this. Of course, it doesn't really.

"There are Old Man Coyote," said Peter to himself, "and Mrs. Coyote, and Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy and Yowler the Bobcat and Buster Bear—any one of whom would be glad of a dinner of Jimmy Skunk; yet not one of them but knows all about Jimmy's little secret-garden and is wise enough to keep a respectful distance from Jimmy. In fact, I can't imagine anyone who would dare take a chance, even if he had surprised Jimmy. I wonder who it could have been."

Now, Peter was sitting at still very long when he is curious about something. So after a while, when little Mrs. Peter had her head turned, Peter slipped out of the dear Old Briar-patch and started lipperty-lipperty across the Green Meadows for the Green Forest. He wanted to find out who had dared to attack Jimmy Skunk and there was no chance of finding out anything of that kind if he remained in the dear Old Briar-patch.

"I wonder who it could have been," he kept saying with each hop he made. "I wonder who it could have been."

(Copyright, 1923, by The Constitution.) The next story: "Peter Follows His Nose."

E. H. Sothorn Appears Tuesday on Arts Club Program

Making his first appearance in the south E. H. Sothorn, eminent American actor and producer, presents a series of dramatic presentations at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, October 23, at the Erlanger theater, on the opening program of the Fine Arts Club of Atlanta, of which Mrs. Turner Jones is president.

Mr. Sothorn, who, with his wife, Julia Marlowe, has made a distinct contribution to the field of dramatic art, will present on this limited tour of the United States one of the most significant series of dramatic presentations ever shown on the American stage. His Atlanta recital will include the murder of King Duncan, from "Macbeth," a scene from "The Merchant of Venice," and a resume of the romantic drama, laying special emphasis on Justin McCarthy's "If I Were King," in connection with which he will recite several of Villon's poems and Rudyard Kipling's ballad, "To the True Romance."

Mr. Sothorn, who has been on the stage for more than 40 years, has had experience that has included an unusual range of plays and parts. In his country-wide tour he will restore to the stage some of the classic dramas in which he has appeared.

Members of the Fine Arts club will be admitted on their cards. Tickets to the public will be priced from 50 cents to $2.

Home Park Pre-School Circle Meets Friday.

The Home Park Pre-School association meets in the school auditorium Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of Tuesday as previously announced.

Spanish Circle Postpones Meeting.

The meeting of El Circolo Espanol, which was to have been held Wednesday, October 24, has been postponed until 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, October 31, at the home of Mrs. Julius C. Vallebuona, 346 Angier avenue, in view of the illness of Bas Molina, Cuban consul, who was to have been the speaker.

Police Relief Group Plans Benefit Bridge.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Police Relief association will have a benefit bridge Tuesday, October 23, at 3:30 o'clock to be held in the Elks club rooms.

Attractive table prizes have been secured as well as handsome draw prizes. Tickets at 50 cents can be secured at the door. For reservations call Main 2952-J, Main 2950, or Main 4892-J.

Patriotic Bodies Honor U. D. C. Delegates.

The Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., with the Daughters of Founders and Patriots, the Daughters of the American Colonists and the Daughters of 1812, entertain at tea at Craigie house, the home of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., on Piedmont avenue Thursday afternoon from 5 until 6 o'clock, honoring the officers, distinguished guests and members of the U. D. C. convention. Receiving with the regent, Mrs. John William Smith, will be Mrs. J. M. High, president for life, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America; Mrs. Bun Wylie, state regent, Daughters of 1812; Mrs. Charles F. Rice, vice president national, Daughters of 1812; Mrs. James D. Weaver, state president, Daughters of 1812; the officers and members of the executive board.

Mrs. James S. Jettin and Mrs. Owen McConnell will receive at the door and presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. P. D. McCalley and Mrs. Spencer Stone.

'BROWN SUGAR' MAN SLAIN IN BATTLE IN LIQUOR RACKET

Kansas City, October 22.—(AP)—Police believe a brown sugar combine here, which seeks to furnish brown sugar exclusively to liquor manufacturers, was responsible for the murder of Joe Wilner, a baker, Saturday night.

Wilner was killed when his motor car was riddled with bullets as he drove through the city.

The police say Wilner used three bakeries he owned as blinds for selling brown sugar in large quantities to illicit liquor manufacturers, thus incurring enmity of the combine.

The sugar is used in some liquors to give them alcoholic content, in others for coloring.

ENVOY'S QUAKE-SHAKEN DWELLING BEING REPAIRED

Mexico City, October 22.—(AP)—American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow's earthquake battered bedroom is being repaired again.

The walls and ceiling of his sleeping quarters in the embassy residence have been cracked three times this year by earthquakes. Mr. Morrow has never been in the bedroom at the time. After each jolt the repairs have been scarcely completed when another tremor has reopened the cracks or even less than this particular bedroom.

Ambassador Morrow makes light of the matter. Some of his friends have commented that it is rather considerate of Mexico that earthquakes occur early in the evenings, before he retires to his bedroom which seems to have an earthquake hoodoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Honored at Series Of Farewell Parties

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith have Atlanta Sunday, October 28, for New York city where they will be until Wednesday, October 31, when they sail at midnight aboard the steamer Columbus for a two-month visit to points of interest in Europe.

Prior to their departure Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be honored at many interesting affairs.

Thursday, October 25, Mrs. Carl Lewis will entertain at a tea at her home on Clifton road in honor of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Raymond A. Kline will be hostess to 30 guests at her home in the Biltmore apartments at luncheon Friday, October 26, honoring this lovely matron.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be complimented with a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. William Candler.

Other affairs are being planned.

U. D. C. Headquarters Are at Georgian Terrace.

Headquarters for Georgia division, U. D. C., convention, held in Atlanta, October 23-24-25-26, will be established at the Georgian Terrace hotel, where the credentials committee and executive board meeting will be held this afternoon. Delegates are requested to report at the hotel for registration.

Fulton chapter, U. D. C., will appreciate board meeting will be held this afternoon. Delegates during the U. D. C. convention held here October 23, 24, 25. Please phone Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby, Hemlock 0922.

She brings you Beauty's Best Aids

PRIMROSE HOUSE

New York's smartest Beauty Salon sends us a

CONSULTANT - EXPERT

She will give you free advice on all your beauty problems. We have a full assortment of Primrose House Toilet Preparations always on sale.

J.P. ALLEN & CO.

"The Store All Women Know"

Here This Week!

The "Coronado"

This Perfect-Fitting Pump Can Now Be Had in—

Blue, Black and Brown

SUEDE $12.50

French Shobbe

110-ALABAMA STREET S.E.

School Teacher Quickly Gains 18 Pounds and New Energy

New YEAST and IRON builds weight quickly. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

"I want to say a good word for IRONIZED YEAST so that the somewhat skeptical person may feel more safe and sure of results derived from its use.

I am a public school instructor and from my research and study I was convinced that IRONIZED YEAST was exactly the compound I needed to put me in shape for Spring sports and classroom routine. At the start I weighed 152 lbs., which is below my normal weight. I took only two bottles over a period of two months. I gained 18 lbs. with the first bottle and after finishing the second my weight was 170 lbs., a total gain of 18 lbs., which put me back to normal weight. More than the mere increase in weight IRONIZED YEAST brought more energy, greater endurance and an improved complexion."

(Signed) Linus L. Clark, N. Y.

How Thousands Have Changed Ugly Hollows to Graceful Admired Curves

You can believe these real letters. They are not ordinary advertising claims. They come from people like yourself who were many of them very skeptical when they started. But after 3 or 4 weeks they gained graceful roundness. Ugly hollows fell out. Sallow blanched skin becomes rosy, clear and smooth. Tired feeling vanishes and new pep comes.

Only when Yeast is IRONIZED is it so wonderfully effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. That's why IRONIZED YEAST accomplishes seeming miracles. Get these pleasant-tasting tablets in the handy bottle today. Safe for everybody. No gas or bloating.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Quit envying others their shapely form, their perfect skin, their pep and "go." You too can have all this. Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, your money back instantly.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been positively demonstrated

THE NIGHTMARE

By GERALD MYGATT

SYNOPSIS.

Patricia Shane is being entertained in one of New York's night clubs by Fanning Edgier. She is annoyed by the insolent stare of a hawk-nosed man on the opposite side of the room. At the table with the hawk are a blonde, a young woman, and a slight young man who appears to be drunk. The hawk-waiter calls young Edgier away from his table on a pretext, and as soon as he is gone the hawk approaches Patricia and tries to engage her in conversation. He is interrupted by a young looking young man who orders him back to his place. The newcomer introduces himself as Jimmie Kirklin. Patricia tells Kirklin that she shares the hawk-nosed person had asked the hawk-waiter to get rid of her escort. The hawk-waiter returns and Patricia introduces Kirklin to him, and then asks Fanning to take her home. A few minutes later, a Kirklin leaves the place with his companion, he is followed by a man on the street who appears to be drunk.

The hawk-nosed person, known as Bart Stoman, after taking the blonde woman home, makes for his secret hideout and there goes over a number of old newspaper clippings dealing with the disappearance of the 14-year-old daughter of Colonel La Verry, who offers her a million dollars reward for the safe return of the girl. Stoman glances over the fact that the pictures of Sylvia La Verry resemble the girl he saw in the cabaret with Fanning Edgier, except for a red birthmark in the pictures.

The next day, which is Saturday, Patricia and Jimmie spend the afternoon together and then Patricia takes the evening train to her home in Far Harbor, Long Island, after Jimmie promises to come out to Far Harbor on Monday. Patricia goes to Jimmie at the end of the bus line on Monday and is bitterly disappointed when he does not appear.

But in the meantime, Jimmie has followed the blonde woman, whom he saw in conversation with the hawk in the railroad station, from the train to a hotel at Seaside, where she was joined by another man. From their conversation Jimmie feels that Patricia is in a bad way. He hires a car to take him to Far Harbor. He is followed there by the pallid little man whom Jimmie overheard talking to the blonde woman. The stranger tells Patricia that he and his friends are interested in her as a motion picture possibility.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

HOLES IN THE PLOT.

Stoman resumed his measured pacing up and down the room, and while he paced he talked. Doc Lasten, he told them, was spending the afternoon preparing his instruments—motion picture projector, electric stuff and so on.

"What for?" asked the pallid little man.

"You'll see. No, come to think of it, you won't see."

"Why won't I see?" the little man queried.

"Because I've got an idea." The hawk-nosed man smiled a smile of satisfaction. "You're going to stay here, Joe—two weeks maybe. You're going to alibi us. You're going to stay here and keep friendly with the girl's father and with that other old bird you were telling us about. Incidentally you can keep us tipped off. But mostly you'll be here as an alibi and to make 'em more sure that this young sap Kirklin was a good looking kid."

"Kirklin, not Kirkman?"

"Aw, what's that matter! He'll be pushing up daisies soon enough—if they have daisies in Pottery's field."

"But what do you have to croak that young guy for, Bart? I—I—I don't like to be mixed up in croakings, like. Anyway, he's a good looking kid."

The other twisted his upper lip sideways.

"When a guy knows too much, Queenie, there's only one sure safe place for him. Make up your mind to that. And this guy knows too much. A whole lot more than you do."

"He'll be plenty safe to bump off, too, what with the girl out of the way."

"As a factor and nobody else around here looking for him." He turned to the pallid little man. "They'll have gone west, you see—he and the girl."

"Edgier's see," said Joe.

Said the woman, "You're crazy. The whole gang at The Gilded Lily saw you walk over and brace her."

Stoman waved a dismissing hand. "I suppose that never happened in a Broadway night club before?" he remarked with sarcasm. "Hell! Max will say I was tight. You can say you asked me to go over and ask her if she was Miss Smith, of Jacksonville. Pahaw, Queenie, that doesn't mean a thing!"

"But when she disappears?" the woman persisted. "What she disappears, aren't they going to think of it then?"

He laughed now.

"That's why I'm leaving Joe here," he explained. "Don't you get it, you two? Didn't I say I'd make a sucker out of this brave boy from the open spaces who made the mistake of taking a walk up at me? Well, he grinned savagely. "That's just what I'm going to do. Joe, you're to stay here. Your job will be to fraternize with the girl's people and make them surer and surer that this bird Kirklin has run off with her. See? They've eloped—see? They're going to elope to-night—see?"

"Now I begin to get it," said Queenie, her eyes dancing.

"Of course, we'll give it a Belasco stage setting if we can," the hawk-nosed man went on. "If we can find a sample of her handwriting we'll get hold of Yetman, who is a master of it, and do a fine letter from her to her old man. Joe here, will find the letter accidentally. Or Kirklin's handwriting if we can't get hers. We'll do a letter from him just as easy. Anyway, what I'm getting at is they won't be looking for us. They'll be looking for him and they'll be looking for him in California, not here."

The little man smiled amiably. "Planting stuff is my middle name," he avowed. "Some day, Bart, you'll come to realize I'm the best planter this side of the Corn Belt."

"Now listen," commanded Bart Stoman. "Listen carefully, and if you can still find holes, find 'em. But otherwise stop your wisecracking and listen." Again he began pacing the room, and as he paced he outlined, in detail, all that was in his mind.

"They had found the girl, Patricia Shane, who might be our twin sister to the now almost legendary Sylvia La Verry, daughter of the sugar millionaire, who six years ago had vanished completely from the sight of man. For his daughter's return her father, Colonel Claudius La Verry, now aged and failing, had offered his famous million dollar reward, a reward with no strings to it and no questions asked, a reward that still hung in the air, apparently, until his death."

"Or proof of his daughter's death," put in the pallid little man, his eyes fast closed.

Stoman stared at him narrowly. "What proof can they ever get of that?" he demanded.

"I don't know," said the little man, shrugging. "You told me to interrupt when I saw holes, and that's a hole. Suppose somebody came along and proved to him his daughter was dead?"

"Who knows it?" countered Stoman.

"Not me," said the little man. "Is she?"

"You know right well she is. You've heard us talk about it enough."

"Yeah, but you always soft pedal that part of it," the little man averred. "I've heard you hint at it, Bart, but as long as we're in this to the limit, let's make sure. Is she dead or isn't she?"

The woman reached out a hand and caught the arm of the black-browed man. "The none of his business," she whispered.

"That's right," said Stoman sternly. "It's none of your business, Joe. If Queenie and I are satisfied."

"O, isn't it my business?" the little man remarked with a faint lift of tone. "I thought I was in this, Bart. Of course, if you want me to step out of the frame, I'll rise, yawned widely and reached for his hat."

"Sit down, you drunk," snarled Stoman. The two men faced each other, one hotly angry, the other smiling with a certain bland impertinence.

"Is she dead or isn't she, and do you know?" asked the pallid little man deliberately. "If this thing flops I get the same 50 years in the pen as you do, Bart, and I want to know. Is she or isn't she, and do you know or are you guessing?"

The big man's face went white. He hesitated. Then he said, "I'm not guessing, Joe."

"Is she dead or alive?"

"Dead."

"You can prove it?"

"Yeah, but it wasn't our fault, Joe—honest." The big man spoke quickly now. "We nabbed her, had it all framed. But she had a cold-flu, it was a factor and nobody else around here looking for him." He turned to the pallid little man. "They'll have gone west, you see—he and the girl."

"Edgier's see," said Joe.

Said the woman, "You're crazy. The whole gang at The Gilded Lily saw you walk over and brace her."

Stoman waved a dismissing hand. "I suppose that never happened in a Broadway night club before?" he remarked with sarcasm. "Hell! Max will say I was tight. You can say you asked me to go over and ask her if she was Miss Smith, of Jacksonville. Pahaw, Queenie, that doesn't mean a thing!"

"But when she disappears?" the woman persisted. "What she disappears, aren't they going to think of it then?"

He laughed now.

"That's why I'm leaving Joe here," he explained. "Don't you get it, you two? Didn't I say I'd make a sucker out of this brave boy from the open spaces who made the mistake of taking a walk up at me? Well, he grinned savagely. "That's just what I'm going to do. Joe, you're to stay here. Your job will be to fraternize with the girl's people and make them surer and surer that this bird Kirklin has run off with her. See? They've eloped—see? They're going to elope to-night—see?"

"Now I begin to get it," said Queenie, her eyes dancing.

"Of course, we'll give it a Belasco stage setting if we can," the hawk-nosed man went on. "If we can find a sample of her handwriting we'll get hold of Yetman, who is a master of it, and do a fine letter from her to her old man. Joe here, will find the letter accidentally. Or Kirklin's handwriting if we can't get hers. We'll do a letter from him just as easy. Anyway, what I'm getting at is they won't be looking for us. They'll be looking for him and they'll be looking for him in California, not here."

The little man smiled amiably. "Planting stuff is my middle name," he avowed. "Some day, Bart, you'll come to realize I'm the best planter this side of the Corn Belt."

"Now listen," commanded Bart Stoman. "Listen carefully, and if you can still find holes, find 'em. But otherwise stop your wisecracking and listen." Again he began pacing the room, and as he paced he outlined, in detail, all that was in his mind.

"They had found the girl, Patricia Shane, who might be our twin sister to the now almost legendary Sylvia La Verry, daughter of the sugar millionaire, who six years ago had vanished completely from the sight of man. For his daughter's return her father, Colonel Claudius La Verry, now aged and failing, had offered his famous million dollar reward, a reward with no strings to it and no questions asked, a reward that still hung in the air, apparently, until his death."

"Or proof of his daughter's death," put in the pallid little man, his eyes fast closed.

Stoman stared at him narrowly. "What proof can they ever get of that?" he demanded.

"I don't know," said the little man, shrugging. "You told me to interrupt when I saw holes, and that's a hole. Suppose somebody came along and proved to him his daughter was dead?"

"Who knows it?" countered Stoman.

"Not me," said the little man. "Is she?"

"You know right well she is. You've heard us talk about it enough."

"Yeah, but you always soft pedal that part of it," the little man averred. "I've heard you hint at it, Bart, but as long as we're in this to the limit, let's make sure. Is she dead or isn't she?"

The woman reached out a hand and caught the arm of the black-browed man. "The none of his business," she whispered.

"That's right," said Stoman sternly. "It's none of your business, Joe. If Queenie and I are satisfied."

"O, isn't it my business?" the little man remarked with a faint lift of tone. "I thought I was in this, Bart. Of course, if you want me to step out of the frame, I'll rise, yawned widely and reached for his hat."

"Sit down, you drunk," snarled Stoman. The two men faced each other, one hotly angry, the other smiling with a certain bland impertinence.

"Is she dead or isn't she, and do you know?" asked the pallid little man deliberately. "If this thing flops I get the same 50 years in the pen as you do, Bart, and I want to know. Is she or isn't she, and do you know or are you guessing?"

The big man's face went white. He hesitated. Then he said, "I'm not guessing, Joe."

"Is she dead or alive?"

"Dead."

"You can prove it?"

"Yeah, but it wasn't our fault, Joe—honest." The big man spoke quickly now. "We nabbed her, had it all framed. But she had a cold-flu, it was a factor and nobody else around here looking for him." He turned to the pallid little man. "They'll have gone west, you see—he and the girl."

"Edgier's see," said Joe.

Said the woman, "You're crazy. The whole gang at The Gilded Lily saw you walk over and brace her."

Stoman waved a dismissing hand. "I suppose that never happened in a Broadway night club before?" he remarked with sarcasm. "Hell! Max will say I was tight. You can say you asked me to go over and ask her if she was Miss Smith, of Jacksonville. Pahaw, Queenie, that doesn't mean a thing!"

"But when she disappears?" the woman persisted. "What she disappears, aren't they going to think of it then?"

He laughed now.

"That's why I'm leaving Joe here," he explained. "Don't you get it, you two? Didn't I say I'd make a sucker out of this brave boy from the open spaces who made the mistake of taking a walk up at me? Well, he grinned savagely. "That's just what I'm going to do. Joe, you're to stay here. Your job will be to fraternize with the girl's people and make them surer and surer that this bird Kirklin has run off with her. See? They've eloped—see? They're going to elope to-night—see?"

"Now I begin to get it," said Queenie, her eyes dancing.

"Of course, we'll give it a Belasco stage setting if we can," the hawk-nosed man went on. "If we can find a sample of her handwriting we'll get hold of Yetman, who is a master of it, and do a fine letter from her to her old man. Joe here, will find the letter accidentally. Or Kirklin's handwriting if we can't get hers. We'll do a letter from him just as easy. Anyway, what I'm getting at is they won't be looking for us. They'll be looking for him and they'll be looking for him in California, not here."

The little man smiled amiably. "Planting stuff is my middle name," he avowed. "Some day, Bart, you'll come to realize I'm the best planter this side of the Corn Belt."

"Now listen," commanded Bart Stoman. "Listen carefully, and if you can still find holes, find 'em. But otherwise stop your wisecracking and listen." Again he began pacing the room, and as he paced he outlined, in detail, all that was in his mind.

"They had found the girl, Patricia Shane, who might be our twin sister to the now almost legendary Sylvia La Verry, daughter of the sugar millionaire, who six years ago had vanished completely from the sight of man. For his daughter's return her father, Colonel Claudius La Verry, now aged and failing, had offered his famous million dollar reward, a reward with no strings to it and no questions asked, a reward that still hung in the air, apparently, until his death."

"Or proof of his daughter's death," put in the pallid little man, his eyes fast closed.

Stoman stared at him narrowly. "What proof can they ever get of that?" he demanded.

"I don't know," said the little man, shrugging. "You told me to interrupt when I saw holes, and that's a hole. Suppose somebody came along and proved to him his daughter was dead?"

"Who knows it?" countered Stoman.

"Not me," said the little man. "Is she?"

"You know right well she is. You've heard us talk about it enough."

"Yeah, but you always soft pedal that part of it," the little man averred. "I've heard you hint at it, Bart, but as long as we're in this to the limit, let's make sure. Is she dead or isn't she?"

The woman reached out a hand and caught the arm of the black-browed man. "The none of his business," she whispered.

"That's right," said Stoman sternly. "It's none of your business, Joe. If Queenie and I are satisfied."

"O, isn't it my business?" the little man remarked with a faint lift of tone. "I thought I was in this, Bart. Of course, if you want me to step out of the frame, I'll rise, yawned widely and reached for his hat."

"Sit down, you drunk," snarled Stoman. The two men faced each other, one hotly angry, the other smiling with a certain bland impertinence.

"Is she dead or isn't she, and do you know?" asked the pallid little man deliberately. "If this thing flops I get the same 50 years in the pen as you do, Bart, and I want to know. Is she or isn't she, and do you know or are you guessing?"

The big man's face went white. He hesitated. Then he said, "I'm not guessing, Joe."

"Is she dead or alive?"

"Dead."

"You can prove it?"

"Yeah, but it wasn't our fault, Joe—honest." The big man spoke quickly now. "We nabbed her, had it all framed. But she had a cold-flu, it was a factor and nobody else around here looking for him." He turned to the pallid little man. "They'll have gone west, you see—he and the girl."

"Edgier's see," said Joe.

Said the woman, "You're crazy. The whole gang at The Gilded Lily saw you walk over and brace her."

Stoman waved a dismissing hand. "I suppose that never happened in a Broadway night club before?" he remarked with sarcasm. "Hell! Max will say I was tight. You can say you asked me to go over and ask her if she was Miss Smith, of Jacksonville. Pahaw, Queenie, that doesn't mean a thing!"

"But when she disappears?" the woman persisted. "What she disappears, aren't they going to think of it then?"

He laughed now.

"That's why I'm leaving Joe here," he explained. "Don't you get it, you two? Didn't I say I'd make a sucker out of this brave boy from the open spaces who made the mistake of taking a walk up at me? Well, he grinned savagely. "That's just what I'm going to do. Joe, you're to stay here. Your job will be to fraternize with the girl's people and make them surer and surer that this bird Kirklin has run off with her. See? They've eloped—see? They're going to elope to-night—see?"

"Now I begin to get it," said Queenie, her eyes dancing.

"Of course, we'll give it a Belasco stage setting if we can," the hawk-nosed man went on. "If we can find a sample of her handwriting we'll get hold of Yetman, who is a master of it, and do a fine letter from her to her old man. Joe here, will find the letter accidentally. Or Kirklin's handwriting if we can't get hers. We'll do a letter from him just as easy. Anyway, what I'm getting at is they won't be looking for us. They'll be looking for him and they'll be looking for him in California, not here."

The little man smiled amiably. "Planting stuff is my middle name," he avowed. "Some day, Bart, you'll come to realize I'm the best planter this side of the Corn Belt."

"Now listen," commanded Bart Stoman. "Listen carefully, and if you can still find holes, find 'em. But otherwise stop your wisecracking and listen." Again he began pacing the room, and as he paced he outlined, in detail, all that was in his mind.

"They had found the girl, Patricia Shane, who might be our twin sister to the now almost legendary Sylvia La Verry, daughter of the sugar millionaire, who six years ago had vanished completely from the sight of man. For his daughter's return her father, Colonel Claudius La Verry, now aged and failing, had offered his famous million dollar reward, a reward with no strings to it and no questions asked, a reward that still hung in the air, apparently, until his death."

"Or proof of his daughter's death," put in the pallid little man, his eyes fast closed.

Stoman stared at him narrowly. "What proof can they ever get of that?" he demanded.

"I don't know," said the little man, shrugging. "You told me to interrupt when I saw holes, and that's a hole. Suppose somebody came along and proved to him his daughter was dead?"

"Who knows it?" countered Stoman.

"Not me," said the little man. "Is she?"

"You know right well she is. You've heard us talk about it enough."

"Yeah, but you always soft pedal that part of it," the little man averred. "I've heard you hint at it, Bart, but as long as we're in this to the limit, let's make sure. Is she dead or isn't she?"

The woman reached out a hand and caught the arm of the black-browed man. "The none of his business," she whispered.

"That's right," said Stoman sternly. "It's none of your business, Joe. If Queenie and I are satisfied."

"O, isn't it my business?" the little man remarked with a faint lift of tone. "I thought I was in this, Bart. Of course, if you want me to step out of the frame, I'll rise, yawned widely and reached for his hat."

"Sit down, you drunk," snarled Stoman. The two men faced each other, one hotly angry, the other smiling with a certain bland impertinence.

"Is she dead or isn't she, and do you know?" asked the pallid little man deliberately. "If this thing flops I get the same 50 years in the pen as you do, Bart, and I want to know. Is she or isn't she, and do you know or are you guessing?"

The big man's face went white. He hesitated. Then he said, "I'm not guessing, Joe."

"Is she dead or alive?"

"Dead."

"You can prove it?"

"Yeah, but it wasn't our fault, Joe—honest." The big man spoke quickly now. "We nabbed her, had it all framed. But she had a cold-flu, it was a factor and nobody else around here looking for him." He turned to the pallid little man. "They'll have gone west, you see—he and the girl."

"Edgier's see," said Joe.

Said the woman, "You're crazy. The whole gang at The Gilded Lily saw you walk over and brace her."

Stoman waved a dismissing hand. "I suppose that never happened in a Broadway night club before?" he remarked with sarcasm. "Hell! Max will say I was tight. You can say you asked me to go over and ask her if she was Miss Smith, of Jacksonville. Pahaw, Queenie, that doesn't mean a thing!"

"But when she disappears?" the woman persisted. "What she disappears, aren't they going to think of it then?"

He laughed now.

"That's why I'm leaving Joe here," he explained. "Don't you get it, you two? Didn't I say I'd make a sucker out of this brave boy from the open spaces who made the mistake of taking a walk up at me? Well, he grinned savagely. "That's just what I'm going to do. Joe, you're to stay here. Your job will be to fraternize with the girl's people and make them surer and surer that this bird Kirklin has run off with her. See? They've eloped—see? They're going to elope to-night—see?"

"Now I begin to get it," said Queenie, her eyes dancing.

"Of course, we'll give it a Belasco stage setting if we can," the hawk-nosed man went on. "If we can find a sample of her handwriting we'll get hold of Yetman, who is a master of it, and do a fine letter from her to her old man. Joe here, will find the letter accidentally. Or Kirklin's handwriting if we can't get hers. We'll do a letter from him just as easy. Anyway, what I'm getting at is they won't be looking for us. They'll be looking for him and they'll be looking for him in California, not here."

The little man smiled amiably. "Planting stuff is my middle name," he avowed. "Some day, Bart, you'll come to realize I'm the best planter this side of the Corn Belt."

"Now listen," commanded Bart Stoman. "Listen carefully, and if you can still find holes, find 'em. But otherwise stop your wisecracking and listen." Again he began pacing the room, and as he paced he outlined, in detail, all that was in his mind.

"They had found the girl, Patricia Shane, who might be our twin sister to the now almost legendary Sylvia La Verry, daughter of the sugar millionaire, who six years ago had vanished completely from the sight of man. For his daughter's return her father, Colonel Claudius La Verry, now aged and failing, had offered his famous million dollar reward, a reward with no strings to it and no questions asked, a reward that still hung in the air, apparently, until his death."

"Or proof of his daughter's death," put in the pallid little man, his eyes fast closed.

Stoman stared at him narrowly. "What proof can they ever get of that?" he demanded.

"I don't know," said the little man, shrugging. "You told me to interrupt when I saw holes, and that's a hole. Suppose somebody came along and proved to him his daughter was dead?"

"Who knows it?" countered Stoman.

"Not me," said the little man. "Is she?"

"You know right well she is. You've heard us talk about it enough."

"Yeah, but you always soft pedal that part of it," the little man averred. "I've heard you hint at it, Bart, but as long as we're in this to the limit, let's make sure. Is she dead or isn't she?"

The woman reached out a hand and caught the arm of the black-browed man. "The none of his business," she whispered.

"That's right," said Stoman sternly. "It's none of your business, Joe. If Queenie and I are satisfied."

"O, isn't it my business?" the little man remarked with a faint lift of tone. "I thought I was in this, Bart. Of course, if you want me to step out of the frame, I'll rise, yawned widely and reached for his hat."

"Sit down, you drunk," snarled Stoman. The two men faced each other, one hotly angry, the other smiling with a certain bland impertinence.

"Is she dead or isn't she, and do you know?" asked the pallid little man deliberately. "If this thing flops I get the same 50 years in the pen as you do, Bart, and I want to know. Is she or isn't she, and do you know or are you guessing?"

The big man's face went white. He hesitated. Then he said, "I'm not guessing, Joe."

"Is she dead or alive?"

"Dead."

SENATOR CHARGES NEWS
OF BORAH CHARGESSenator in Dallas Replies to Charge He Shifted Opinion on Hoover.

Dallas, Texas, October 22.—(AP)—Governor Smith was frequently "changed his mind frequently" during the campaign on several of the leading issues of the presidential contest by Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, tonight in an appeal to the electorate of the Lone Star state to support Herbert Hoover.

Replying to the charge of the democratic presidential nominee that he had "about faced" in supporting Hoover, the senator in a speech prepared for delivery at the Fair Park auditorium here charged Governor Smith with having reversed his views on the "open saloon," the St. Lawrence waterway, the protective tariff, immigration restriction and the farm equalization fee.

The governor in his speech at Chicago last Friday had declared that Hoover had assumed office in 1919 in the senate and now was the republican candidate's "leading spokesman."

Says Hoover Improves.
"He (Governor Smith) says I criticized Hoover then," the senator said, "and I am supporting him now. If that be true, it simply shows that Mr. Hoover improves with acquaintance. The longer you know him, the more deeply you respect and trust him. That perhaps, accounts for the fact that he has been the most thoroughly trusted man by the people of this country in many respects, of this generation. . . . that accounts for the trust that will be reposed in him on the sixth of November."

Taking up his charge of the "changes of views" of Governor Smith, Senator Borah declared that "eight or ten years ago Governor Smith was the defender of the open saloon and he says now he has changed his mind. Before the campaign he denounced the St. Lawrence waterway and now he says it is ready to change his mind."

Cites Smith Changes.
"Four years ago he denounced the protective tariff," the senator continued, "as a cold-blooded holdup and plundering of the American people. He now says it is a good thing and the only trouble is that we have not had enough of it. He only found out twenty days before the election, I was inclined to think he was playing politics."

"Two years ago he declared emphatically against immigration restrictions and he now gives evidence of mental pangs which precede a change of view."

"Last July he approved of a declaration to the cabinet that the McNary-Haugen bill rested upon a fundamental fallacy. What is his view now?" But there are two propositions," Borah concluded, "which the governor has shown great tenacity of purpose and great firmness of mind—his objection to the control of the liquor traffic and his devotion to Tammany Hall."

EPISCOPAL GROUP
VOTES $30,000 FOR
RALEIGH HOSPITAL

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—The woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church today authorized the expenditure of $30,000, part of the united fund offering recently received from the name of the church for the following purposes:

Vocational school for Indian pupils, Cass Lake, Duluth, Minn., diocese, $15,000.

A new building at Appalachian school, Penland, N. C., $20,000.

A church at Delray Beach, south of Fort Lauderdale, destroyed by the hurricane, $5,000.

For St. Margaret's training school for women, Berkeley, Calif., $20,000.

For St. George's hospital, Raleigh, N. C., $30,000.

A school building for girls at San Juan, Porto Rico, $25,000.

An additional award of $50,000 was made to St. Margaret's school, Tokyo, Japan.

ALLEN ACCUSES
DEMOCRATIC PARTY
OF MUD SLINGING

Washington, October 22.—(United News)—The democratic party was accused today of conducting a "mud-slinging" campaign in a formal statement issued by Publicity Director Henry Allen, of the republican national committee.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Witness Disappears
In Chicago Fight
On Election Frauds

Chicago, October 22.—(AP)—The unexplained disappearance of a state witness confronted directors of Chicago's police-criminal investigation today. George Reind, a primary day poll watcher, was missing; it was announced by David Stansbury, a special assistant attorney general. Stansbury is in charge of the prosecution of 16 aides of Morris Eller, twentieth ward republican leader.

Reind, employed during the April primaries by Attorney General Carlstrom, had volunteered to testify regarding election frauds. Stansbury said, Mrs. Reind, who claimed her husband was out of town on business, was summoned before the special grand jury today.

Reind was kidnapped at the polls on primary day. The reputed henchmen of the Eller faction are on trial charged with complicity in primary day terrorism and vote frauds.

Socialist Advocates
Five-Hour Day
Five-Day Week

Los Angeles, October 22.—(AP)—A five-hour day and a five-day week for workers were advocated by James H. Maurer, socialist vice presidential candidate, in campaign speeches in Pasadena and Los Angeles yesterday.

He declared that the unemployment situation was the chief issue.

"Both the republican and democratic platforms are nothing other than a lot of slogans," he said, expressing the opinion that both might have been written by the same man.

The Day in Finance
By
R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 22.—Copper shares were strong on the further increase of one-quarter of a cent to 15 1/2 cents in the selling price of the metal, the highest in years, with active buying report on the part of consumers. There was strong spots in special stocks. The market as a whole, however, was reactionary, with the volume smaller than last week.

Oil shares were steady, oil companies continue to report very satisfactory earnings for September and the nine months of the year, showing remarkable gains compared with a year ago. Transcontinental Oil shows gross income of $4,210,000 for the three months ending with September, against $2,970,000 for the corresponding period of last year, with net profits of $855,000 against a loss for the same months of last year of $224,000. For the nine months gross income was $10,867,000, against $9,064,000 and net profits $1,248,000, against a loss of $83,000 for the first nine months of 1927.

Call money opened at 6 1/2 per cent, with some activity in the market. At noon the rate dropped to 6 per cent. Profit-taking in the stock market was checked by the drop in the call money rate.

Car Production Gains.
September passenger car production was 357,000, against 450,000 for August and 380,000 for September of last year. For the nine months the figures are at a new high of 3,064,000, against 2,540,000 for first nine months of last year. Car production for September was 54,000, against 60,000 for August and 34,000 a year ago, making 405,000 for the nine months, against 360,000 for the first nine months of 1927. It is now practically certain that automobile production this year will establish a new high record.

September Texas was down $6 a share at the opening. This drop is a share of the opening. This drop is a share of the opening.

Chicago, October 22.—(AP)—Undismayed by a downpour of rain, Chicago honored the commander and crew of the Graf Zeppelin and in return was assured a view of the giant air liner as it makes a trip through the midwest later this week.

Dr. H. H. Henshaw, commander of the transatlantic airship, said his plans for the flight from Lakehurst, N. J., through the west were not yet definitely dependent upon some upper conditions. While he had originally planned to leave Lakehurst Thursday morning, he said today he perhaps would wait until Friday, so that Cleveland could be reached early the next morning.

The commander said he believed the better route for his take would be from Lakehurst to Cleveland, thence to Detroit and on to Chicago and St. Louis, provided a southwest wind was blowing.

"I must have a free hand to do as I think best in accordance with weather conditions," he said.

Commenting on the return trip to Germany, Dr. Eckener said he had been besieged with requests for passage. The fare would be $5,000, he indicated, but the value of the trip was "priceless." When regular service is started, he said, fares probably would be $1,000 to $1,200.

Dr. Eckener and his party, including his son, Knut, were received in behalf of the city by Mayor William Thompson at a reception in the city hall.

Later they were guests of the mayor at a luncheon. A public reception and dinner for the guests followed the party's departure for Lakehurst.

MISSOURI PACIFIC REFUSED REVIEW
ON FRANCHISE TAX

Washington, October 22.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad was refused a review by the supreme court today to test out the validity of the franchise tax imposed upon it for 1927 by the Missouri State Tax commission.

The railroad contended that the basis used by the commission in assessing the tax was illegal because different from that used by the interstate commerce commission in determining the value of its capital stock and surplus, and that the tax imposed upon railroads was unconstitutional because higher than that imposed on corporations having no capital stock.

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

He asked Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, whether the situation had slipped out of his hands into the hands of Tammany and reminded the democratic leader of his statement that there would be "no mud-slinging."

Heretofore, the republican presidential nominee, has been the victim of a number of "utterly unwarranted personal attacks," Allen said.

Allen said that unless this growing tendency in American politics is stopped, no man of character would be willing to offer himself for office for fear of the "professional assassins of reputation."

Copper Shares Strong As Metal Advances to Highest Price in Years.

Directed a poor earning statement published at the close of last week. Directors of the Consolidated Gas company expected to meet in the near future to act on dividends, the first since the readjustment in capital. Wall street is expecting a dividend of $5 which would be equivalent to $6 on the old stock against the old rate of $5.

Active Session.
In its regular monthly analysis of the existing situation and outlook the National Bank of Commerce here says: "One of the most active seasons of fall and winter business that the country has ever known. There have been some months back. Manufacturers have recently met with a larger inquiry in piece goods with the result that in many cases order lists have been extended to the end of the year. All makers, of course, have not benefited from the increased demand, but generally speaking producers have been able to book orders on a free scale. As a result quotations for yarn and cloth have been firmer. Full rates have had to be paid for anything wanted quickly."

One of the features of the market has been the larger inquiry for the home trade. A wide range of cloths and specialties makes and some encouraging transactions have been recorded. The very evident in the clearances from the wholesale establishments have been on a larger scale than in previous years. There has been a bigger business done in cotton and artificial silk mixed fabrics. "It now appears we shall pass through the balance of the fall without having a heavy strain upon bank resources to meet commercial requirements. The persistence of the demand for money for the security markets, unquestioned. While no one can foretell how long this demand for increasing volume will be sustained there is nothing as yet to indicate relaxation." In the light of information now available the net of the entire gold situation seems to be that a moderate amount of gold is likely to be reached by the end of the year. The outlook for the supply of credit is still largely dependent upon federal reserve action.

Big Trading For Week.
Atlantic Refining reports net profits for the September quarter of $6,210,000 against $1,333,000 a year ago and $11,905,000 for the nine months against a loss of $144,000 for the first nine months of last year.

Trading in stocks last week on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 22,720,000 shares against 17,754,000 for the previous week. Supply of a holiday and 22,889,000 two weeks ago. Last week's turn over of 23,200,000 shares was the largest since the week of April 15, 1927, when the week of 23,882,000. The high weekly record was made for the week ending March 21 at 25,387,000.

For the week of September 15 the turn over was 23,151,000 and for the following week 23,202,000 only five times in the history of the stock exchange has the weekly volume exceeded 23,000,000 shares. Last week being one with the total only 267,000 shares below the high for all time established for the week ending March 31.

London Puzzled.
The volume of trading, the reduction in investment holdings reported by the 485 member banks of the London stock exchange, the sustained upward trend in brokers' loans to one new high record after another, the activities of the stock market itself, indicate that distribution is going on. London, however, as well as recognized authorities in this country has given up trying to tell how much longer the bull stock market will continue, today's London cables reviewing the situation and outlook at the beginning of the new week.

"Financial London has given up forecasting the course of the American market," the cables said, "and has been amazed at the remarkable tenacity of the bull movement in Wall street in face of the openly expressed dislike and skepticism of the London market. The high cost of money and the colossal growth of brokers' loans, the repeated failure of London's previous forecasts, have all combined to discourage anything in the way of definite prophecy. That there will be severe reaction when the present stock market fever subsides is a matter of course. Some financial observers are inclined to look for the beginning of such reaction after the presidential election."

High Lights in the Cotton Market
BY THEO. H. PRICE
Editor Commerce and Finance, New York.

Legend is a better name than rumor for a curious report that became current in Wall street last week and which has been repeated in columns of more than one newspaper.

Briefly, it was the bull movement in the stock market was being fanned by the cotton market, and that democratic headquarters, and that the advance in cotton was also the work of democrats.

Of course these stories are absurd, but the idea that the republicans put wheat up in 1896 to defeat Bryan still survives; and in their present state of excitement, the republicans are willing to believe almost anything. Therefore, it may be unwise to disregard sentiment and credulity in the influence of the cotton market last week, or to ignore the widespread idea that the merchandise markets must soon begin to reflect the influence of the cotton market.

But there are many factors that have been at work. One is the small stocks of raw cotton in the hands of American spinners as shown by the statistics of the cotton trade. The stocks of unsold cotton goods must also be small, and the difficulty that has been encountered in filling large orders for certain fabrics seems to confirm this view.

The better understanding of the demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

English Cotton Industry
Weekly Review

Manchester, England, October 22.—(By Mail).—The state of trade in the Lancashire cotton spinning and manufacturing industry continues to improve, and it is probable that at the moment more machinery is working than at any time in the past three months back. Manufacturers have recently met with a larger inquiry in piece goods with the result that in many cases order lists have been extended to the end of the year. All makers, of course, have not benefited from the increased demand, but generally speaking producers have been able to book orders on a free scale. As a result quotations for yarn and cloth have been firmer. Full rates have had to be paid for anything wanted quickly.

One of the features of the market has been the larger inquiry for the home trade. A wide range of cloths and specialties makes and some encouraging transactions have been recorded. The very evident in the clearances from the wholesale establishments have been on a larger scale than in previous years. There has been a bigger business done in cotton and artificial silk mixed fabrics. "It now appears we shall pass through the balance of the fall without having a heavy strain upon bank resources to meet commercial requirements. The persistence of the demand for money for the security markets, unquestioned. While no one can foretell how long this demand for increasing volume will be sustained there is nothing as yet to indicate relaxation." In the light of information now available the net of the entire gold situation seems to be that a moderate amount of gold is likely to be reached by the end of the year. The outlook for the supply of credit is still largely dependent upon federal reserve action.

Shippers Pleased.
Business in cotton piece goods has been helped by the greater steadiness in the development of demand. There has been some apprehension as to a possible disturbance of prices as a result of the American crop report which was published last Monday. The statement is already known, was bullish and values hardened. In the circumstances, many shippers and merchants are pleased at this development, and if the higher range of values is maintained there will be no difficulty in clearing the goods which have been purchased during the past two or three weeks. Manchester buyers for once have adopted the right policy, and at the time the bureau report was issued many leading operators had committed themselves months ahead in anticipation of a rise in prices.

The cotton inquiry has been on a considerable scale, and the turnover has continued healthy. There has been a large demand for India and some encouraging lines in light fabrics have been sold for Calcutta. More business will undoubtedly follow. Transactions in grey shirtings remain difficult to arrange, but rather more business has been done in fine fabrics. There has also been more inquiry for Karachi, Cawnpore and Delhi.

Shanghai Prices Gain.
There has been a general improvement in prices at the Shanghai auctions, and larger quantities have been cleared. Fresh buying on this side has been recorded in printed and dyed goods and white shirtings. The improved demand for Egypt and the Levant has been maintained and although many of the bids have been unworkable some fair transactions have been recorded. Buyers for South America have given out fair orders in printing and finishing stuffs. Manufacturers generally continue in a more cheerful frame of mind and as a result of the business done during the past few weeks, low offers have been turned down without hesitation.

Quotations for American yarns have been firmer than for some time past. The better understanding of the demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

As a result of this concentration of demand for Egyptian yarns has enabled us to pay more freely than for some time, but the supply from which they can make selections is manifestly smaller.

Produce

Yesterday morning's sales to jobbers—unlike otherwise stated, (Sales to jobbers means U. S. sales) large lots by the original receiver to jobbers or other large firms. Arrivals cover period since last report including early receipts this morning.

Cars on track represent this morning's count and includes new arrivals as well as all cars not completely unloaded. Weather reports represents conditions at 8 a. m. local time.

APPLES—Four Georgia, four West Virginia, arrived, 16 cars on track. Supplies moderate, demand moderate, market steady. Apples, 10 lbs. 10c; 12 lbs. 11c; 14 lbs. 12c; 16 lbs. 13c; 18 lbs. 14c; 20 lbs. 15c; 22 lbs. 16c; 24 lbs. 17c; 26 lbs. 18c; 28 lbs. 19c; 30 lbs. 20c; 32 lbs. 21c; 34 lbs. 22c; 36 lbs. 23c; 38 lbs. 24c; 40 lbs. 25c; 42 lbs. 26c; 44 lbs. 27c; 46 lbs. 28c; 48 lbs. 29c; 50 lbs. 30c; 52 lbs. 31c; 54 lbs. 32c; 56 lbs. 33c; 58 lbs. 34c; 60 lbs. 35c; 62 lbs. 36c; 64 lbs. 37c; 66 lbs. 38c; 68 lbs. 39c; 70 lbs. 40c; 72 lbs. 41c; 74 lbs. 42c; 76 lbs. 43c; 78 lbs. 44c; 80 lbs. 45c; 82 lbs. 46c; 84 lbs. 47c; 86 lbs. 48c; 88 lbs. 49c; 90 lbs. 50c; 92 lbs. 51c; 94 lbs

NEW YORK MARKETS.
STOCKS—Irregular.
BONDS—Improved.
FOREIGN EXCHANGES—Easy.
COTTON—Higher.

VISIBLE SUPPLIES
HEAVY PRICE

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.
	High.	Low.	Close.
WHEAT—
Dec.	1.12 1/2	1.11 1/2	1.12 1/2
Mar.	1.13 1/2	1.12 1/2	1.13 1/2
May	1.14 1/2	1.13 1/2	1.14 1/2
July	1.15 1/2	1.14 1/2	1.15 1/2
Sept.	1.16 1/2	1.15 1/2	1.16 1/2
Nov.	1.17 1/2	1.16 1/2	1.17 1/2
Jan.	1.18 1/2	1.17 1/2	1.18 1/2
Mar.	1.19 1/2	1.18 1/2	1.19 1/2
May	1.20 1/2	1.19 1/2	1.20 1/2
July	1.21 1/2	1.20 1/2	1.21 1/2
Sept.	1.22 1/2	1.21 1/2	1.22 1/2
Nov.	1.23 1/2	1.22 1/2	1.23 1/2
Jan.	1.24 1/2	1.23 1/2	1.24 1/2
Mar.	1.25 1/2	1.24 1/2	1.25 1/2
May	1.26 1/2	1.25 1/2	1.26 1/2
July	1.27 1/2	1.26 1/2	1.27 1/2
Sept.	1.28 1/2	1.27 1/2	1.28 1/2
Nov.	1.29 1/2	1.28 1/2	1.29 1/2
Jan.	1.30 1/2	1.29 1/2	1.30 1/2
Mar.	1.31 1/2	1.30 1/2	1.31 1/2
May	1.32 1/2	1.31 1/2	1.32 1/2
July	1.33 1/2	1.32 1/2	1.33 1/2
Sept.	1.34 1/2	1.33 1/2	1.34 1/2
Nov.	1.35 1/2	1.34 1/2	1.35 1/2
Jan.	1.36 1/2	1.35 1/2	1.36 1/2
Mar.	1.37 1/2	1.36 1/2	1.37 1/2
May	1.38 1/2	1.37 1/2	1.38 1/2
July	1.39 1/2	1.38 1/2	1.39 1/2
Sept.	1.40 1/2	1.39 1/2	1.40 1/2
Nov.	1.41 1/2	1.40 1/2	1.41 1/2
Jan.	1.42 1/2	1.41 1/2	1.42 1/2
Mar.	1.43 1/2	1.42 1/2	1.43 1/2
May	1.44 1/2	1.43 1/2	1.44 1/2
July	1.45 1/2	1.44 1/2	1.45 1/2
Sept.	1.46 1/2	1.45 1/2	1.46 1/2
Nov.	1.47 1/2	1.46 1/2	1.47 1/2
Jan.	1.48 1/2	1.47 1/2	1.48 1/2
Mar.	1.49 1/2	1.48 1/2	1.49 1/2
May	1.50 1/2	1.49 1/2	1.50 1/2
July	1.51 1/2	1.50 1/2	1.51 1/2
Sept.	1.52 1/2	1.51 1/2	1.52 1/2
Nov.	1.53 1/2	1.52 1/2	1.53 1/2
Jan.	1.54 1/2	1.53 1/2	1.54 1/2
Mar.	1.55 1/2	1.54 1/2	1.55 1/2
May	1.56 1/2	1.55 1/2	1.56 1/2
July	1.57 1/2	1.56 1/2	1.57 1/2
Sept.	1.58 1/2	1.57 1/2	1.58 1/2
Nov.	1.59 1/2	1.58 1/2	1.59 1/2
Jan.	1.60 1/2	1.59 1/2	1.60 1/2
Mar.	1.61 1/2	1.60 1/2	1.61 1/2
May	1.62 1/2	1.61 1/2	1.62 1/2
July	1.63 1/2	1.62 1/2	1.63 1/2
Sept.	1.64 1/2	1.63 1/2	1.64 1/2
Nov.	1.65 1/2	1.64 1/2	1.65 1/2
Jan.	1.66 1/2	1.65 1/2	1.66 1/2
Mar.	1.67 1/2	1.66 1/2	1.67 1/2
May	1.68 1/2	1.67 1/2	1.68 1/2
July	1.69 1/2	1.68 1/2	1.69 1/2
Sept.	1.70 1/2	1.69 1/2	1.70 1/2
Nov.	1.71 1/2	1.70 1/2	1.71 1/2
Jan.	1.72 1/2	1.71 1/2	1.72 1/2
Mar.	1.73 1/2	1.72 1/2	1.73 1/2
May	1.74 1/2	1.73 1/2	1.74 1/2
July	1.75 1/2	1.74 1/2	1.75 1/2
Sept.	1.76 1/2	1.75 1/2	1.76 1/2
Nov.	1.77 1/2	1.76 1/2	1.77 1/2
Jan.	1.78 1/2	1.77 1/2	1.78 1/2
Mar.	1.79 1/2	1.78 1/2	1.79 1/2
May	1.80 1/2	1.79 1/2	1.80 1/2
July	1.81 1/2	1.80 1/2	1.81 1/2
Sept.	1.82 1/2	1.81 1/2	1.82 1/2
Nov.	1.83 1/2	1.82 1/2	1.83 1/2
Jan.	1.84 1/2	1.83 1/2	1.84 1/2
Mar.	1.85 1/2	1.84 1/2	1.85 1/2
May	1.86 1/2	1.85 1/2	1.86 1/2
July	1.87 1/2	1.86 1/2	1.87 1/2
Sept.	1.88 1/2	1.87 1/2	1.88 1/2
Nov.	1.89 1/2	1.88 1/2	1.89 1/2
Jan.	1.90 1/2	1.89 1/2	1.90 1/2
Mar.	1.91 1/2	1.90 1/2	1.91 1/2
May	1.92 1/2	1.91 1/2	1.92 1/2
July	1.93 1/2	1.92 1/2	1.93 1/2
Sept.	1.94 1/2	1.93 1/2	1.94 1/2
Nov.	1.95 1/2	1.94 1/2	1.95 1/2
Jan.	1.96 1/2	1.95 1/2	1.96 1/2
Mar.	1.97 1/2	1.96 1/2	1.97 1/2
May	1.98 1/2	1.97 1/2	1.98 1/2
July	1.99 1/2	1.98 1/2	1.99 1/2
Sept.	2.00 1/2	1.99 1/2	2.00 1/2
Nov.	2.01 1/2	2.00 1/2	2.01 1/2
Jan.	2.02 1/2	2.01 1/2	2.02 1/2
Mar.	2.03 1/2	2.02 1/2	2.03 1/2
May	2.04 1/2	2.03 1/2	2.04 1/2
July	2.05 1/2	2.04 1/2	2.05 1/2
Sept.	2.06 1/2	2.05 1/2	2.06 1/2
Nov.	2.07 1/2	2.06 1/2	2.07 1/2
Jan.	2.08 1/2	2.07 1/2	2.08 1/2
Mar.	2.09 1/2	2.08 1/2	2.09 1/2
May	2.10 1/2	2.09 1/2	2.10 1/2
July	2.11 1/2	2.10 1/2	2.11 1/2
Sept.	2.12 1/2	2.11 1/2	2.12 1/2
Nov.	2.13 1/2	2.12 1/2	2.13 1/2
Jan.	2.14 1/2	2.13 1/2	2.14 1/2
Mar.	2.15 1/2	2.14 1/2	2.15 1/2
May	2.16 1/2	2.15 1/2	2.16 1/2
July	2.17 1/2	2.16 1/2	2.17 1/2
Sept.	2.18 1/2	2.17 1/2	2.18 1/2
Nov.	2.19 1/2	2.18 1/2	2.19 1/2
Jan.	2.20 1/2	2.19 1/2	2.20 1/2
Mar.	2.21 1/2	2.20 1/2	2.21 1/2
May	2.22 1/2	2.21 1/2	2.22 1/2
July	2.23 1/2	2.22 1/2	2.23 1/2
Sept.	2.24 1/2	2.23 1/2	2.24 1/2
Nov.	2.25 1/2	2.24 1/2	2.25 1/2
Jan.	2.26 1/2	2.25 1/2	2.26 1/2
Mar.	2.27 1/2	2.26 1/2	2.27 1/2
May	2.28 1/2	2.27 1/2	2.28 1/2
July	2.29 1/2	2.28 1/2	2.29 1/2
Sept.	2.30 1/2	2.29 1/2	2.30 1/2
Nov.	2.31 1/2	2.30 1/2	2.31 1/2
Jan.	2.32 1/2	2.31 1/2	2.32 1/2
Mar.	2.33 1/2	2.32 1/2	2.33 1/2
May	2.34 1/2	2.33 1/2	2.34 1/2
July	2.35 1/2	2.34 1/2	2.35 1/2
Sept.	2.36 1/2	2.35 1/2	2.36 1/2
Nov.	2.37 1/2	2.36 1/2	2.37 1/2
Jan.	2.38 1/2	2.37 1/2	2.38 1/2
Mar.	2.39 1/2	2.38 1/2	2.39 1/2
May	2.40 1/2	2.39 1/2	2.40 1/2
July	2.41 1/2	2.40 1/2	2.41 1/2
Sept.	2.42 1/2	2.41 1/2	2.42 1/2
Nov.	2.43 1/2	2.42 1/2	2.43 1/2
Jan.	2.44 1/2	2.43 1/2	2.44 1/2
Mar.	2.45 1/2	2.44 1/2	2.45 1/2
May	2.46 1/2	2.45 1/2	2.46 1/2
July	2.47 1/2	2.46 1/2	2.47 1/2
Sept.	2.48 1/2	2.47 1/2	2.48 1/2
Nov.	2.49 1/2	2.48 1/2	2.49 1/2
Jan.	2.50 1/2	2.49 1/2	2.50 1/2
Mar.	2.51 1/2	2.50 1/2	2.51 1/2
May	2.52 1/2	2.51 1/2	2.52 1/2
July	2.53 1/2	2.52 1/2	2.53 1/2
Sept.	2.54 1/2	2.53 1/2	2.54 1/2
Nov.	2.55 1/2	2.54 1/2	2.55 1/2
Jan.	2.56 1/2	2.55 1/2	2.56 1/2
Mar.	2.57 1/2	2.56 1/2	2.57 1/2
May	2.58 1/2	2.57 1/2	2.58 1/2
July	2.59 1/2	2.58 1/2	2.59 1/2
Sept.	2.60 1/2	2.59 1/2	2.60 1/2
Nov.	2.61 1/2	2.60 1/2	2.61 1/2
Jan.	2.62 1/2	2.61 1/2	2.62 1/2
Mar.	2.63 1/2	2.62 1/2	2.63 1/2
May	2.64 1/2	2.63 1/2	2.64 1/2
July	2.65 1/2	2.64 1/2	2.65 1/2
Sept.	2.66 1/2	2.65 1/2	2.66 1/2
Nov.	2.67 1/2	2.66 1/2	2.67 1/2
Jan.	2.68 1/2	2.67 1/2	2.68 1/2
Mar.	2.69 1/2	2.68 1/2	2.69 1/2
May	2.70 1/2	2.69 1/2	2.70 1/2
July	2.71 1/2	2.70 1/2	2.71 1/2
Sept.	2.72 1/2	2.71 1/2	2.72 1/2
Nov.	2.73 1/2	2.72 1/2	2.73 1/2
Jan.	2.74 1/2	2.73 1/2	2.74 1/2
Mar.	2.75 1/2	2.74 1/2	2.75 1/2
May	2.76 1/2	2.75 1/2	2.76 1/2
July	2.77 1/2	2.76 1/2	2.77 1/2
Sept.	2.78 1/2	2.77 1/2	2.78 1/2
Nov.	2.79 1/2	2.78 1/2	2.79 1/2
Jan.	2.80 1/2	2.79 1/2	2.80 1/2
Mar.	2.81 1/2	2.80 1/2	2.81 1/2
May	2.82 1/2	2.81 1/2	2.82 1/2
July	2.83 1/2	2.82 1/2	2.83 1/2
Sept.	2.84 1/2	2.83 1/2	2.84 1/2
Nov.	2.85 1/2	2.84 1/2	2.85 1/2
Jan.	2.86 1/2	2.85 1/2	2.86 1/2
Mar.	2.87 1/2	2.86 1/2	2.87 1/2
May	2.88 1/2	2.87 1/2	2.88 1/2
July	2.89 1/2	2.88 1/2	2.89 1/2
Sept.	2.90 1/2	2.89 1/2	2.90 1/2
Nov.	2.91 1/2	2.90 1/2	2.91 1/2
Jan.	2.92 1/2	2.91 1/2	2.92 1/2
Mar.	2.93 1/2	2.92 1/2	2.93 1/2
May	2.94 1/2	2.93 1/2	2.94 1/2
July	2.95 1/2	2.94 1/2	2.95 1/2
Sept.	2.96 1/2	2.95 1/2	2.96 1/2
Nov.	2.97 1/2	2.96 1/2	2.97 1/2
Jan.	2.98 1/2	2.97 1/2	2.98 1/2
Mar.	2.99 1/2	2.98 1/2	2.99 1/2
May	3.00 1/2	2.99 1/2	3.00 1/2
July	3.01 1/2	3.00 1/2	3.01 1/2
Sept.	3.02 1/2	3.01 1/2	3.02 1/2
Nov.	3.03 1/2	3.02 1/2	3.03 1/2
Jan.	3.04 1/2	3.03 1/2	3.04 1/2
Mar.	3.05 1/2	3.04 1/2	3.05 1/2
May	3.06 1/2	3.05 1/2	3.06 1/2
July	3.07 1/2	3.06 1/2	3.07 1/2
Sept.	3.08 1/2	3.07 1/2	3.08 1/2
Nov.	3.09 1/2	3.08 1/2	3.09 1/2
Jan.	3.10 1/2	3.09 1/2	3.10 1/2
Mar.	3.11 1/2	3.10 1/2	3.11 1/2
May	3.12 1/2	3.11 1/2	3.12 1/2
July	3.13 1/2	3.12 1/2	3.13 1/2
Sept.	3.14 1/2	3.13 1/2	3.14 1/2
Nov.	3.15 1/2	3.14 1/2	3.15 1/2
Jan.	3.16 1/2	3.15 1/2	3.16 1/2
Mar.	3.17 1/2	3.16 1/2	3.17 1/2
May	3.18 1/2	3.17 1/2	3.18 1/2
July	3.19 1/2	3.18 1/2	3.19 1/2
Sept.	3.20 1/2	3.19 1/2	3.20 1/2
Nov.	3.21 1/2	3.20 1/2	3.21 1/2
Jan.	3.22 1/2	3.21 1/2	3.22 1/2
Mar.	3.23 1/2	3.22 1/2	3.23 1/2
May	3.24 1/2	3.23 1/2	3.24 1/2
July	3.25 1/2	3.24 1/2	3.25 1/2
Sept.	3.26 1/2	3.25 1/2	3.26 1/2
Nov.	3.27 1/2	3.26 1/2	3.27 1/2
Jan.	3.28 1/2	3.27 1/2	3.28 1/2
Mar.	3.29 1/2	3.28 1/2	3.29 1/2
May	3.30 1/2	3.29 1/2	3.30 1/2
July	3.31 1/2	3.30 1/2	3.31 1/2
Sept.	3.32 1/2	3.31 1/2	3.32 1/2
Nov.	3.33 1/2	3.32 1/2	3.33 1/2
Jan.	3.34 1/2	3.33 1/2	3.34 1/2
Mar.	3.35 1/2	3.34 1/2	3.35 1/2
May	3.36 1/2	3.35 1/2	3.36 1/2
July	3.37 1/2	3.36 1/2	3.37 1/2
Sept.	3.38 1/2	3.37 1/2	3.38 1/2
Nov.	3.39 1/2	3.38 1/2	3.39 1/2
Jan.	3.40 1/2	3.39 1/2	3.40 1/2
Mar.	3.41 1/2	3.40 1/2	3.41 1/2
May	3.42 1/2	3.41 1/2	3.42 1/2
July	3.43 1/2	3.42 1/2	3.43 1/2
Sept.	3.44 1/2	3.43 1/2	3.44 1/2
Nov.	3.45 1/2	3.44 1/2	3.45 1/2
Jan.	3.46 1/2	3.45 1/2	3.46 1/2
Mar.	3.47 1/2	3.46 1/2	3.47 1/2
May	3.48 1/2	3.47 1/2	3.48 1/2
July	3.49 1/2	3.48 1/2	3.49 1/2
Sept.	3.50 1/2	3.49 1/2	3.50 1/2
Nov.	3.51 1/2	3.50 1/2	3.51 1/2
Jan.	3.52 1/2	3.51 1/2	3.52 1/2
Mar.	3.53 1/2	3.52 1/2	3.53 1/2
May	3.54 1/2	3.53 1/2	3.54 1/2
July	3.55 1/2	3.54 1/2	3.55 1/2
Sept.	3.56 1/2	3.55 1/2	3.56 1/2
Nov.	3.57 1/2	3.56 1/2	3.57 1/2
Jan.	3.58 1/2	3.57 1/2	3.58 1/2
Mar.	3.59 1/2	3.58 1/2	3.59 1/2
May	3.60 1/2	3.59 1/2	3.60 1/2
July	3.61 1/2	3.60 1/2	3.61 1/2
Sept.	3.62 1/2	3.61 1/2	3.62 1/2
Nov.	3.63 1/

MERCHANDISE

Business and Office Equipment 54

Foreyth St., N. W. Atlanta, Ga.
ED OFFICE EQUIPMENT—Desks, chairs, filing cabinets, safes, tables, steel shelving, showcases, dictaphones, etc. Unusually low prices account overcrowded warehouse.
BORN DESK & FIXTURE COMPANY.

Coal and Wood	54A
SATTERWHITE COAL CO. "Best Fire Pot Shovelful." Ivy 54B
Household Goods	59
AIRWAY SANITARY SYSTEM. WANS everything. Killa rocks, toothbrushes. Ints. Free demonstration. WA. 1078.
R SALE—Moving, dining room suite, 8 pieces, walnut finish. Splendid condition. — 156 12th St., N. E.
Used furniture cheap! 44 Edgewood. FITTER Transfer & Storage Co.
RUGER Moore's air tight heater for sale. Perfect condition, $45. HE. 7497-W.
W and used goods sold and exchanged: FAVORITE FURNITURE STORE. FIVE 8L, S. W. WA. 1339.

WINN machines; Singer, New Home, White and others from $10 up. 187 White street, S. W. WA. 9910.

SEVERAL heavy rugs, Jutes, Sarouks and Orientals. Never been used. Will accept offers for quick sale. WA. 7172 or call 149 St. N. E.

COVES, furniture bought and sold. Repair all kinds stores, ranges, T. C. Blankenp. 315 Peters St. Main 4208.

ALL TRADE new furniture for old, or pay cash for used furniture. Collins Furniture Co. Ivy 7164.

PIECE walnut dining suite, ivory bedroom suite, chairs, trunk, pictures, radio, etc. 635 Bonaventure, N. E. HE. 4245.

Jewelry, Watches, Diamonds 60

DIAMONDS FOR SALE.
SEVERAL fine diamonds at less than half value. WA. 4780.

Musical Merchandise 32

ON SALE—New model Paramount phonograph; worth $110; sell $38. WA. 9537.

office, in storage, 27 Pryor St., N. E.
THOLAS—Excellent condition, slightly used.
 Terms: Rame's, Inc., WA. 5776

Seed, Plants, Flowers 66

UMBINE, Campandua, digitalis, green
 (umbine), 419 West Lake Ave. FR.
 3634

PERFOR daffodil bulbs for sale. W. H.
 KIRKWOOD, KIRKWOOD, DE. 3290-J.

Wanted To Buy 66

BERNARD pays cash for used house furniture, phone IVY 6572.

WANTED To sell your household and office furniture. Good cash prices paid. Call 3688.

OGGINS-WRIGHT FURNITURE CO.
 137 Edward Ave., S. E., at Piedmont.
 WALNUT 3838.

SEHGOED goods bought by Central
 10-12 East Mitchell. WAL-
 NUT 9739.

CASH PRICES PAID FOR HOUSEHOLD GOODS & AUBERCH.
UNIT 0148.

BUY HIGHEST PRICE FOR MEN'S LADIES' OLD CLOTHES. MA.
 1-1.

Washing machine, good condition. IVY 4345.

ROOMS AND BOARD

Rooms With Board 67

PRINCELY PARK, Private Home, attractive

TRACTIVE ROOM, ADJOINING BATH,
PRIVATE HOME. HE. 0692-J.

ACTIVE room, sleeping porch, steam st., near Georgian Terrace. HE. 7423-2.

ACTIVE room, meals, heat, gentlemanly. Prince de Leon. WA. 8309.

BEAUTIFUL PARK Room, connecting bath; commute for young man, also for young lady. HE 2113-2.

RD-West End, S2D Park St.; steam
alt. $7.50 week. West 3464.

WOOD-1000 Redwood, large, nicely furnished, central heat, gas, electric, for couple with or without children, steam in refined home for paying guests.
4064.

ACTIVE room, adjoining bath, business convenient, or gentlemen, two meals well
bld. 819 Juniper St. IVY 0196.

SEIN attractive room, adj. bath, business convenient, for single lady. 6847

BEAUTIFUL front room, arranged for three or meals. 751 Piedmont. WA. 8715.

BEAUTIFUL front room, newly furnished, de-ous meals gentlemen, $7.50. 1192 Mc-on, DE. 2264-M.

ELY ROOM. PRIVATE BATH. EXCEL-
ENT MEALS. REFERENCES. 881
CHTREE.

ELY furnished room, connecting bath, splendid heat and meals, smoke, and billi

TH SIDE-Business coupe or business in. furnace heat, home-cooked meals.
$525.

TH SIDE-Corner room, 3 windows in beds, furnace heat; garage; excellent view of city. $500.

TH SIDE-Room and board in refined village home. Modern conveniences, ga-
HE. 0525-3.

TH SIDE-Jumper st., large upstairs bath, central heat, bath. HE. 0525-3.

THREE-ATTRACTIVE ROOMS.
FURNITURE, central heat and meals. Modern. $400.

THREE-PURFISHED, CONNECTING TO BEACH. $400.

THREE MEALS; REASONABLE HE $740.

THREE MEALS-RE-Roommate, business coupe, central heat and meals. Modern. $480.

THREE MEALS in private home; references exchanged. Furnace heat. WE. 7.

THREE MEALS for one or two tenants, excellent ref. walking distance. IVY $552.

THE WOODBINE
FURNITURE, central heat and meals for one beautifully furnished suite, private bath and garage; accommodations for one couple. HE.

POD home-cooked meals, $5; hot water.
an rooms. HE. 4831-M.

ALEXANDER, between Peachtrees. ancies for 1 or 2 business men. Steam good meals. IVy 1811.

PONCE DE LEON—Attractive room.

MYRTLE, N. E.—TWO DOUBLE
BAM-TRATED ROOMS. BREAKFAST
EVENING DINNER SERVED.
PIEDMONT—Large steam-heated rooms, batb, two meals. WA. 7058.
PIEDMONT—New management, room, siping porch, private batb. Meala. WA.
1312 W. PEACHTREE.
MR. WELL HEATED ROOM. WITH WITHOUT BATH. GOOD PRICES TO E BOARDERS. HE. 8738.

Rooms Furnished 68

ACCOMMODATIONS of higher type, gentle-le, heated room, twin beds, private

FRANCE-HEATED bright front room; transportation, near Biltmore. HE. 1238-J.

North side home. HE. 0091-J.
D HILLS—Attractive corner room, heat, near car line, garage; gen. DE 2089.
CITY HOTEL—$1 per day, also week-rates. 142 Forsyth St., S. W.
N PARK—Single front rooms, all s.; young ladies, bus. men preferred; heat; $3-4 week. IVy 1750.
N PARK—Furnished room, private with garage. WA. 3243.
LY room, select north side apartment, or two ladies. GNevea 8445-W.
OWN HOTEL—Mrs. L. D. Greene. s. large comfortable rooms. Steam

CLEAN BEDROOMS, $3-$6 WK.,
RAGES. MADISON 4335-M.

W. SIDE—Room, twin beds, steam bath, adjoining bath, walking distance. 25 under, N. W., apartment 2.

